

Normal Classes Due to Resume In New York

Mayor Lindsay Announces New Pact Agreement

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor John V. Lindsay has announced a new tentative agreement to end the massive New York teachers' strike, expressing hope that normal classes for 1.1 million public school children will begin "as soon as possible Thursday."

The settlement backed by a signed "memorandum of understanding" came Tuesday—six days after the parties reached an oral agreement that didn't hold up in writing.

Normal operations in the city's 900 schools were all but paralyzed by the walkout of teachers for 12 class days—since the scheduled Sept. 11 opening of the fall term.

The pact is subject to ratification by the general membership of the striking 49,000-member United Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, and needs formal approval from the City Board of Education.

'Fantastically Good'

"I think it's an excellent agreement. It's fantastically good," said UFT president Albert Shanker of the accord offering teachers $135.4 million in salary increases and other benefits over 26 months. He predicted its approval.

The tentative agreement on wages would give teachers a scale of $6,750 to $13,750 to replace the former range of $5,400 to $11,950.

The union's executive board and the local's delegate assembly were to meet today to act on the proposal and a general membership meeting was set for Thursday morning. The Board of Education will consider the pact today.

Last Wednesday the mayor announced an oral agreement that seemed to signal the end of the strike, but disputes arose Friday in translating the verbal understanding into contract language.

Experimental School

Full details of the new agreement were not made public, but a dispute over allocation of $10 million for experimental school improvement programs reportedly was resolved by earmarking half that amount for "intensive" programs.

There were reportedly no funds specifically allocated to the More Effective Schools program for disadvantaged pupils. This originally was a "top priority" union demand.

The new agreement also reportedly provides some relief from administrative duties for secondary school teachers, another major issue in the dispute. Lindsay appeared in a packed City Hall chamber at 3:36 p.m. to announce the apparent end to the longest and costliest strike in the history of the nation's largest school system.

"The City of New York has been through a great deal but I'm pleased to be able to state that within a very short time I expect that our schools will be open," Lindsay said.

Chief Adversaries

Flanking him as he spoke were Shanker and Schools Supt. Bernard E. Donovan, the chief adversaries over the bargaining table.

Following the announcement, Shanker and Donovan went separately to State Supreme Court for the conclusion of a hearing on contempt charges against the three top union officials.

Justice Emilio Nunez reserved decision on the case, deferring for the time being the first test of a new state law which prohibits strikes by unions of public employees.

Under the law the union officials could be jailed 30 days and fined $250 apiece and the union fined $10,000 a day during the strike. But the city has said it does not seek to have the officers jailed.

During the strike attendance at the schools dropped from 600,000 to about 130,000 at the low point Monday. The figure Tuesday was up slightly to 147,000—still only 14 per cent of those registered.

10 Deaths Recorded

Thousands More Flee Rio Grande

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP)—Flood miseries piled up on both sides of the Texas-Mexico border today as the raging Rio Grande put more thousands of people to flight and threatened even worse depredations.

Torrents gushing downstream sent water creeping higher in Harlingen, already hard hit, and the swollen river spread across ever widening areas in Northern Mexico.

10,000 Evacuate

Reports of 10 more deaths in Mexico, meanwhile, boosted the toll from Hurricane Beulah, which battered through this area more than a week ago, to 54 fatalities. That figure included 11 deaths in Texas.

Flooding drove 8,000 to 10,000 Harlingen residents from their homes. The Red Cross already was operating two shelters and it said a fresh influx of evacuees forced the opening of two additional shelters. Many of the occupants had returned only the past day or two after taking refuge from Beulah's 160-mile winds in other cities.

Unofficial reports reaching Mexico City placed the number of homeless at one million across the Rio Grande, now five miles wide in places, in an area stretching from Reynosa downstream to Matamoros near the river's mouth.

In Harlingen the flood waters gushed down the Arroyo Colorado parallel to the river after a dam to prevent such a disaster broke two days ago.

Since then, the waters contin-

Policemen Find 2 More Body Parts

BY BILL KNUTSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Appleton police, investigating a prowler complaint at a vacant house on N. Division Street, found two more packages of human body parts late Tuesday night.

A pathologist at St. Elizabeth Hospital confirmed this morning that one package contained two sections of a rib cage with some decomposing flesh attached, and the other package contained a small piece of muscle and a large piece of flesh and muscle with skin, containing some hair attached. The large section could have come from the upper portion of a leg, it was learned.

Meanwhile, a detail of detectives this morning started a thorough canvass "of everyone we can get to come to the door" in a large area bounded by Oneida, Division and Prospect streets. The area includes a large number of homes and business places in the general vicinities of St. Joseph Catholic Church and School, where five packages of flesh were found Monday, and the vacant house, where Tuesday night's discovery was made.

Police will be searching for anyone who has any knowledge of a strange car or a suspicious person or persons in the two areas.

Tuesday night's discovery was made about 11:20 p.m. after police were summoned to the large, two-story unoccupied house at 543 N. Division St. by a neighbor woman who reported "hearing people talking" there. She said it sounded like several youngsters.

Find No One

Two policemen went to the house, but found no one around. The yellow building, which is completely boarded up, is owned by Roy Schmit, 731 N. Mason St., Appleton.

As Patrolman Gerald Breen was stepping from the front porch, he noticed a large brown paper sack in tall brush off the north end of the porch. The sack, lying four feet from the porch wall, was tied with nylon string. The material was wrapped in a July 6, 1967 page of The Post-Crescent.

A further search was made and Patrolman Bruce R. Peirson found another package, also tied with string, three feet from the first one.

Sleeping Babes Lost, Found Still Sleeping

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP)—Police, highway patrolmen, sheriff's officers and ham radio club members participated in a 3½-hour search Tuesday night for a two-year-old twins, sleeping in a car reported stolen from a supermarket parking lot.

Finally it was discovered that the auto had rolled out of the lot, across a street, through another parking area and had dropped over a four-foot retaining wall into a wooded lot.

Conrad Shroyer, owner of the auto, found his twins, Paul and Paula, unhurt and still sleeping in the back seat.

Police again searched the house area this morning, and found nothing. Also searched was nearby Arbutus Park, in the Packard Street ravine, behind the Division Street house.

The last two packages of flesh were to be taken to the State Crime Laboratory this afternoon by Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps and a detective. They also were to take a box full of small charred bones found Tuesday morning and afternoon in a search through piles of rubble at the city dump near Mackville.

Some police officials had not discounted the possibility that the body parts were taken from a medical school laboratory as a "prank."

However, medical school officials at both Marquette University and the University of Wisconsin told The Post-Crescent this morning they are not missing anything of the nature.

Mrs. Isabelle Peterson, medical school registrar at the University of Wisconsin, said "we can't think that any of our students would jeopardize their position in medical school by doing something like that." She added that it is "very unlikely" anyone could sneak out parts of a cadaver.

Marquette officials said that if the parts found were from a medical school laboratory, they would be easily recognizable by a pathologist.

"I would dogmatically say no, it did not come from any medical laboratory," one official said. He also explained that no parts of human bodies were missing from their laboratory.

All Police Have Are Unanswered Queries

Lots of questions, but no answers.

That's what Appleton police face in their relentless and often tedious investigation into one of the strangest cases in the city's history.

They don't even have enough of a crudely dissected body to determine if their victim is a man or a woman, to say nothing of who it is. There isn't a single lead as to identity.

Police have found no one who saw a suspicious person or a strange car in Southwest Alley in the hours before packages of human flesh were found almost totally concealed near a downtown church and school Monday.

Nor, in fact, are authorities even sure just what they are investigating. Were the five packages of flesh deposited by some type of "prankster" who somehow obtained parts of a body, perhaps from a medical school?

Or, was the dissecting the work of someone who "panicked" following an ordinary accident—like maybe a fatal hit and run mishap?

Or, should Appleton residents live in fear of a madman—for surely, if it was a murder, police are dealing with a crazed, unpredictable killer.

Those are but a few of the questions police are asking themselves as their investigation moves into the third day. All of the questions are without answers. And the answers do not appear to be any nearer than at 3 p.m. Monday, three hours after four young boys discovered that the sack they had been throwing and kicking at each other during noon recess contained five toes and two large chunks of foot flesh.

Where is the other 80 per cent of the mutilated body? Were the charred bones found at the city dump Tuesday from a human or were they discarded from a restaurant near the downtown school? Why were some parts of the body so obviously not hidden, yet other parts of the body cannot be found?

Why were a school yard and church grounds picked for two of the disposal areas? And how was a vacant house six blocks away selected? Since there was no blood where the packages were discovered, does this mean the "crime" was committed elsewhere? Some chunks of flesh were wrapped in Appleton newspapers; does this mean that at least the dissecting occurred locally?

Do the many articles of clothing found in the city and as far away as Waushara County figure in the strange case? Is the hunting knife found in the ravine important to the case? And how about the pair of gray, stained trousers?

Can investigation of several missing persons reported being processed by Appleton police unlock some of the mysteries?

Some of the questions could yet be answered today or Thursday, when the test findings are released by the State Crime Laboratory. Although laboratory experts have little to go on, police are hoping it is enough to at least provide a lead in identifying the victim. Meanwhile, all authorities can do is speculate.

"We don't know what we've got here," said Police Chief Earl O. Wolff. The possibility exists that the body parts could have come from a medical school, "but the possibility is pretty remote," Wolff explained.

"The thing that is so unusual is that some parts of the body were found in such obvious locations," he said.

Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer, who was summoned into the case by Wolff even before the last of five packages was found Monday, at first theorized that homicide was involved, but later explained, "... it's anyone's guess."

"You're dealing with so many possibilities here... and there is insufficient information on which to base a sensible conclusion," Schaefer said.

Although Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps also was cautious in expressing an opinion, he said, "it could be the work of a maniac."

Toll Reported at 14

Pesticide Blamed In Tijuana Deaths

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP)—Authorities placed the death toll in Tijuana's mass poisoning at 14 or 15 today as scientists reported that a pesticide found in bread and victims' stomachs may be the killer.

Hector Valdivia, deputy federal district attorney here, said the number of dead, almost all children, was 15. He discounted an earlier report that 34 had died.

The funeral home in charge of handling the bodies of victims placed the number at 14.

About 250 persons were being treated at crowded hospitals and clinics.

Seven U.S. chemists at Sacramento, Calif., said tests showed a pesticide, parathion, was present in the victims in an amount sufficient to kill a child but not an adult.

In the grieving Border City, stricken since Sunday, crying parents carried their young dead to clinics in their arms.

"The people, they keep coming. We do all we can, but there are too many," said Dr. Jorge Salas of the Red Cross clinic.

Fred Roth, chief of the residual pesticide laboratory of California's Department of Agriculture, said he and six other chemists found parathion in the stomachs of two of the stricken children.

An amount of parathion smaller than an aspirin tablet would kill an average sized man, Roth said. It is widely used in agriculture, particularly on vegetable crops.

It was theorized that the liquid pesticide spilled into flour that was later made into bread in Tijuana.

Airpower and Artillery at Demilitarized Zone

Enemy Taking a Terrible Beating ... Or is It?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Veteran U.S. officers say the battle of Con Thien is driving home again lessons learned in World War II and Korea: Massive airpower and big gun power have only limited effect in silencing a dug-in enemy.

These officers, many of whom saw action in both earlier wars, said the only way to do the job is to send in infantry to root out enemy batteries burrowed into holes and caves.

Current U.S. policy forbids any U.S. infantry attacks across the border into North Vietnam, from which most of the Communist artillery fire is aimed at Con Thien.

U.S. sources said the North Vietnamese have arrayed between 75 and 125 artillery pieces north of the Ben Hai River boundary.

These Soviet-designed guns, ranging from 85 to 152 millimeters, have been pounding the U.S. Marine outpost, some 2½ miles south of the demilitarized zone, for nearly a month.

U.S. batteries have fired as many as 10,000 shells at the North Vietnamese guns in a single day.

This was 10 times as many as the North Vietnamese guns were throwing at Con Thien. In addition, waves of U.S. bombers and fighter bombers dumped 600,000 pounds of high explosives on enemy positions.

There is a difference in opinion among U.S. military men here as to how severely the American air and artillery barrage may be punishing the North Vietnamese gunners and mortar men.

One U.S. Army artillery authority said the North Vietnamese "have to be suffering tremendously."

He said he considers "remarkable that they are willing to take heavy losses in people and guns and keep on with their shelling."

But other Americans who remember World War II and Korea dispute the belief that the enemy is being badly bloodied.

"I ran into this kind of thing on Iwo Jima and Okinawa," said one Marine officer.

"If they get enough cover, it's hard to knock them out even with a direct hit."

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. Commander in South Vietnam, has said that U.S. forces facing the demilitarized zone are laying down the heaviest concentration of firepower in the history of warfare.

Official records appeared to cast doubt on this.

For example, the history of the Army Air Forces in World War II says that the total weight of explosives rained on Iwo Jima in February and March of 1945 amounted to about 2,300 tons—or about 4.6 million pounds—per square mile.

"Yet many of the well constructed and cleverly concealed positions were untouched and had to be captured or sealed up by tank-infantry demolition teams," the history says.

A Marine history of the battle of Tarawa in November 1943, says that in four hours the total weight of explosives slammed into the island by naval warships alone was about 6 million pounds, and this did not count two carrier air strikes.

An Army historical report on the battle of Cassino, Italy, in early 1944 says that 475 heavy and medium bombers dropped about one million pounds within the 1,400-yard by 400-yard limits of the town in 3½ hours.

Though the enemy was temporarily confused and disorganized by the bombing, the history says, the Germans did recover "to crawl out of dugouts, holes, pillboxes and a tunnel which ran under the town" and took up strong sniping and machine gun positions in the ruins.

For sheer concentration of fire, American officers cited an instance in which 240 guns of the First Infantry Division deluged an area in the Huerfeno Forest of Germany 300 yards by 500 yards.

Also in Germany, they said, artillery of the Eighth Infantry Division dropped 4,500 rounds on a Nazi held area near Vossenack in the space of one hour in November 1944.

Army records show that in July 1953, the peak month for United Nations artillery output against the North Koreans in the Korean war, American and other allied batteries threw more than 60,000 rounds into enemy positions.

A Marine officer, whose command held an outpost called "the hook" 40 miles north of Seoul, said that Chinese Communist gunners slammed 1,000 rounds a day into his small redoubt.

American artillery replied with equal fury, he said, but this did not make the enemy slacken fire.

First Fall Frost Expected Tonight

Fox Cities — Clearing tonight with frost and near-freezing temperatures, and low near 33 degrees. Thursday fair and not quite so cool, with high near 55. Northerly winds 12-18 miles per hour today, diminishing to light and variable tonight. Less than 10 per cent chance of precipitation tonight and Thursday.

Appleton — Observations for the past 24 hours show high 69 degrees; low 38 and .06 inch of precipitation. Barometer was 30.10 and rising; winds from north-northwest at 15 miles per hour; humidity 58; dew point 32 and skies partly cloudy.

Sun sets today at 6:44 p.m., rises tomorrow at 6:47 a.m. Moon rises tonight at 11:59 p.m. Prominent star is Pollux. Visible planets are Saturn, Mars, and Venus.

Extended Attack Eases Along DMZ; Planes Head North

MIGs, Missiles Launch Maximum Defense Over Port of Haiphong

SAIGON (AP) — The Communists slackened their month-long artillery battle of attrition along the demilitarized zone Tuesday and the focus of the war shifted to North Vietnam with American warplanes stepping up their raids — despite swarms of Red jets and missiles.

North Vietnamese gunners fired 50 rounds to harass U.S. Marines at Con Thien, the key to American defenses blocking a possible Communist invasion of South Vietnam's northern provinces. But the heaviest shelling — 850 rounds — fell on two South Vietnamese airborne battalions a few miles away.

U.S. planes mounted a near-maximum effort over North Vietnam after a week of bad weather and encountered blistering defenses over the port of Haiphong and the vital north-east rail line that links Hanoi and Red China.

Acknowledged Loss
The North Vietnamese put up nearly every fighter they could muster from the unbombed MIG airfield at Phuc Yen. The Reds claimed downing five American jets but only one loss was acknowledged by the U.S. Command, and that was far to the south over the DMZ. Air Force pilots reported many sightings of MIG17s and MIG21s, with three brief air battles and more attempts by Red fliers to sneak behind American planes on bombing runs.

Of the 35 jets North Vietnam is believed to have operational on fields below the Chinese frontier, at least half and probably more were in the air.

Once MIG21s attempted to drive a flight of Phantom jets into the path of a defensive net of Soviet-built ground-to-air missiles. The Phantoms broke off and saw two SAM missiles whiz by and blow up just out of range.

Bridges Smashed
Navy pilots from the carriers Coral Sea and Intrepid smashed through SAM and antiaircraft barrages to finish off two important bridges in Haiphong that had been damaged in previous strikes.

Unloading bombs weighing up to 2,000 pounds, Navy fliers hit the main highway and rail bridge on the road to Hanoi and the 658-foot highway bridge leaving the southwest section of the port. The campaign against the bridges is part of the effort to strangle exit routes from the port, already jammed with supplies unable to be moved.

The Navy pilots swept low to attack 23 anti-aircraft sites and four launching installations of SAM missiles.

The U.S. plane acknowledged down in North Vietnam near the DMZ was a Marine Phantom. Its two fliers ejected and one was rescued but the other was listed as missing. It was the 684th U.S. plane reported lost in the North.

Desk Never Cleared Off

Paperwork Piling Up on Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says the cares of the office are not getting him down, but the paper work seems to be piling up.

For the first time in four years, Johnson said, he doesn't manage to get the work cleared off his desk at the end of the day.

With a grin, the chief executive told reporters he couldn't quite decide whether he was slowing down or the paper work was building up.

"I feel fit as a daisy," the President said, aiming his remarks at comment that he has been looking tired lately. Johnson declared he was in as good health as a man his age, 59, could be.

To those who think his hair looks grayer, the President explained he doesn't use stuff to slick it down any more, so it seems "grayer and fluffier."

Johnson gave some personal glimpses of his daily life and schedule to several reporters as he entertained a black-tie dinner Tuesday night for visiting President Diiori Hamani of Niger.

While he starts his day at 5 or 6 a.m., reading reports and newspapers, the President said he's probably the only man who can get up from his desk in the afternoon and take a nap for a few hours.

"I don't need much sleep," the chief executive said, adding he never has trouble sleeping.

In college, he said, a friend once kidded that Lyndon Johnson could never commit suicide because "he'd fall asleep thinking about it."

Johnson admitted he sometimes sleeps through late-afternoon appointments.

The President maintains he hasn't put on weight recently. He says he never varies more than three pounds. Lately, he confided, he doesn't like to drink and has developed a craving for sweet desserts.

The President said he needed sugar to keep up his energy.

The one thing Johnson said bothered him was that he's not getting enough exercise.

That's why, he said, he tried golfing last week at Burning Tree Country Club in nearby Maryland for the first time in three years.

Bishop Pike Talks to Dead Son at Seance

Life After Death Belief Strengthened By Astonishing Event

SEATTLE (AP) — Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike, a critic of some religious doctrine but firmly convinced of life after death, says he believes he communicated with his dead son during an impromptu seance in Toronto.

"I know of no other explanation for these things," Bishop Pike said Tuesday in an interview.

The Bishop's son, James Jr., then 22, committed suicide in New York in February 1966.

Bishop Pike said he believes the communication was authentic because "my impression (of the words transmitted through a medium) was characteristic of the person and his style."

Seemed Aware
"He referred to events—a lot of difficulties—and seemed very aware of things."

Referring to his experience at the seance as "astonishing," Bishop Pike said it began when he, the Rev. Arthur Ford, prominent American medium and minister of the Disciples of Christ Church, and Allen Spraggett, religion editor of the Toronto Star, were to tape a television program.

All had written books dealing with data leading to a belief in life after death. After discussing their books, Bishop Pike said the Rev. Mr. Ford put himself into a trance.

Communication Control
"He began to talk and produced quite a number of persons who seemed to be in communication control of a guide, 'Fletcher,' who quoted people in the third person," Bishop Pike said.

"Some I barely remembered or could recall, but all did pan out."

"In the course of this my son apparently spoke directly through the medium—without a third person."

Kennedy Fights Mrs. Hicks

Segregationist Tops Primary in Boston

BOSTON (AP)—Mrs. Louise Day Hicks, an avowed foe of school desegregation programs, topped a 10-candidate field Tuesday in winning one of the two places for mayor on the Nov. 7 ballot.

The three-term school committeeewoman led by a margin

The matronly 48-year-old grandmother showed well in the city's white working class sections, but—as predicted—ran behind the other candidates in the heavily Negro and in upper class areas.

A practicing lawyer, she is completing her third term on the Boston School Committee, and has been the center of racial controversy for her opposition to efforts to achieve racial balance in the city's schools.

Opposes Change
She opposed any change in the city's policy of having students attend their neighborhood schools, which, civil rights leaders claim, keeps Negro children in dilapidated schools that offer inferior instruction.

She avoided discussing the racial issue openly during her campaign. A simple "You know where I stand," brought cheers from her audiences.

The results of the preliminary election were not surprising to most observers. Mrs. Hicks has been the top vote-getter in past two elections for the School Committee.

White, 37, in his seventh year in the nonsensitive secretary of state's office, has been a strong candidate in statewide elections.

State Rep. John Sears, 36, the first Republican to seek the office in years, got 23,823 votes, and Edward J. Logue, 47, former director of the Boston Redevelopment Authority finished fourth with 23,760 votes.

Mayor John F. Collins is leaving after two-four-year terms to become a visiting professor of urban affairs at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He favored Logue.

A graduate of Boston University schools of education and law, Mrs. Hicks is the daughter of the late Judge William Day.

Her husband, John, a design engineer, managed her campaign. They have two sons and several grandchildren.

The results of the preliminary election were not surprising to most observers. Mrs. Hicks has been the top vote-getter in past two elections for the School Committee.

White, 37, in his seventh year in the nonsensitive secretary of state's office, has been a strong candidate in statewide elections.

State Rep. John Sears, 36, the first Republican to seek the office in years, got 23,823 votes, and Edward J. Logue, 47, former director of the Boston Redevelopment Authority finished fourth with 23,760 votes.

Mayor John F. Collins is leaving after two-four-year terms to become a visiting professor of urban affairs at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He favored Logue.

A graduate of Boston University schools of education and law, Mrs. Hicks is the daughter of the late Judge William Day.

Father Groppi Retained in Reorganization

Archbishop Cousins Replaces Priest at Church With Team

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee Roman Catholic Archbishop William E. Cousins has reorganized the administration of St. Boniface church in Milwaukee's Inner Core area and kept militant civil rights leader, the Rev. James E. Groppi, assigned to the parish.

Father Groppi, leader of a drive for an open housing ordinance in Milwaukee, was named by the archbishop to a newly created pastoral team to take over for the Rev. Eugene Bledorn, St. Boniface pastor who resigned because of ill health.

The archbishop, who has admitted to being under intense pressure to transfer Father Groppi, announced the reorganization today in the Catholic Herald-Citizen, official publication of the Milwaukee archdiocese. He said the move was made in consultation with the Priests' Senate personnel committee.

Pressing Needs
Cousins said the team approach was decided upon "as a creative and flexible plan to meet the pressing pastoral needs" of the St. Boniface area, located in the heart of the Negro district.

"All policies will be formed by team consensus," the archbishop said. "One team member will be chosen administrator to satisfy present canonical and legal requirements, but otherwise the group will make all decisions together."

The Rev. Michael Neuberger, the other assistant at St. Boniface, also was named to the pastoral team along with Father Groppi; the Rev. Carroll C. Straub, an assistant at Immaculate Conception parish, Sheboygan; the Rev. Anthony G. Klink, an assistant at St. Gregory the Great church, Milwaukee, and the Rev. William J. Whalen of St. Gall's church, a neighboring parish to St. Boniface.

Housing Drive
Under the leadership of Father Groppi, adviser to the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, St. Boniface has been a focal point in the month-long drive for an open housing ordinance. Almost daily rallies have been held there and marches by housing demonstrators have originated at the church.

The archbishop said the St. Boniface pastoral team would work in cooperation with other parishes in the Inner Core.

About 100 of the demonstrators Tuesday staged their 30th consecutive night of protest with an 80-minute march in the rain from a near North Side Baptist church to St. Boniface. Marchers included 25 clergymen

Counties Told to Face Change

BY DON CASTONIA

GREEN BAY — Change!

This was the key-word again Tuesday as speakers and panelists appeared before the Wisconsin County Boards Association.

Either change and meet the requirements of the added responsibilities being placed upon county boards or be by-passed by either federal programs or some other form of government. This was the recurring theme.

Douglas Weiford, former Eau Claire city manager and now secretary of the newly created State Department of Local Affairs and Development, said the county stands on the threshold of a new age, but that if they cannot accept the responsibilities they will be passed by.

James R. Morgan, secretary of the State Department of Revenue and vice chairman of the Tarr Task Force on local government, said he did not believe that counties, as currently constituted, could handle greater responsibilities.

George H. Harb, Dane County Board chairman, said he believed that unless counties turn to a full-time administrator of some type the state will not consider giving county's home rule powers.

Morgan said a county structure should contain the elements of a legislative body, an administrator and a civil service system. In addition, he said, department heads should be responsible to the administrator rather than the legislative body.

"You cannot effectively run a county with a part-time committee system," Morgan said. "Such a system is unfair to both the county employees and the public."

He added that he was both surprised and disappointed when the county boards association opposed the county assessor plan which was eventually defeated in the state legislature.

Morgan, in posing a hypothetical question to the delegates, said, "the point I am trying to make is that our present system is man-made. It is not sacred. If enough citizens wish to have it changed, the legislature can change it."

Weiford said the county is the hope for the future but that unless the counties are willing to meet the challenge, some other form of government will be substituted.

Engeldinger Renamed State President of Corporation Councils

GREEN BAY — Winnebago County Corporation Councils' Gerald Engeldinger was re-elected president of the Wisconsin County Corporation Councils Association at their second annual conference held here in conjunction with the Wisconsin County Boards Association convention.

The corporation councils association was organized a year ago at LaCrosse and Engeldinger was picked as the group's first president at that time.

One of the major problems facing the counties in the future, he said, is the population explosion. Noting that the U.S. population reached 200 million this year and is expected to hit 300 million in another 30 years, Weiford said "some say the counties are incapable of handling the situation."

Clearing House Weiford said his department was created to act as a clearing house and to coordinate state and local government activities and to aid in better cooperation between local governments.

One of the major functions will be to aid local units of government in planning for the future. "Planning," Weiford said, "is one of the prime functions of local government."

Harb indicated it was of vital importance to have legislation passed enabling counties to hire full-time administrators. "Any county of 100,000 population or more needs an administrator," he said. He concurred with earlier speakers who suggested that smaller counties join together in sharing an administrator.

The lone dissenter was Arthur P. Hayward, chairman of the Wood County board (Wisconsin Rapids). He said he believed that counties as now constituted were sufficiently flexible and capable of handling added responsibilities.

He said this has already been proven by the events of the last 10 years.

Hayward agreed, however, that the burdens on county boards will increase in the future as more municipal functions are transferred to the county, but that the counties "must and will change" within their present structure to meet future needs.

Instead of going the route of a county administrator or executive, Hayward said the need could be met with a trained professional staff to assist the county boards.

Ike's All for Shirley Temple

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was careful not to endorse any presidential candidates. But he melted a little when Shirley Temple's name was mentioned.

publican presidential race, Eisenhower said there are "a good number of well qualified men."

Then asked what he thought about movie stars such as Ronald Reagan and Shirley Temple Black running for office, he said: "I see no reason why anyone in any profession should be barred from taking part in politics. I'm all for Shirley Temple. I'll tell you that."

Rollicking Fred (Fuzzy) Thurston, a prideful veteran of six championship teams during the Packers' latest golden era, is not accustomed to a secondary role.

The barrel-chested, 11-year pro, playing behind strapping sophomore Gale Gillingham at left guard this year, thus responded with alacrity when summoned to combat last Sunday after all-pro Jerry Kramer was separated from his senses in the first quarter of the Pack's tinging 13-10 squeaker over the scrambling Chicago Bears.

He was not, of course, happy with the circumstances which triggered his participation. "Naturally, you don't like to see anything like that happen to get to play," Fuzzy noted, "although you want to play."

'On the Adequate Side'

Thurston, who went the rest of the route at his old position (Gillingham moved to right guard) when the befogged Kramer was unable to return, evaluated his performance with typical candor. "I felt I played fairly well," he said, "but more on the adequate side than anything spectacular."

Elaborating on this point, he added, "I come out of a game with one big feeling, and that is whether we win or lose. . . . That's first. Then, naturally, I'm interested in how I played. If we didn't win, then how I played becomes a big point with me."

Assessing the Packers' guard corps, Fuzzy enthused, "It's a marvelous situation, because it's a long season. . . . I hope it's a long season, with a couple of playoffs and a Super Bowl, so you definitely need three at any position."

'Hurts Not To Be'

"As far as being a starter is concerned, it hurts not to be, of course. But I feel, considering what football has done for me in the last 10 years, if there's anything I have and can offer the team, I should do it. Whether I should be on the bench, or whatever the coach feels will make us a better team on that day, I'm for it."

"How much I'm going to play, it's obviously hard to say," the 245-pound Valparaiso alumnus continued. "It's only my personal opinion, but I don't think there'll be too much rotation. If we're moving the ball and winning, I don't think there'll be that much change. . . . That's the way it should be — that's the way it's always been."

One of sport's premier gentlemen, the urbane Menasha restaurateur is lavish in his praise of the heroically constructed Minnesotan currently holding forth at his old stand. "Gillingham is a very, very fine football player," the two-time all-pro declared. "For a second year man, it's amazing how well he does play. He's playing under tremendous pressure with us going for a third straight title."

'Has Excellent Attitude'

"He has the ability, the size, speed and excellent attitude. The only thing he lacks is experience, and the only way to get that is to play."

Although his stint against the Bears marked the first time this season Thurston has gone more than three quarters, he was not unprepared for heavy duty, he pointed out. "I played pretty close to a half of each game — I played the second and fourth quarters — during the exhibition season. Plus we work real hard every day. And you get into a game and you get a little extra adrenalin."

"I was very, very tired afterward, though," he admitted, "and also very tired Monday."

'I Don't Change'

Does he find blocking for the fleet Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski any more difficult than clearing a path for the departed Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor (both somewhat slower afoot)? "I don't find it any different — I don't change my technique at all," Fuzzy replied. "The only thing that might be different is the way they run, the way they take a hole."

"It's up to them to make the adjustment," Thurston, who became an NFL star despite the fact he played no high school football and donned gridiron gear for the first time as a junior at Valparaiso, appended. "I try to go as fast as I can on every play — it's up to them to adjust if they want to take advantage of their blockers."

Over 200 Games

When a pro football player reaches 33, thoughts of retirement are inevitable and Fuzzy is no exception. But, at the moment, he says, "I don't know how long I'll play. I'm like a lot of guys — playing game by game. Right now, I'm shooting for that third in a row. After the season's over, it'll be time enough to consider that. A lot of my decision will depend on what Vince thinks."

Noting that he has played the equivalent of 20 college seasons (he's appeared in more than 200 NFL games), the voluble Altona native observed, "That's a long time, but it doesn't seem as long when you're winning. I'm shooting for a seventh divisional title, sixth league title and second Super Bowl."

"You've got a lot of motivation there — a lot of people never get one of these," Thurston pointed out, adding with fervor, "it's really been fantastic."

Addressing himself to the immediate future, he said, "It's tougher to keep winning. But we've got a great bunch of guys on our team — that's a big part of it."

"Defensively, I think ours is the best I've ever seen. Offensively, we have a few problems, primarily because of experience. For that reason, I don't think our offense is as good right now as some we've had. But I think we will have — and it could be next week (against Atlanta in Milwaukee County Stadium). When we do start clicking, we'll be really tough."

Hawaii Team To Affiliate With Chisox

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox have signed a working agreement with the Hawaii team in the Pacific Coast League, General Manager Ed Short said Tuesday.

"We feel Hawaii will be a wonderful place to train ball players," Short said. "The weather there is great and they almost never have any rain-outs."

Previously, the Sox had a working agreement with Indianapolis.

Bulldog Harrier Team Defeats Cadets, 20-39

NEW LONDON — Green Bay Premontre was handed its first cross country defeat in five years as the Ken Renning-coached New London team downed the Cadets, 20-39.

Premontre's Jim Schultz turned the 2.2 mile Golf Club course in 11.17 to capture first place, but New London took the next five positions.

Gary Cloutier paced the New London runners with a clocking of 11:33. Finishing, in succession, were Terry Schoenrock, Steve Waterstradt, Paul Demming and Mike Schmidt.

Marion United Fund Appeal Starts Monday

MARION — United Fund of Scouts will be among the largest Marion Inc. will launch its recipients. The budget break-second annual fund drive Mon-down: day. Directors have set a goal of $4,236, compared with $4,188 raised last year.

The drive will start with an 8:15 a.m. dutch treat kickoff breakfast at the city hall A $325. U.S.O., $150. Salvation campaign progress sign has Army, $250 Wisconsin Chil-again been set up downtown and dren's Service, $150: American will indicate a contribution total Field Service, $150. Tigerton each week. Businessmen will Hospital, $150. Clintonville Hos-pital, $250: Marion Youth Center breakfast. The canvass in the 450, Wisconsin Welfare Councils, residential area will start one $11, and American Social Health, week later.

Chairman James Rogers said directors of the organization are highly optimistic as they ap-proach the drive due to the great number of reports which indicated public approval at the way in which the drive was conducted and the allocations made last year. Most seem to favor the single campaign in-stead of numerous individual drives.

The driectors have urged those who live in Marion but are employed elsewhere to earmark their contributions for the Mari-on drive because requests for funds are based upon the popu-lation of the city and therefore the place-of-residence should be the determining factor.

Funds will be allocated to the 15 cooperating agencies accord-ing to the recently adopted The Marion Youth Center, Red Cross, Boy Scouts and Girl Allocations to charities and organizations total $3,836 with $200 set aside for campaign expenses and $200 as a contin-gency account.

City Treasurer's Office At New London Takes On Bright, New Look

NEW LONDON — The city treasurer's office has a new look.

Light-colored imitation wood paneling has replaced the drab colored plaster wall and the ceiling has been lowered about five feet.

A new fluorescent lighting system is expected to be com-pleted this week.

Genske Construction Co put in the new paneling and lowered the ceiling, while electrical work is being done by R. and L. Electric.

CLINTONVILLE — Elizabeth Mullarkey, a senior, has been elected homecoming queen at Clintonville senior high school and will reign over the activities Oct. 7.

Elected members of the court are Pat Berton and Beverly Bate, seniors; Beth Heideman, junior, and Eileen Kause, soph-omore.

Rummage Sale Planned by Guild At Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — The Val-paraiso Guild voted to have a rummage sale in October when the group met Monday night at St. Martin Lutheran School.

Norman Schanke, a member of the school faculty, spoke on the topic "Place In A Teaching Church." The theme was the expanding of ideas in Christian education. A question and an-swer period followed.

An invitation was read from the Wittenberg Valpo Guild, inviting the Clintonville mem-bers to attend its meeting Oct. 17.

Mrs. Clarence Schoenike and Mrs. Fred Jahn were in charge of the entertainment. Minnie Schultz, Alma Schultz and Mrs. George Rock were the hostesses.

More 'I' Mileage for Wisconsin

It is encouraging news for this area of the state that Wisconsin highway officials are planning to make a vigorous effort to secure more federal interstate highway construction funds when the next phase of this program is considered by Congress in 1972 or 1973. Wisconsin was royally short-changed the first time around.

When the interstate system was initiated in the early 1950's, the state felt it could finance only a limited mileage, even with the federal government putting up 90 per cent of the funds. As a result only 459 miles of the total of 41,000 across the country were allocated in Wisconsin.

The prime routes for consideration, according to highway officials, are along the lake shore from Milwaukee to Green Bay, Highway 51 north through the central portion of the state, and Highway 2 across Upper Michigan and northern Wisconsin. An interstate north from Milwaukee between Lake Michigan and Lake Winnebago would include connections to both the Fox Cities area and Green Bay. It still has not been decided whether the route should proceed north from Green Bay to connect with Highway 2, or swing north and west toward Wausau.

In any case such construction would be a great boon to this area, and it is heartening to hear state officials say they aren't going to be timid about their requests this time around.

Cities Endorse Open Housing

The Alliance of Cities endorsement of a statewide open housing law, which would abolish all exemptions in the existing statute should make an impression on the Wisconsin Legislature when it convenes at Madison next month for its fall session.

Surely the civil rights issue and need for a fair housing law with teeth in it have long been recognized. This recognition must now come from state legislators to insure that Wisconsin gets a uniform law which meets the deep-seated problem of discrimination.

Mayors and other city officials from throughout the state comprising the Alliance reacted in a positive manner when the strong-worded open housing law recommendation was before them in the form of a resolution to be sent to Gov. Knowles and the Legislature.

We disagree with those who would contend that open housing is a matter for "home rule" and that local units of government should enact their own ordinances. This only would result in a shotgun approach and a string of laws in cities and counties across the state — all lacking continuity.

The time has come for the Legislature to respond to the pleas of cities for statewide open housing, along with improved state tax-sharing formulas and a revision of Wisconsin's antiquated annexation laws which are slowly strangling our central cities.

The OAS and Cuba

Whether or not Che' Guevara is really stirring up the peasants in Bolivia, his pro-Communist views have at last frightened some Latin American leaders.

Some years ago the Organization of American States stood firmly against any sort of pressure on Latin American nations that could remotely be interpreted as intervention. Earlier United States activities were cited as the major reason for the fears but of course Latin America has a long history of border troubles among many countries. Then fears that Fidel Castro was indeed trying to transport his ideology into their jungles and mountains prompted the OAS to apply some trade sanctions. An attack on Venezuela President Betancourt was laid to Cubans at that time and all members except Mexico broke diplomatic relations with Havana.

Now at the OAS foreign ministers conference in Washington, Argentine Foreign Minister Nicannor Costa Mendes has actually come out in favor of joint military action against Cuba.

This more extreme suggestion was not made into a formal proposal, however, nor is it likely to be at this time. But it is an indication of the amount of concern in Latin America over guerrilla activities.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk has proposed greater efforts at trade restrictions against Cuba as well as protesting to Russia over its daily million dollars in aid to Cuba. In addition the OAS should condemn and denounce the exportation of Castroism and each country should intensify its "vigilance along its coasts and frontiers." But it is difficult to believe that such efforts will make a great deal of difference.

There seems little doubt, in the light of the evidence displayed by the Bolivian foreign minister, but that Cubans have been leading guerrilla bands in other Latin American countries. Although right now it appears that the sixty man force of guerrillas in Bolivia may have been smashed, the efforts to stir up revolt are quite likely to continue as long as such fertile areas for growth exist. Latin America's major problem is not the handful of Cubans that land illegally or arms and ammunition supplied to rebels. It is the poverty, the failure of land reforms, the lack of sound taxation, the continued vast gap between the very rich and the very poor. Communism does not come from all of this but it has a place to put down roots.

The United States and some Latin America countries now refuse to allow ships which have carried goods to Cuba to land. But Great Britain, France and Canada continue to carry on a brisk business with Havana. And while the Soviet Union leaders are presumably not happy with Castro's efforts to overthrow governments with which Russia trades, they are about as stuck with Cuba as the United States is with supporting the government in Saigon.

Another OAS resolution denouncing Cuba is not likely to change Castro's tactics. What the OAS must spend more time furthering is financial and political cooperation among its members so that the social and economic ills in almost all Latin America nations will be alleviated much faster than in the past.

Looking Backward
A Terrible State of Affairs

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Sept. 28, 1867.
George M. Fairfield, a student at Lawrence University when the war broke out, joined Company K, 4th Regiment Wisconsin Volunteers, and continued in that regiment until the close of the year 1861, when he was permitted by his commanding officer to join an Indiana Regiment, where he was promoted to a lieutenant.

He subsequently died in service and was lamented as a fine, brave, faithful and intelligent soldier.

The friends of Lieut. Fairfield now find him advertised by the Madison Regency (government) as a deserter, and his name is on the list of those who are declared to have incurred the penalty of felony, prepared for circulation throughout the state.

And The Madison Journal has the brass to assail the Democratic state convention because it objects to this indiscriminate libel of brave men!

The above facts are communicated to us by one of the commanding officers of Lieut. Fairfield. He adds that no stain on his character was ever attempted before or dreamed of until this list on which his name appeared.

The home of Lieut. Fairfield was at Fort Wayne, Indiana, and his immediate relatives are probably yet ignorant of the cruel wrong done his reputation by men who should have been the first to have protected Wisconsin soldiers from the very breath of slander. — Reprinted from the Milwaukee News.

Daring British desert patrols were striking Axis forces hard at three strategic points in Africa — the supply port of Bengasi, the coastal air base at Barce and a desert outpost at the Gialo oasis.

George S. Nolting was general chairman for the city-wide collection of metal scrap with the Boy Scouts doing the canvassing. Trucks manned by citizens and scouts were to travel every street in Appleton for a curbside pick-up.

Mrs. Everett McBain was elected president of the Seymour American Legion Auxiliary. Other officers elected were Mrs. Ed Pasch, and Miss Eleanor Tubbs, vice president; Mrs. Clyde Van Vuren, publicity officer, and Mrs. Ray McIntyre, sergeant-at-arms.

Mrs. Gordon R. McIntyre, member of the Appleton Public Library Board for many years, was elected president of the organization. She succeeded R. D. DeLand. Mrs. F. Stansbury Young was elected secretary.

Donald P. Shaney, Appleton, was commissioned an ensign in the United States Navy. He served as an enlisted man for eight years, stationed in Japan, Hawaii and China as well as the United States. He graduated in top 10 per cent of his class at officers' candidate school at Newport, R.I.

People's Forum
Claims Froehlich Playing Politics With Education

Editor, Post-Crescent.

A ssemblyman Froehlich's criticism of the salary level afforded our higher educators here in Wisconsin is ironic in view of the fact that he was instrumental in delaying the building of the Green Bay and Kenosha extensions of the University of Wisconsin. His stand on the university site will ultimately cost the taxpayers of this state more than the salaries paid to our university administrators.

If we want to maintain and improve on quality higher education in Wisconsin its going to cost us a handsome sum to keep men like President Harrington around.

Mr. Froehlich's motives are obvious. He's playing politics at the risk of losing qualified educators and breaking down the tradition of the Wisconsin Idea began in the La Follette era. This tradition of keeping education independent of politics has given the University of Wisconsin the prestige of being one of the great institutions of higher learning in our country.

Agency Shop Challenged in U.S. Suit; May Reach Supreme Court

BY WILLIAM BUCKLEY, JR.

In New York City three outfits have been planning and scheming to publish an afternoon newspaper to compete with the New York Post, the working assumption being that the city is too large for so few newspapers. Time Magazine, The New York Times and the New York Daily News have all of them come up with prototypes with which the editors are greatly pleased — and yet nothing has happened. They are deterred by the fact of the labor unions. There is no doubt that, but for the unions, a new newspaper would arise. Indeed, but for the unions, the defunct papers would not have died.

But, happily, there are those who not only inveigh against labor union monopolies, but those who are willing to take action. The thinking is that unless this country finally loses hold of its reason, the Supreme Court has got to come around to acknowledging the right of the individual to decline to join a labor union and still hold down his job; the illegality, in other words, of the union shop agreement.

Last Friday, 24 employees of the McDonnell Douglas Corporation in Los Angeles filed a law suit with the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of California which hopes to bring the matter before the Supreme Court in such a way as to force it to acknowledge the constitutional questions involved.

USED FOR POLITICS

The lawyers for the plaintiffs point out in their brief that the labor union in question, the International Association of Machinists, has contracted with McDonnell that all employees must within thirty days join the union and pay dues or "agency fees," which is another term for dues; and pointed out, moreover, that the IAM regularly engages in political activity.

"The exaction of compulsory agency fee payments from plaintiffs," the lawyers contend, "and the use of such agency fee payments for the purposes aforesaid, imposes upon them political and ideological conformity, prevents them from exercising their rights and privileges as citizens of the United States, deprives them of their civil rights guaranteed to them under statutes of the United States, injures them in their persons and property, and abridges rights guaranteed to them under the First, Fifth, and Ninth Amendments to the United States Constitution, which Amendments guarantee to individuals freedom of association, freedom of thought, here, as it actually works, takes a part of the earnings of some men and turns it over to others, who spend a substantial part of the funds so received in efforts to thwart the political, economic and ideological hopes of those whose money has been forced from them under authority of law."

The most interesting sequence of the Looper case is that rather than turn over its books to an auditor to determine what percentage of the funds taken in had been spent on politics, the union agreed to reimburse the whole of Miss Looper's dues throughout the twelve-year period. The union was that much frightened by the prospective exposure of its books. And not surprisingly, when one meditates on the recent estimate that the labor unions spent more than one-hundred-million dollars on politics in the six months preceding the 1964 elections. There are those who believe that more than 50 per cent of the 923-million dollars in annual dues income goes out for political purposes. A single issue of the AFL-CIO News a year ago contained the headlines: "Drive Launched to Bolster Liberal Ranks in Congress"; "Council Spurs Drive for '66 Elections" and a half dozen others to the same point, and featured a Pravda-style cartoon of a brawny proletarian, with union badge and sickly grin watering a flower bed. The watering can is labelled "Dollars for Cope", the flower bed, "Liberals for the 90th Congress." It is the gallant ambition of the 24 machinists in Los Angeles that at those flowers shall not bloom, in which case there might yet be another newspaper in New York.

Wisconsin Report
Financial Support Of Parties Is Vital To Free Candidates

Substitute state affairs columnist today is Ody J. Fish, chairman of the Wisconsin Republican Party and an experienced political campaign technician. John Wyn-gaard is on vacation.

BY ODY J. FISH

MADISON — It is time that some age old canards about political financing were given a decent burial. There is no question but what money and like $2 per voter in Wisconsin would cover every partisan election from the court house through the White House. No election has been "bought" by any candidate nor are competent but monetarily poor individuals precluded from running. Political party financing accelerates the process of advancing qualified candidates. A strong party will result in strongly independent candidates able to avoid the blamishment of private interests.

its solicitation drives more competent men out of politics than it attracts.

From 1912 through 1928 national campaigns cost about 19 to 20 cents per vote cast. This accelerated moderately and then fell back to 18 cents in 1952 and 19 cents in 1956. In 1960 it climbed to 32 cents and the last presidential year, 1964, it reached 41 cents. Inflation affects political costs as well as those of every housewife. Surely this price is not too much to pay for the election process of our chief executive and the attendant national campaign.

The attention is focused, and properly so, on where the money is obtained. Although the Republicans are lovingly caricatured as the "fat cats," the truth is that in 1964 only 28 per cent of national Republican campaign funds came from contributions of $500 and over as compared to a whopping 69 per cent of national Democrat campaign funds from the over $500 contributor.

BROADER BASE NEEDED

Broad based political financing must be a goal of every political leader and recognized by the citizen. Although some people look with abhorrence on political party financing it is the single most effective way to avoid conflict of interest contributions. A candidate adequately financed by his party obviously minimizes pressures from individual contributors. To accomplish this citizens must generously support the political party of their choice.

National labor committees contributed $3.7 million in 1964 as compared to $2.3 million in 1960. Corporations, of course, are forbidden to make political payments of any kind. The press and other media often make light of the some $4 per vote the New Hampshire 1964 presidential primary cost but overlook the $6 per vote expended by network television on covering the campaign.

Wisconsin is fortunate it has clean governments and realistic expenditures. Something

GOP UNITED FUND

In some states elected officials are expected to contribute a percentage of their salary to their party. In Wisconsin we reserve it and attempt to operate a united fund approach to free the candidate from the pressure of fund raising and the resultant imagined dependence.

More awareness of this problem is clearly needed, citizens should be aware that in this method is the support of qualified office seekers. When it comes to contributing, an area distasteful to many regardless of the impact on their lives, we often find many who give until it hurts — but they have an extremely low pain threshold.

One quality consistent in political candidates is a greater awareness of their civic responsibility than the average citizen and they should be lauded instead of lambasted.

Spiraling campaign costs can be avoided through understanding of the party process, the standing clear from complete candidate orientation. Dollar limits are not the answer. Built in are loopholes that create greater problems than they solve. As an example, if limits on a candidate were set how could you avoid so-called "educational" groups from campaigning? Or special committees spending large sums on one issue and then having a candidate spend his controlled amount to associate himself with that issue?

I served on the election law reform committee of the Legislative Council and the problems are easier to define than to solve. One helpful method would be a more complete accounting, sometimes referred to as full disclosure. The Citizen's Research Foundation wrote "The Republicans were frank with media on finances; on the other hand the Democrats, although enjoying good press relations, were less than candid about their financial operations." This is not an indictment of a party, rather of a system that permits it.

Voluntary political parties require voluntary citizen contributions to maintain good Wisconsin government. The alternative is the wealthy candidate, the private interests, an ineffective dollar limitation or an outright ban on specific costly media such as television.

Strictly Personal
Then There's Also the 'Business Alcoholic'

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

An advertising executive with whom I lunch from time to time complimented me on a recent column in which I satirized the excessive claims and absurd superlatives in many advertisements.

"We, in advertising," he affair — and you don't tell a man in love that his sweetheart has cross-eyes or hair on her chest."

"The public mistakenly believes that the ad agencies are usually to blame for the wild overstatements in some ads — but, actually, in many cases the agency tries to restrain the head of the company from his exuberance. Of course, some agencies will go to any limits to hold and please an account, and they're the ones who make our job doubly hard."

"Take a man who is engrossed in the affairs of his company 12 or 14 hours a day, and you have a man who has really lost his perspective about life. He's what I call a 'business alcoholic.' All he can see is his product, which to him represents the Good, the True and the Beautiful."

"He's not a hypocrite or a greedy charlatan, but a kind of fanatic. He is terribly sincere, and just as terribly naive. He has generally sacrificed his home life, his personal interests and his recreation to this object of his worship — which is Pickled Pork Patties, or something like it."

"And he is profoundly convinced that the American Way, the Welfare of the Future, and the glory of his life all devolve upon putting a Pickled Pork Patty into every human mouth."

"This is what we are dealing with, and we get our ulcers not so much from trying to sell the sponsor a little bit. I think the public ought to understand our plight."

said, "are always grateful for satire of that sort. You know, we get blamed for silly and swaggering ads, but we fight against them as much as we can."

"How do you mean?" I asked.

"Well," he explained, "we are able to take a detached view about the products we advertise. We know their strong points and their weak points, and we prefer an advertising campaign that has some taste and restraint."

"But take the president of the company which makes Pickled Pork Patties. This man is in love with his product. He is absolutely convinced it is the greatest in the world, and can't understand why everybody shouldn't adore Pickled Pork Patties as much as he does."

"What can we say to this man? He is involved in a love

Presidents Find Way Of Getting Around Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidents all the way back got their lumps for something they did in foreign affairs, even though it looked dandy at the time. People and politicians turned sour later.

Good examples are Presidents Johnson and Harry S. Truman.

Truman neither asked nor got congressional authorization for going into the Korean War. But Congress fully backed him by voting what he needed for the war.

Frustration set in as the war dragged on and debt increased. Clubbing Truman then became a hobby, particularly in Congress where Republican Sen. Robert A. Taft complained Truman had no right under the Constitution to do what he did.

Now Johnson is getting the Truman treatment for the war in Vietnam. Although, unlike Truman, he asked and got congressional approval ahead of time for using troops there to stop aggression.

The Constitution is not only silent on what a president can do in those situations, but is blank on practically everything else in foreign affairs except for saying

Filipino Taken Forcibly From Tree Hideout

MANILA (AP) — On presidential orders, a helicopter team has plucked a Filipino farmer from the 60-foot coconut tree where he had perched for the last 58 days. He said men who killed his son would get him if he came down.

President Ferdinand E. Marcos ordered the helicopter to the village of Binalonan, 100 miles north of Manila, to get Quirino Berja, 48, out of his palm frond home. Marcos acted in response to pleas from the man's family.

After putting up some initial resistance, Berja was hooked up to the helicopter and flown to an air base for a medical checkup, the defense department said.

Berja went up the tree driven by the fear that men who killed his 29-year-old son Salvador would get him. "I'm not coming down," he said. "They'll kill me."

Relatives used a rope pulley to keep Berja stocked with soft drinks and food.

Two men arrested in connection with his son's death have been released on bond.

a president can make a treaty if two-thirds of the Senate approves.

From the earliest days presidents have submitted 1,427 treaties to the Senate which approved 1,247 and flatly rejected 16. Another 141 were withdrawn because they couldn't get a two-thirds vote or for other reasons. Another 23 treaties are pending.

Truman and Johnson began to get their clobberings on a big scale only after the Korean and Vietnamese wars began to drag out.

It was President Thomas Jefferson who made the most sensational do-it-yourself deal. In 1803, when he bought Louisiana as big as the United States at the time, for $15 million, or three cents an acre, from Napoleon.

Nothing in the Constitution said he could do anything like that. And he knew it was an "act beyond the Constitution" but he had to move fast because Napoleon was in a hurry. Then he told a delighted Senate which approved the deal with treaties.

They turned early to "executive agreements." President George Washington was the first to take this road with a postal agreement. Most agreements later had congressional approval, but by a simple majority vote since they were not treaties, avoiding the painful two-thirds process.

And presidents have tried something else: national "commitments" or promises which became American foreign policy. The first big one of its kind was President James Monroe's "doctrine."

Paws Off
Buried deep in a few paragraphs in his annual message to Congress, it simply warned European powers to keep their paws off Latin America. For years it was ignored by Europeans who violated it and by Americans who forgot it. It did not become fixed American policy until the 1860s.

Another doctrine, issued 124 years later by President Truman, changed American history.

With Greece and Turkey under desperate Soviet pressure in 1947, Truman declared it would now be American policy to stop Communist expansion. He did not put a limit on where.

As with the Korean War later, he did not ask for any congressional approval but here, too, Congress backed him by voting the money for men, weapons and goods. He saved Greece and Turkey.

Asked and Got
Later, President Dwight D. Eisenhower, like Johnson but unlike Truman, asked and got congressional approval for what he might want to do later with the U.S. armed forces to stop communism.

Congress gave him a go-ahead with the Middle East and Formosa resolutions. And then he used the armed forces in both

Glue-Sniffing Party Ends in Indictment

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (AP) — A Klamath Falls woman who is accused of having played hostess at a glue sniffing party has been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

A grand jury indictment accused Vera Hutchinson, 20, of providing the glue and allowing minors to sniff glue in her presence.

Dist. Atty. Sam McKeen said since there is no law in Oregon against sniffing glue, this approach might be the only way to attack the problem.

Tough Legislation Aimed at Criminals

Many of New Bills in Various States Crack Down on Rioters

By BLAINE E. ROWLEE
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — State legislatures alarmed by slum rioting and complaints that recent court decisions tipped the scales of justice in favor of criminal elements have enacted some tough legislation against law-breakers this year.

Many of the new statutes, an Associated Press survey showed, were aimed at rioting. Four states made it a crime to possess or traffic in home-made bombs such as those often used to start fires during racial disorders.

Four others made it a jail or prison offense to attack or harass firemen or policemen trying to carry out their duties.

Search Powers
A number of states widened the powers of the police to detain and search suspected criminals without first obtaining warrants.

Two states boosted the penalties for crimes committed with weapons and California prohibited loaded firearms in public places.

Eight states moved toward better coordination and training in law enforcement. Several others wrote laws to cope with what some Utah Republican legislators termed "dilution of police powers by the U. S. Supreme Court."

Arizona, Massachusetts, Utah and Texas now authorize the arrest of a crime suspect without a warrant—in Texas, even on suspicion of intent to commit a crime. However, similar legislation was defeated in Georgia, New Hampshire and Connecticut.

Emergency Activities
Delaware, Florida, Indiana, Nebraska and Ohio granted or increased powers of state authorities to deal with emergencies, such as riots. But Colorado, which gave police and sheriffs emergency crowd control powers in disasters—the outgrowth of 1965 floods—refused to make these powers applicable to riots.

Kansas made it a felony punishable by three years imprisonment to strike a law enforcement officer with intent to injure him.

Pennsylvania and Ohio prescribed jail sentences for harassing firemen in performance of duties. Ohio also applying its law to policemen on duty at fires or disasters.

Florida broadened the powers of its sheriff's bureau, in effect creating a state police force. A half dozen states—California, Colorado, Maine, New York, Vermont and Washington—set up state agencies for law enforcement coordination, centralization or training.

Crime Commission
Massachusetts and Connecticut voted themselves into the New England State Police Compact, but New Hampshire's lawmakers turned down a proposal to set up a state crime commission.

Montana's criminal procedures were recodified "in line with recent decisions of the Supreme Court," a Legislative Council spokesman said. One procedure would be issuance of a notice to appear in court, instead of an arrest without a warrant with failure to appear constituting grounds for issuing a warrant. The idea is to ward off false arrest damage suits.

A new Texas law permits the courtroom use of a defendant's oral confession if it led to material evidence of the crime.

Utah amended several laws to conform to U. S. Supreme Court guidelines.

Crime Penalties
Several states toughened penalties for crime.

California increased minimum sentences in case of injury to the victim of rape or robbery.

Nebraska boosted the 20-year sentence for habitual criminals 60 years.

A Texas convict now must serve one third of his sentence or 20 years, whichever is less, before parole. Formerly it was one-fourth or 15.

Massachusetts increased the penalty for assault and battery to collect a debt—a measure aimed at loan sharks.

New Kansas, Nevada and Utah laws prohibit obscene or threatening telephone calls.

A special session of the Delaware General Assembly enacted anti-riot legislation a week after looting, shootings and fires in Wilmington in July. The law gives the governor emergency powers and prescribes 3-to-10-year sentences for rioting or destruction of property during a riot, with no probation or parole for three years.

Inciting Riots
Florida and Texas prescribe as much as two years behind bars for rioting or inciting riot.

Nebraska gave National Guardsmen power to arrest when serving on emergency duty in riots. Under new laws, possession of fire bombs could lead to as much as 10 years in prison in Delaware, as much as five years in Ohio.

California's prohibition against loaded guns in public places applies also to meeting places of legislators and the homes of the governor and other elected state officials. New Hampshire's new gun law sets a mandatory two-year prison sentence for the use of a handgun in committing a felony. It bans the sale of firearms to a nonresident whose home state prohibits such sale.

4th Newspaper Closed in Saigon

Arizona increased penalties for crimes committed with any kind of weapon and provided for a 20-year prison term without parole for a third offense.

Illinois enacted a gun registration law in an effort to control ownership of weapons day, the fourth this month. The latest was the antigovernment Thoi Dai (Epoch), a 10,000-circulation Vietnamese-language daily. Its indefinite suspension left the city with 23 dailies.

In Monday's edition the newspaper carried a story saying that irregularities and erasures had been found on 85 per cent of the returns in the Sept. 3 presidential election won by Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, that signatures on the sheets had been forged and that the National Assembly planned to invalidate the election because of irregularities.

Yugoslav Town Feels Fairly Strong Quake

SKOPJE, Yugoslavia (AP) — A fairly strong earthquake cracked walls and toppled several chimneys in the Macedonian town of Kicevo Tuesday. The epicenter was some 25 miles southwest of this Macedonian capital, where 1,000 persons perished in a massive earthquake in July, 1963.

Kicevo's population panicked and ran to the streets but nobody was reported injured. The quake was the strongest of a series of tremors that began in the area Sept. 20.

Candidate Freed From Jury During Campaign

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Jefferson Circuit Judge Thomas Ballantine Jr. has given Democrat Henry Ward's gubernatorial campaign a big boost—the judge dismissed Ward from jury duty.

Ward would have had to report beginning Oct. 2, just when the drive for votes in the Nov. 7 general election was getting under way. But Ballantine, a Democrat, said it wouldn't be fair for Ward to serve on a jury unless Louie Nunn, the Republican nominee, also served.

Joint Chiefs' Bid for Bombing Rejected

Administration Preferred Slow Escalation, Wheeler Tells Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Joint Chiefs of Staff sought a 16-day bombing onslaught against 90 key targets in North Vietnam early in 1966, congressional testimony shows. But they didn't get their way.

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the chiefs, revealed in Aug. 16 Senate testimony released Tuesday that the military urged this "much sharper type of attack."

The administration instead adopted a gradual escalation approach which allowed commanders in Vietnam to attack only 22 JCS-recommended fixed targets all last year.

Wheeler's comments indicated anew deep-seated differences between the military men and civilian leaders over the conduct of the war. President Johnson told a recent news conference there was no serious conflict between the joint chiefs and civilians.

Civilian Agreement

Wheeler told the Senate preparedness investigating subcommittee that, in retrospect, the 90-target campaign probably would have taken 26 days to complete due to bad weather.

According to previous testimony by Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, Pacific commander-in-chief, this attack campaign would have hit all major targets in six areas: power, transportation, air defense, war-related industry, military complexes and petroleum, oil and lubricants.

Although many of these have been hit over past months, Wheeler said a number of significant targets remain off-limits—among them the port of Haiphong, point of entry for Soviet war aid to Hanoi.

'Peanuts' Hit

"I have come down on the side that we could undertake actions against the port of Haiphong," the general stated. Most of the Soviet-supplied war goods passes through Haiphong, Wheeler said, but the only North Vietnamese port which has been hit is Cam Pha. He called it "peanuts."

"There is no question but that lacking support in the Soviet Union—that is, getting the means of the war—that any sizeable conflict would be impossible for the North Viet-name and the Viet Cong," Wheeler stated. "There is no question about it."

Wheeler also testified under oath that during his trip with McNamara to Vietnam in July, commanders were sounded out on the idea of limiting attacks to North Vietnam's southern panhandle.

In a White House news conference July 12, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said that during his trip "only incidentally did we discuss the air war in the North . . . Although the commander of the Pacific was there with his component commanders of the Air and Navy, we didn't get into it in great detail."

Archbishop Supports Open Housing

NASHOTAH (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury said Tuesday he has read what the Episcopal bishop of Milwaukee has said about open housing and "I agree with it."

Archbishop Arthur M. Ramsey refused, however, to voice an opinion about clergymen leading "civil disobedience" marches.

A pastoral letter of Bishop H. V. Hallock read in all Episcopal diocesan churches last Sunday said that open housing in the Milwaukee area must come at once.

On another subject, Archbishop Ramsey told a news conference he could envision a "reunited Christendom" that would recognize the Roman Catholic Pope as the presiding bishop.

He said, however, it was unlikely that Christendom as a whole would "accept the Pope as infallible."

The Archbishop said he also feels the Roman Catholic Church will "alter its position on birth control" and modify its requirement of celibacy for priests.

Deputy Wounded By Own Revolver

SEATTLE (AP) — King County Deputy Sheriff Gordon Beebe, 24, accidentally shot himself in the leg Tuesday when the trigger of his revolver caught on the corner of his desk.

He suffered a flesh wound in the calf of his left leg from the .38-caliber bullet.

Rockefeller Called Choice

Favorite Son Rejection Discounted by Javits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York discounts as speculation reports he has been shelved as a potential "favorite son" candidate at the 1968 GOP convention.

New York Republican leaders were said Monday to have tentatively agreed to back Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller as the state delegation's favorite son. The purported switch was described as an attempt to make sure the 92-member state delegation backs a moderate for the GOP presidential nomination.

Javits said Rockefeller has said nothing to him of such a change in plans and: "If we were going to change it would be we—the governor and myself—who would change."

Follow Pledge

The senator said in an interview Tuesday he believes Rockefeller, who recent polls have indicated would currently be the strongest Republican opponent against President Johnson, will stick by his numerous pledges not to seek the nomination.

"He's been so clear on the proposition he wants to keep out of it. I have absolutely no reason to believe he'll change that position," Javits said.

Javits has indicated interest in being considered for the Republican nomination for vice president. A designation as New York's favorite son with its bargaining power could help him in that regard if a moderate won the presidential nomination.

As long ago as November 1966, Rockefeller said he would back Javits as a favorite son candidate. Javits managed Rockefeller's successful bid last year for a third term as governor.

Strongest Ticket

Rockefeller also has indicated he believes a ticket of Michigan Gov. George Romney for president and Javits for vice president would be the strongest one Republicans could field next year.

As a Jew friendly to labor and a strong backer of civil rights legislation, Javits has enjoyed solid backing from minorities.

But Rockefeller appeared to be backing away from his original position on Javits when he said in a September interview that he would accept the favorite son designation himself "as a last resort" and as a "means of holding the delegation together."

Israel, Egypt Trade Accusations on Breach

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egypt and Israel fought artillery and machine gun duels across the Suez Canal in the Ismailia area today and both sides blamed the other for starting the ninth breach of the Middle East cease-fire this month.

Texas Feud Bursts Forth With Beulah

Connally, Yarborough Exchange 'Politicking With Disaster' Claims

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Hurricane Beulah not only scourged Texas with winds, tornadoes and floods—the mighty storm also ripped wide open the chasm that separates Gov. John Connally and the state's senior senator, Ralph Yarborough.

The political squall burst forth in a congressional committee's trip to investigate Hurricane Beulah's devastation. It left the committeemen groggy.

"They got caught in something they didn't expect and never really knew what hit them," said one of the corps of federal agency officials brought to Texas with the House public works subcommittee.

The feuding between Connally and Yarborough is years old but had been kept somewhat muffled since President Johnson became the chief executive. Johnson and Connally are old friends.

'Invited Guest'

On the disaster tour, Yarborough, who was carefully identified time after time by the House group as "an invited guest," did much of the questioning of witnesses and often was the first one to shake a hand at each stop on the tour of trouble spots.

Connally, who had been invited to make the tour with the committee and was listed on the official agenda as the first hearing witness, never appeared. Instead, he went about his own inspection tour of Beulah's ravages.

Connally and Yarborough each claimed the other was trying to make political hay while hurricane victims suffered.

"Playing politics with disaster," charged Yarborough in his frequent criticisms of Connally for not immediately having asked President Johnson to declare the Rio Grande Valley and coastal bend of South Texas disaster areas.

Gather Information

Connally said gathering information on the damage was difficult and that he wanted to get his request right the first time and in accordance with federal law before formally entering it.

Yarborough's supporters said Connally did not announce his hurricane hearings until after a Washington announcement that Yarborough was coming to Texas with the House group.

A close Connally helper said of Yarborough: "He's just trying to latch onto the House group for political purposes."

Some members of the House committee said that the senator took advantage of the trip even to the point of trying to tell the House members where they should go and whom they should see.

Snubbed by Connally

On the other hand, some subcommittee members felt they were snubbed by Connally.

"In any other state, the governor would have been here to greet us and go right along with us," said one.

"It was an unfortunate situation," said another member. "We felt almost as if they were trying to saw us in two."

Almost everyone agreed privately that Connally probably would have worked closely with the House committee, which included several of his personal friends, if Yarborough had not been along. But on the record, subcommittee members made no mention of the Connally-Yarborough fuss.

Junta Doesn't Dislike Miniskirts

ATHENS (AP) — The army brigadier who banned miniskirts for schoolgirls shortly after the military took power in Greece last April sat in the front row Monday night at a miniskirt contest sanctioned by the new junta.

Brig. Stylianos Patakos, the interior minister, said he approved of miniskirts although he still thought schoolgirls should not wear them. The parade of 18 girls at a wine festival apparently was intended to counter suggestions stirred by the ban that the military regime is puritanical.

One thousand persons watched as awards were given to the best miniskirt worn by a Greek girl and by a foreigner.

Councilman Dislikes 'Art' Near City Hall

NEW YORK (AP) — "Cuboid Shift No. 2" is the title of a piece of modern sculpture erected last weekend in front of City Hall.

Councilman-at-large Joseph Modugno has another name for it.

"That silly-looking, unartistic, unattractive monstrosity of cube form that spoils the classic front of City Hall should be removed immediately," he said Tuesday.

August Hecksher, administrator of recreation and cultural affairs, said the work would remain where it is but offered to take Modugno around and "explain" the various odd-shaped pieces to him.

bulldozers which pushed black earth across two streets kept the brown waters from washing over the entire city.

The level kept on edging higher through the night after covering the south side of this city of 41,000 and spreading over big sections of the north side, but the peak appeared near.

An International Boundary and Water Commission spokesman reported at 7 a.m. that a slight drop already was noticeable in the Rio Grande at Mercedes, 13 miles upstream. He said water in the Arroyo Colorado seemed to be slowly leveling off.

Officials said the Harlingen water supply had been polluted. Warnings were broadcast for users to boil the water before drinking it.

Red Cross shelters drew on 150,000 gallons of bottled water sent by a San Antonio brewery. Stores sold out of distilled water. Taverns did a booming business.

The International Boundary and Water Commission ordered another area north of the Arroyo Colorado and south of U.S. Highway 83 cleared of people late Tuesday. Water rose four feet deep in some houses soon after the evacuation began.

Gov. John Connally rushed from a dinner meeting in Austin, the state capital, Tuesday night at word conditions were growing steadily worse, and for hours directed the evacuation from the state's Emergency Operating Center in Austin.

"The situation is very disturbing and we are keeping as close a watch on it as we can in order to help local officials," Connally said early today. "We still do not know precisely where the crest of the Rio Grande is. At 7 p.m. Tuesday there were indications that it may have been south of San Juan."

"There were indications that water in the river upstream from that point was falling, but the crest is still hours away from the Harlingen area and the Arroyo Colorado is still rising."

reasons why it did not come from a laboratory," the official said.

Missing Persons

Meanwhile, police continued to follow up on missing persons reports that still trickle in. The police chief at Brook Creek, Ill., telephoned detectives this morning and said that a 12-year-old girl ran away from home there Sept. 21, and was thought to be heading north.

Police also were informed Tuesday night that Ronald Abendroth, 35, Appleton, who was reported missing in July, may be working in California.

Marinette police notified Appleton authorities Tuesday that Judith Ann Hutchison, 30, an Army nurse, was missing after she left Marinette for Manitowish this month. Police said she is driving a 1966 Ford convertible with license number D12-487. She is 5 feet, two inches tall, and weighs 120 pounds.

Police were told Tuesday afternoon that children playing in Arbutus Park Sunday found a butcher knife with a 1 1/2-inch, damaged blade. Police are holding the knife.

A large amount of clothing, some found along streets and roads, has been turned over to police, although authorities have not been able to connect it with the case.

Included among the clothing were some women's garments found along a Waushara County road.

Crank calls also are coming in. An unidentified caller told police at 5:43 p.m., Tuesday that the rest of the body was under a warehouse in Neenah. Appleton and Neenah police went there and found nothing.

Hebard Will Again Face Murder Trial

Green Bay Youth, 16, Is Judged Sane at State Hospital

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — A Green Bay youth who, at the age of 16, was four years ago charged with first degree murder in the worst multiple slaying in Green Bay's history, has been judged sane and will again face trial.

Harry Raymond Hebard, charged in the shooting deaths of five members of his family on Feb. 19, 1963, was confined to Central State Hospital at Wau-pun after being declared insane and unable to assist in his own defense.

He was charged with four counts of first degree murder in the deaths of his father, Jack Hebard, 37, his stepmother, Joyce Hebard, and twin sisters, Janice and Rudy Rudell, 11 years old. A step-brother, 15-year-old John Rudell, was also slain, but the fifth murder count was withheld by then Dist. Atty. Robert Warren.

Has Recovered

Judge James W. Byers received notice this week from Dr. E. F. Schubert, superintendent of Central State Hospital, that Hebard, "has now recovered sufficiently to be tried on the alleged offenses."

Judge Byers said he will review the hospital file on the youth and set a date for his return, probably in a month or so, when he can fit it in the court calendar.

"We want to handle this matter as quickly as possible once it is returned here," the judge noted.

Hebard, a former West High student, was apprehended on a farm near Pulaski the same day his family was discovered in their home at 2626 Hazlewood Lane.

Ordered Waived

All five victims died of bullet wounds in the head, fired from a .22 caliber pistol and rifle.

After being questioned by city and county police, Hebard ap-

Officials Told Oneida Bridge Study, Construction to Take Four Years

Department of Public Works Interviews Five Firms Interested in Making Survey

It will take almost four years to design and construct a new high-level bridge over the Fox River, Appleton officials were told by consultants Tuesday.

The board of public works interviewed representatives of five firms interested in obtaining a contract for a bridge construction study which is being considered by the city council.

There is $17,500 in this year's budget to pay half the cost of a study, however, the council has been reluctant to authorize one to date.

At a recent meeting it was decided to discuss the proposed project with consultants.

The council at its next meeting will be presented with a recommendation of the city's land acquisition to purchase the First Congregational Church property, which city planners and engineers say will be needed for the bridge route.

The time, consultants said, needed to conduct a bridge study ranged from four to six months. They also indicated it would take from 11 months to a year to design the span, and another two years to construct it.

Interviews were conducted in the mayor's conference room over a four-hour period. Several times the board of public works lacked a quorum.

Mayor George Buckley, board chairman, a b s e n t e d himself from the room several times. The mayor has been cool to the bridge project, claiming it will cost from $10 to $12 million. He also has questioned the Oneida Street location proposed for the bridge.

Applicants Needed for Water Commission

KIMBERLY — The term of Harry Van Himbergen on the water commission expires Oct. 1 and Mrs. Katherine Loch-Schmidt, village clerk, is accepting applications for appointments to the commission.

Applicants will be reviewed and voted on at the 7 p.m. Monday meeting of the village board. Appointment to the commission is for a three-year term.

No Contract For Teachers

Neenah Salary Bargaining Teams Confer With Groups

NEENAH — No agreement was reached Tuesday in a bargaining session between the Neenah Educational Association and the board of education. Both teams are conferring with their groups today.

Another meeting of the teams has been scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday, preceding a special meeting of the board of education, called to continue budget preparation for the Oct. 3 deadline.

An item of $225,000 to cover salary and cost of living increases in the 1968 budget, now under preparation by the board, is more than 25 per cent of a $900,000 total budget increase.

Dr. John Wilson told the fiscal control body of the school district Monday night that teachers' demands this year center in a revision of base-pay rate, which may be increased as much as $500 to $800 from the present $5,400 base. He also attributed mounting salary expense to "catching up" on the 4 per cent index salary plan.

Union Demands Might End Madison Bus Service, Line Claims

Visitors Laud 'New' Avenue

Visitors to Appleton in recent weeks have been heaping praise on the city's reconstructed and beautified College Avenue.

And officials in Mason City, Iowa, have notified City Clerk Elden Broehm they are interested in patterning their main business street after Appleton's.

Last week the members of the Mason City Planning Commission came to town and inspected the finished avenue.

Jon S. Ewing told Broehm the Iowa contingent was impressed with the plantings and beautification of the downtown.

Want Drawings

"We are interested in this type of project for our city and would like to have drawings, sketches, plans, etc. on your project," Ewing wrote. Milwaukee Mayor Henry W.

Maier inspected the "new" College Avenue one night last week while here for a speaking engagement and said he was impressed with what had been accomplished. "It's a beautiful street and will help stabilize your downtown tax base," Maier commented.

Several mayors from various parts of Wisconsin — in Appleton attending the Alliance of Cities — also took the time to stroll along the avenue and expressed their opinions to Mayor George Buckley and other city officials.

In general, visiting mayors liked what they saw.

Newsman Impressed

Newspapermen covering the daylong Alliance conference also spoke highly of Appleton's reconstructed main street, putting emphasis on the pleasant, relaxed atmosphere the street produced.

Mayor Wants 'Playmate' Out of Parade

Beauty Ban in Appleton?

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Mayor George Buckley created a furor today with his order that Playboy Magazine's 1965 "Playmate of the Year" be banned from being in the College Avenue dedication parade Saturday morning.

A College Avenue menswear store has made arrangements for the appearance here of Miss Jo Collins of Hollywood and New York — a promising young movie starlet, professional model and TV performer.

Family Celebration

"As far as I'm concerned it would not be proper for her to be in the parade," Buckley told a reporter. "She's a strip artist and I feel this type of a person should have no place in it."

Buckley said he took the position because, "This College Avenue program is a family-type celebration."

Welfare Director Merten Ehrlicke, the parade marshal, said Buckley had discussed the matter with him informally. "It is my personal opinion that Miss Collins be in the parade. There is nothing wrong with having this young woman participate."

However, Ehrlicke said he has worked with a committee of volunteers "to put together a fine parade" and wanted to put the matter before them at a meeting Thursday night at city hall. "I'll abide by the decision of the committee members." They have worked very hard on their assignment."

At the same time, Ehrlicke said he did not feel the parade or College Avenue should get involved in politics.

Arenz 'Shocked'

Jerry Arenz, who has played a major role in helping make contacts and organizing the parade, said he was shocked when he heard of the mayor's comments this morning.

"She's staying in the parade as far as I'm concerned," Arenz declared. "This guy Buckley is starting to get under everybody's skin."

Ald. Norman Beyer (20th), chairman of the city council's College Avenue Celebration Committee, said, "I really don't know what to say. I'll go along with the decision of the parade committee."

Elaborating on his position, Buckley said he had no personal objection to a private business firm engaging the services of Miss Collins, but emphasized his feeling she should have no official connection with the civic celebration.

Phone Calls

Buckley said he received "almost continuous phone calls" objecting to Miss Collins' parade appearance.

Asked approximately how many calls he got since Monday, the mayor replied, "About a dozen . . . I really didn't keep track."

Ehrlicke reported that on

Oppose Rising Welfare Costs

County Boards Ask Permission to View Legislative Bills

GREEN BAY — Concern over rising welfare costs was reflected in two resolutions adopted Tuesday by the Wisconsin County Boards Association.

The association asked that all proposed new or revised legislation covering public welfare matters, including salary revisions, be first submitted to the county boards for consideration

Outagamie '68 Convention Site

GREEN BAY — Outagamie County was awarded the 1968 Wisconsin County Boards Association Convention Tuesday. Former Outagamie County Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer had submitted the bid two years ago. The date for the 1968 convention, which will be in Appleton, will be selected later.

before being enacted. Both federal and state programs were included.

Opposition also was expressed to the change in state law which places a greater portion of the cost burden on counties for patients in state institutions.

Statute Change

In a related resolution, the association asked for a change in state statutes to give the county boards confirmation power on the appointment of superintendents of county institutions by the board of trustees. At present county boards have no voice in the appointments.

In county board matters, delegates favored legislation to permit county board members to raise their salaries by a majority vote instead of a two-thirds vote as now required. They also favored removing the limit on the number of county board meetings for which supervisors may be paid in one year.

However, they tabled a resolution calling for changes to permit county board members to collect two per diem in one day when a committee meeting and county board meeting falls on the same day. Some of the smaller counties had objected on the grounds it could prove too costly for them.

Rat Damage

Favored was legislation relieving counties of liability for mob or riot damage in villages. At the present time cities are liable for such damage within their borders but counties are liable for damage in villages.

Also favored was legislation to permit counties to conduct advisory referendums on any matter. At the present time such referendums are limited to public construction matters. Winnebago County delegates opposed the resolution.

Abandoned House Likely Setting for Involvement in Crime

Tall box elders and a "smorgasbord" of other thick, bushy vegetation all but hide the front of the imposing, two-story house at 543 N. Division St.

Two packages of human flesh — the sixth and seventh such packages found to date — were discovered in the thick brush Tuesday night by two Appleton police patrolmen investigating a complaint by a neighbor woman that at least four youths were around the vacant home.

No other findings were made at 543 N. Division St., this morning, by Capt. Donald Paulie nad Lt. Robert Frailing, who made a thorough search of the interior and exterior of the house and a large garage at the rear of the big lot.

Plagued by Vandals

They were led on their search by Roy Schmit, who has owned the yellow stucco house since 1945. Schmit, who said he has been plagued by vandals, explained that the house has stood vacant about six years.

All windows are covered by thick plywood. Schmit, who owns several other houses in Appleton, said the plywood

Tarr Advises Lawrence to Strike Balance

President Comments 120th Year Time to Decide on Changes

Lawrence University President Curtis W. Tarr, speaking at Tuesday's Matriculation Day convention, told students the observance of the university's 120th year is "an historic moment for us to look at Lawrence and decide which are those things that have changed and which are changeless."

Tarr said that the university today seeks to do "quite a different thing" than it once did with respect to students' lives. "We have much more concern today for the individual and individual development" he said.

Today's emphasis is on freedom, more than on discipline, he added. "Lawrence exists to encourage, somehow, each of us to strike a balance between freedom and discipline," Tarr said.

Cites Role

He cited the authoritarian role of the college in its early years, and said that such rule today would be "a significant liability." Rather, he said, Lawrence's present concern is to develop "the capacity of the individual to improve his judgment."

Tarr traced the university's historic growth, noting the institution came into being "because some people cared."

He said that in its first half-century Lawrence changed little, in contrast to today with its

Immunization Cards Must Be Returned

All immunization cards, signed or unsigned, which were handed out to children in kindergarten through Intermediate 2 in Appleton Public Schools have to be returned by Thursday, Miss Lucille Lang, head nurse, has announced.

Immunization this year will include small pox vaccination, diphtheria, tetanus toxoid and the booster shots.

Clinics will be offered during October and November, with the cooperation of the Outagamie County Medical Society, based on the recommendation of the state board of health.

If parents prefer, however, they may take their child to the family doctor instead of the clinic.

Who Will Sit in the Wheelbarrow and who will push it after the East-West football game Saturday is the big question of the week. The wheelbarrow, which will become a tangible sign of victory for the games, has been painted a bright blue and orange on one side for the West Terrors and red on the other for the East Patriots. After the game the student council president from the losing school will push the winning team's president across the field. Rivalry, though, only goes so far, as witnessed by Niki Graham, standing right, and Lynn Frost, cheerleaders for East, who received admiring glances from Charles Boldt, standing left, project chairman, and Ralph Watts, council president, both of West High School. Kimberly Members

Say Costs May Increase With Help

KIMBERLY — The board of education Monday night promised to move slowly and carefully on educational innovations which could qualify for federal aid, particularly with the individualized study concept and flexible modular scheduling being planned for the new west side elementary school.

Board member Frank Gossens said schools initiate and lay out programs which are then changed by the state or others involved in the federal aid program until the programs are no longer the product of the school but of individuals outside the district in charge of administering the program.

Other board members noted the increased costs to a district in setting up a program with federal aid in an effort to avoid forced to continue the program after a few years without aids.

Tentative Plans — Tentative plans for the new west side school call for the utilization of master teachers supplemented by subordinate instructors and clerks. The board approved sending three teachers, four administrators and several board members to Minneapolis and Duluth, Oct. 24 through 27, to study the teaching and learning programs in those cities where they are currently utilizing the same methods.

James Siebers, board president, felt as many members as possible should investigate the new concept so they can answer questions intelligently and be sure the best interests of the students were served. He felt caution was needed in accepting federal aid in an effort to avoid being overstaffed and having overpaid faculty members within a few years.

Secure Costs — Hamann was authorized to secure comparative heatings and air conditioning costs for various types of installations in the proposed west side elementary school. Y's Men Give Circus Proceeds For Youth Work — A check for $382 was presented to the Appleton YMCA Monday night by the Appleton Y's Men's Club to help reduce the mortgage on the camp at Waubesa Lake near Lakewood.

Money was earned by the club from ticket sales for the Clyde Beatty Ringling Bros. Circus sponsored jointly by the Appleton and Frank Harwood Y's Mens Clubs this August. The two clubs earned just under $2,000, all of which will be used for YMCA youth work assistance.

The clubs have sponsored the circus in Appleton for the past four decades.

He explained that since he is forming a life insurance company in Appleton, he will be in a conflict of interest position, because his company will compete with Lutheran Brotherhood in Wisconsin.

Hebard was tried before Judge Byers in Brown County Juvenile Court on Feb. 19, 1963. He was ordered waived to criminal court, a prerogative of juvenile court judges when a defendant is between 16 and 18 years of age. Upon appearance in criminal court, Hebard asked for court-appointed counsel, and Atty. Robert Parins was named by the court to defend the youth. Parins submitted a motion indicating Hebard was probably insane and unable to assist in his own defense.

Two psychiatrists, from Appleton and Sheboygan, were named to examine the defendant, and both returned reports indicating the youth was mentally incompetent to aid in his own defense. On March 13, 1963, Hebard received an indeterminate commitment to Central State Hospital.

Recent Rules
Because of recent rules laid down by the U. S. Supreme Court concerning the handling of juvenile offenders, the original waiver to criminal court, according to Judge Byers may have been illegal. The first step upon the return of the defendant therefore will be an appearance in juvenile court with all the constitutional safeguards provided for. It is likely Hebard will again be waived to the criminal court.

Lighting Costs Exceeds Plan Given Council

Additional $56,000 Sought for 1968 Appleton Budget

The five-year plan for updating Appleton's street lighting will cost the city $161,000 in 1968, according to Charles Magnette, director of inspections. He made the report Tuesday to the city council's public safety committee. Ald. John Ayers (12th), committee chairman, noted the request was $56,000 higher than the amount budgeted for street light replacement this year. Magnette said when the power company originally established the five-year plan, it apparently did not include the installation of additional lights in some areas in its cost estimates. Ayers said it was the impression of the committee the lighting program would cost $16,800 a year, declaring, "We have three years to go with $68,000 already used up in two years." The committee said they wanted to study the matter further before recommending it to the budget committee.

Boy Accidentally Fires Bullet Into Home of Judge

MADISON (AP)—An 11-year-old Madison boy Monday admitted he fired a .22 caliber rifle which accidentally shattered a window in the home of Dane County Probate Judge Carl Plom. The boy, who was referred to juvenile authorities for counseling, had not intended to shoot at the judge, police said. The boy told detectives he arrived home from school and took the rifle from a family closet. He loaded it with a single cartridge that he had found in a quarry and fired into a nearby bush. Police said the shot traveled about one block and struck the kitchen window near which Judge Plom and his wife were sitting. The slug cracked the glass, but did not penetrate it.

rounding communities if Appleton was faced with large-scale disaster or disorder. He explained no definite plan can be set by law officers until a disaster or riot begins, but he added that "the immediate call-up of a full police force could be done quickly, when necessary." According to Wolf, there have been no significant civil disorders in Appleton. "We did have some threats from outside groups when Norman Lincoln Rockwell (late American Nazi Party leader) was scheduled to speak here," he said, "but none of them materialized."

Wolf said that some Rockwell supporters marched before the speech, and some Lawrence students marched in opposition to it. Kathburn told Kiwanians that the civil defense shelters could not be used, according to contracts with owners of buildings, for housing people during civil disorders, but only in emergencies declared by the President or governor, or in case of nuclear attack.

"But we can and would become an emergency government center," he explained. He said his headquarters had telephone radio contacts with vital areas and officials which would be valuable.

Guard Available
Capt. Lee Krouch, commander of Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion, 127th Infantry, Wisconsin National Guard, indicated his unit could only be activated if the mayor asked the governor for help. He said he had about 250 men he could assemble on short notice, and that their primary job in a civil disorder would probably be "sealing off an area."

Schaefer and Mayor Buckley presented a thought that citizens could use "reasonable force" to apprehend a person breaking a law. But they both admitted the line causing a law suit for such action was thin.

Institute Announces New Head of Physics Section Research Staff

President John G. Strange of The Institute of Paper Chemistry announced today that Jerome P. Brezinski will be chairman of the physics section of the Institute's research staff, effective Oct. 1. He succeeds Dr. J. A. Van der Akker who was recently appointed research counselor and who will continue as chairman of the faculty's department of physics and mathematics. Brezinski joined the staff May 1 as a member of the research staff and faculty after industrial experience which included research management experience with the Minnesota & Ontario Paper Co. in International Falls, Minnesota; the Beloit Corporation, Beloit; and the American Can Company, Neenah. He received his Ph.D. degree from the Institute in 1964.

Sumnicht Discusses National Meeting at Local Luncheon

Appleton's largest mailers attended a noon luncheon today, sponsored by the chamber of commerce, at the Conway Motor Hotel where Postmaster Francis Sumnicht reported on the three-day National Postal Forum in Washington, D.C. Sept. 14-16. The conference, the first of its kind, brought together more than 2,000 of the top executives of the nation's largest mail users and postmasters from the 375 largest post offices in the nation. Area postmasters who attended in addition to Sumnicht, were Raymond Novotny, Oshkosh, and George Farah, Green Bay.

Wednesday, September 27, 1967 The Post-Crescent B 3
Since today is Postal Services Day in Appleton, Mayor George Buckley will read and present a proclamation at the luncheon in honor of all postal employees. Bringing the smaller mail users into the plans for the special day, letter carriers this morning started delivery of more than 100,000 ZIP-A-List kits in the Fox Cities postal delivery zones; 25,000 will be distributed in Appleton. Included in the kits are eight postal cards for each household with spaces for the addresses used frequently on personal mailing lists to be ZIP-coded by the post office, and returned. No postage is needed. Sumnicht said the project is important at this time of the year to facilitate the handling of thousands more pieces of mail during the coming Christmas rush.

concern for a constantly changing program.

Modern education, he said, must concern itself with an explosion of new knowledge, with a world which is closer to the campus, and with opportunities for the future "not so much in a life removed from society, but in sophisticated action."

"The whole outlook of college is not so much in staffing professorships for the future, but in preparing ourselves to meet 'the crucial problems of our time,' he said.

Look Carefully

Tarr urged that this year Lawrence look carefully at its interdisciplinary programs, its potential for Master's degree programs, its opportunities for independent study, and the possibility of an undergraduate college of science offering both Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Arts degrees.

He encouraged student participation and interest in each of the programs.

Tarr commented on Lawrence's recent two-year Upward Bound program for youths who earlier were not expected to have college opportunity. The program was "the most important development on our campus in the four years I've been here," he said, adding that out of 50 students in the plan, 41 are now enrolled in post-high school programs, with two of them at Lawrence. "I'm exceedingly proud of that fact," he said.

The importance of Upward Bound, he said, was that "in a sense, that's the way Lawrence began and will continue to be vital — if there are those of us who continue to care enough to make that difference."

Neenah Man Pleads Guilty to Topsy Charge

Joseph J. Ostrowsky, 53, 684 Park St., Neenah, pleaded guilty to a charge of public intoxication and was fined $50 and costs or 24 days in jail Wednesday by Judge Gustave Keller in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Ostrowsky was picked up by county police Tuesday night walking along on State 47 and County Trunk S, north of Mackville.

Police said he had stopped at several farm houses along State 47 asking residents for a ride to his home in Neenah.

Lions Plan Annual Sale of Light Bulbs

A total of 19 teams from both the evening and noon Appleton Lions clubs will conduct the annual door-to-door light bulb sale, starting at 9 a.m. Saturday, and continuing through Oct. 7.

Co-chairmen this year are James Hebbe and Julian Rowe of the noon club and Don Mattison and John Newbury of the evening club.

The eight bulb package, three-way bulbs and single 60 watt bulbs will be sold.

Money raised from this drive is used to support various charitable projects. Aid to the blind or visually handicapped is the primary project.

Other projects include building funds for both St. Elizabeth and Appleton Memorial hospitals, the YMCA and the Lions Camp for the visually handicapped at Rosholt.

Abandoned House Enters Crime Riddle

was put there to prevent further glass breakage.

Schmit showed police and a reporter where vandals broke locks on the house and garage. He said he has been working inside, trying to get the house in shape to rent again.

Schmit, who sells snowblowers and related equipment, lives at 731 N. Mason St.

He said he had not been at his Division St. house for about a month. He had no idea the packages were found there late last night until police told him this morning. Schmit recently razed another house he owned just to the north of 543 N. Division St.

Schmit and police said it was apparent no one broke into the house recently. Neighbors could furnish police with no information concerning who may have thrown the packages of flesh into the bushes near the cement-block front porch.

Paulie said that had police not been called to investigate vandals near the house Tuesday night, it was probable the body parts would not have been found for some time because they were well hidden in the bushes.

Other than the two packages found in the window well at St. Joseph Church Monday, those found on N. Division St. were the only ones that were at least partially hidden.

Holiday on Ice

Revue Meets Expectations

Post-Crescent Sunday Editor

GREEN BAY — Ice revue fans (and their number, from all indications, is legion) need have no fears: the 22nd edition of "Holiday on Ice," which opened Tuesday night at the Brown County Arena for a six-day run, is the same eye-filling, exhilarating and technically accomplished production they have come to expect.

The major dance numbers — especially the "Chinese New Year," with its fire-breathing dragon — are as impressive as ever. The comedy, principally provided by sailor clown Sam Houston and his associate, Dick Haskell, is calculated to draw giggles from the youngsters; the chorus line is gam-packed, and the roster of principals includes a number of fresh new faces.

Individual Standouts

Standouts among the individual performers are the exceptionally proficient Roberta Laurent, a triple gold medalist from Canada, and Jimmy Crockett, remembered for his showmanship and dramatic flair from last year's "Holiday."

Sandy Wirwill, appropriately billed as the Cinderella of the ice, is paried with Crockett in a somewhat pretentious and not entirely successful ballet, "Ballad of the Streets", and acquires herself with style and spirit. A product of the ice shows, rather than international competition, the delectable Miss Wirwill owes more to Broadway than to the Olympics — and would probably be the first to admit it.

Among the newcomers to "Holiday's" ice are Kathie and Jamie Beard, children of veteran skater (and former partner of Sonja Henie) Marshall Beard and his wife, Margaret; teen-aged sisters Jayne and Peggy McCutcheon, and (as an admitted tinge of commercialism) the Esso Tiger, who spurts smoke and water, and is a worthy successor to the "Holiday" Cow.

Runs Gamut

The score runs the gamut of Broadway showtunes, waltzes, sentimental favorites and patriotic selections — literally, from "O Solo Mio" to "The Shores of Tripoli". A skillfully executed "marching manual," is a patriotic finale that literally brings the audience to its feet.

The Marine routine, incidentally, was approved by the Commandant of the Corps, and the skaters' instructor was Staff Sgt. John F. Dunn, now a lieutenant and serving in Vietnam.

Freddie Wittop's costumes are as elaborate and gimmicky as ever; the girls glide about as everything from Chinese princesses to illuminated gondolas (one of which had a short circuit at Tuesday's premiere). The few tumbles at the opening performance are more likely attributable to loose ostrich feathers, embedded in the ice, than to any lack of skill on the part of the performers.

As always, "Holiday's" production support is top-flight. The sheer precision of lighting, scenic changes and synchronized musical accompaniment can only excite the admiration of the theater buff.

"Holiday on Ice" will be repeated tonight through Saturday at 8 p.m. Saturday matinee is at 2:30 p.m., and Sunday matinee at 5 p.m.

Club Plans Tourney

A five-round chess tournament, sponsored by the Fox Valley Club, is planned for Saturday and Sunday in the activity room at Jefferson School.

Registrations will be from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. Saturday. Two rounds will be played opening day and the final rounds scheduled Sunday.

Education Course Being Planned by Adult Catholics

KAUKAUNA — A six-week adult education course, sponsored by Catholic parishes in the city, will get underway Oct. 9 with sessions planned for six consecutive Mondays from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Opening session will have the Rev. Hilary Smits, O. Praem. St. Norbert College, speaking on the topic, "Changes In the Liturgy." The Rev. Orville Jansen, pastor of St. Bernard parish, Appleton, will speak on "Churches In Conversation" at the Oct. 16 session.

"What's Happening In Scripture" will be the topic of a talk by the Rev. Richard Ver Best, Green Bay Chancery, on Oct. 23 and a week later the Rev. Alcuin Schutkovske, OFM Cap. St. Joseph, Appleton, will speak on "New Insights and Old Beliefs."

On Nov. 6, "The Inside Story About Coffee House Youth," will be presented with the Rev. Timon Costello, OFM Cap. St. Joseph, Appleton, as speaker. The closing session will have the Rev. Alfred Lison, Nativity parish, Green Bay, speaking on the subject, "Moral Question: Concern For The Person."

Tickets for the series are available at parishes throughout the Fox Valley area.

Monday through Thursday after 3:30 p.m. and any time during the day upon request.

Proceeds from the books go into the club treasury and it is hoped sufficient profit can be realized to award a scholarship to a FTA member on Awards day. Books not on the shelf can be ordered, and delivery can be made on the following Monday. Supervising the program are Miss Marion Liesering and Miss Judy Herrie.

Firm Names Vice President

George N. Schenck Promoted by Brillion Iron Works

BRILLION — George N. Schenck was elected vice-president and director of operations at Brillion Iron Works, Inc. at the firm's recent annual meeting, President R. D. Peters announced this week.

Schenck has been on the board of directors since 1965 and most recently had the title of presidential assistant. Prior to coming to Brillion in 1960, he was employed at the Oliver Corporation at York, Penn. He has been sales manager of the Brillion Farm Equipment Division since moving here.

He will have overall responsibility for plant operation. Peters will continue as chief executive officer of the firm.

Permanent Postmaster Appointed at Big Falls

MARION — Mrs. Genevieve Mueske has been officially commissioned postmaster at Big Falls. Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien made the appointment retroactive to Aug. 28, 1967. She has been acting postmaster since Sept. 1, 1966.

Fined $175 on Driving Charge

CHILTON — Thomas E. Stephan, 21, 3550 N. Gillette St., Appleton, paid a $175 fine for reckless driving, when he appeared before Judge D. H. Seborra in Calumet County Court Monday. He was arrested in Hilbert Aug. 17.

Two drivers paid fines of $50 each for traffic violations. Jerome R. Everix, 34, 203 E. Main St., Chilton, was charged with inattentive driving. He was arrested Sept. 18 in Chilton. James C. Laughlin, 18, Sherwood, was charged with speeding 70 miles per hour in a 50 m.p.h. zone. He was arrested Sept. 4.

Three juveniles paid court costs of $3 and their driver's licenses were suspended for traffic violations. Stanley Grzeskowiak, 17, 522 N. Francis St., Brillion, was charged with failure to stop for a stop sign. He was arrested Sept. 6 in Brillion. He received a 30 day license suspension.

Blane T. Reichelt 17, 237 E. Taft St., Appleton, charged with an improper right turn, was arrested Sept. 6 in Appleton. His license was suspended 35 days.

Marvin M. Mueller, 17, route 1, Hilbert, was charged with speeding 39 m.p.h. in a 25 m.p.h. zone in High Cliff State Park. He was arrested Sept. 18, and received a 30-day license suspension.

Classes Open For 1967 at Institute

The 1967 first-year class at The Institute of Paper Chemistry has completed a week of orientation activities and started classes Tuesday morning with the opening of the Institute's academic year.

The class consists of 13 students from the United States, one from Turkey, and one from Finland. The college graduates will enter the regular curriculum at the Institute leading to the M.S. and Ph.D. degrees, with the exception of the student from Finland who is classified as a special student.

Three of the United States students are from Wisconsin. They are Neil G. Vander Linden of Appleton, Allan M. Springer of Baraboo, and Dennis J. Czappa of Nekeosha.

The student from Turkey is Sedat I. Gurcan from Eskisehir. The special student from Finland is Rurik T. Skogman of Jacobstad.

Other states represented by the students are Washington, Ohio, New Jersey, Minnesota, South Carolina, Alabama, and Massachusetts.

Colleges and universities from which members of the new class have graduated are Miami University, Western Michigan Uni-

Hartley Health Toner Has Done It Again

In spite of being a fairly new business, we survived the four months construction on College Avenue — and are justly proud! We realize that this would have been impossible were it not for our wonderful customers, and for this, we thank you sincerely.

For those who do not know about Hartley Health Toner, we would appreciate your reading this story: Hartley Health Toner is an amazing electrical device that jars nerves and muscles with low amperage current to get them to do jobs they are no longer capable of doing themselves. Everyone knows that our bodies generate electrical impulses. This is how our body moves. It sends impulses to the brain. Our body can only generate about one-half volt. Sometimes when we are afflicted with ill, our body cannot generate even this amount; thus the reason Hartley Health Toner is so amazing; it helps these impulses work. "We have worked with paralyzed people and got them up and walking," reports Mrs. Jo Mischke, consultant, adding that "We also helped people with nerve deafness. In some cases, hearing was restored with one treatment." Hundreds of people throughout this area have been using the Hartley Health Toner in programs of daily massage to alleviate pain and discomfort of poor circulation, rheumatism, emphysema and arthritis.

Mr. Hartley, owner and manufacturer of the Health Toner, points out however that he ascribes no medical miracles to his device, but he has studied other electrical massage devices on the market and his differs from most of the others in that he uses an alternating rather than a direct current. He also uses an adjustable voltage with a low current (amperes). He believes that current promotes better circulation and that many health problems are related to poor circulation.

You are invited to contact the firm to arrange for a personal demonstration, and try it out on our Rental Plan. For complete information on this amazing new technique of alleviating pain, contact the Hartley Health Toner Center, 315 W. College Ave., Appleton, Wis. or phone 734-3761. Open daily 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Saturday 9 a.m. to 12 Noon.

By Military and Industry Leaders

Sen. Morton Says Johnson Was 'Brainwashed'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Thruston B. Morton said today President Johnson was "brainwashed" by U.S. military and defense industry leaders into believing the United States could achieve a military solution to the Vietnam war.

The former Republican national chairman said Johnson in turn "brainwashed" the American people during the 1964 presidential campaign by saying the Southeast Asian war should be fought by Asians.

The Kentucky senator, regarded as a foreign policy spokesman for GOP Senate moderates, leveled his strongest attack to date on administration Vietnam policies at the organizational meeting of Business Executives Move for Vietnam Peace.

He continued the slashing Republican attack on Johnson's policies that touched off an uproar in the Senate Tuesday.

The Business Executives Move for Vietnam Peace claims a membership that includes business leaders from 44 states. Co-chairmen are Henry E. Niles, board chairman of the Baltimore Life Insurance Co., Baltimore, Md., and Harold Wilens of Los Angeles, president of Factory Equipment Supply Corp.

Warning From Ike
Noting that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower warned before leaving office in 1961 of the growing power of a "military-industrial complex," Morton added: "I believe that President Johnson was brainwashed by this power center as early as 1961 when, as vice president, he ventured to Saigon on a fact-finding mission."

Morton's remarks echoed in part Michigan Gov. George Romney's charge that Romney was brainwashed by U.S. military and diplomatic leaders in South Vietnam regarding U.S. involvement in the war.

Romney, a leading prospect for the GOP presidential nomination, said that as a result of what he was told in Saigon he supported the involvement but has now changed his mind.

Morton said he originally backed Johnson's escalation of U.S. troop involvement in the war. But today he said, "I have grave doubts that any military action, then or now, would have decisively influenced the conflict."

Contending a political solution in South Vietnam may already be out of reach, Morton called for a unilateral reduction of the U.S. military involvement, if necessary, to halt the fighting.

End to Bombing
He called for an end to bombing of North Vietnam in hopes it would encourage peace talks and for an end to "search and destroy" missions which he said add to "the growing disaffection of the Vietnamese population toward their American 'saviors'."

Morton also called for more concentration on securing South Vietnamese coastal and population centers—a plan long advanced by retired Army Gen. James E. Gavin, a bitter critic of administration war policies.

Morton's assertion that a political victory may be out of reach in Vietnam was echoed independently by Sen. Milton R. Young, R-S.D., a member of the select committee which oversees the operation of the Central Intelligence Agency.

"There is no possibility of establishing a sound, strong and responsible central government in South Vietnam in the foreseeable future," Young said in a report to his constituents.

'False Face'
A charge by Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., that Johnson put a "false face" on the 1964 Tonkin Gulf resolution by using it as authority to escalate the war brought a retort Tuesday from Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen.

Dirksen said anybody "with a lick of sense" knew it was an open-ended commitment by Congress.

Consequently, Dirksen added, those who voted for the resolution have no right "to bellyache if the language hits them in the face."

Case said he wasn't misled by the resolution, which approved Johnson's taking "all necessary steps" to repel aggression. But, the New Jersey Republican added, he was misled about the way Johnson intended to use it to support his intensification of the war.

Dirksen, along with Sens. Russell B. Long, D-La., and Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, accused Johnson's critics of giving aid and comfort to the enemy. Dirksen said Americans in uniform in Vietnam are not going to like debate on the issue "worth a damn."

Faculty of WSU-O Requests Hearing

Want Regents to Consider Several Counts Leveled at Administration

OSHKOSH — A group of faculty members Monday night charged the Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh administration with academic freedom violations, intimidation and general non-professional treatment, and asked for a hearing before the State University Board of Regents.

Dr. Robert Delk, president of the group, the local chapter of the American Association of University Professors, claimed Dr. Roger Guiles, university president, had failed to act upon charges made by the chapter.

The chapter based its charges on a survey of faculty members which it conducted in May. It called upon the administration to "acknowledge and implement the right of the faculty to make decisions." It also called for "non-interference" by the administration in faculty extracurricular activities and changes in the method of electing and operating the Faculty Senate, which handles faculty — administration problems.

Dr. Larry Leonard, chairman of the chapter committee that conducted the survey, announced that his employment had been terminated by the university president. He claimed the termination was motivated by a news story in the Madison Capital Times in which Leonard described faculty discontent. "I hereby formally charge President Roger Guiles, Dean Arthur Darken and the WSU administration with gross violation of my academic rights, particularly free speech," he said.

The chapter said 256 of 476 faculty members responded to its survey. The survey questionnaire included 60 questions on faculty — administration relations, faculty working conditions and compensation, facilities available to faculty members and the faculty members' plans for the future.

About 25 per cent of those who responded were tenured faculty who had been at the university four years or more. The remaining 75 per cent were untenured faculty who had been here less than four years.

Not Satisfied About two-thirds of those who responded said they were not completely satisfied with the overall relationship between the administration and the faculty.

Of the total, 47.7 per cent said the faculty could not effectively contribute to development of university goals, policies and procedures through existing channels of communication, while 41.4 per cent said they could.

Of those who responded, 72.3 per cent felt the faculty should have an equal voice with the administration in decision making. A total of 53.9 per cent said they did not feel the Faculty Senate represented the entire faculty.

The chapter said the Faculty Senate and department heads should have a voice in recruitment and faculty appointments, faculty reappointment and promotions and tenure. It said the administration should not interfere with the internal operations of departments. Faculty members also should be able to participate in decisions on salary levels and choice of the president, vice presidents and deans of the university, the chapter said.

Academic Freedom On academic freedom, 58.2 per cent of the faculty felt that a faculty member could not "participate freely in community," political or leisure activities without a sense of possible administrative pressure, while 31.6 per cent said he could.

The chapter charged that the university should abstain "from all punitive measures, overt and covert, against faculty who ex-

Young People Attempting to Locate Center

KAUKAUNA — A group of approximately 200 young people are currently attempting to locate a building to serve as a "Coffee House" similar to those located in Green Bay and Appleton.

The group, headed by Daniel Egan, Pat Roberts and Peter Jolin, feel there is a need in Kaukauna for a meeting place for young adults which can be run mainly by young people with adult supervision.

Currently the city provides a Youth Center which the students appreciate and attend, but they feel a "coffee house" could be different with the emphasis on an intellectual and free atmosphere.

Personnel Group Elects Officers

New president of the Appleton Personnel Association, is Robert Brennan. Vice president is Carlyle Christensen; secretary, Luois Micheln; and treasurer, Gerald Depies. They were elected last week.

Committee chairmen, as announced by Brennan, are program, Carlyle Christensen; House, Robert Kools; membership, Ron Reynolds; salary survey, Roger Westphal; legislative, Richard Heronemus.

Association activities will include co-sponsorship of School Guidance Counselors' Day Oct. 2; sponsorship of a Labor Law Information Clinic in conjunction with The Industrial Commission of Wisconsin, and comprehensive survey of wages and salaries in the Appleton area.

the purposes and activities of the Jaycees and a talk will be given by Andre LeTendre, Wausau, state president. Membership is open to young men between the ages of 21 and 35 and the meeting will be open to all interested individuals. Refreshments will be served.

Fire Fighters Submit 1968 Contract

KAUKAUNA — Local 1594 of the International Association of Fire Fighters has submitted a 1968 contract proposal to the public protection and safety committee of the city council for consideration.

Prior to the setting of the budget, representatives of Kaukauna Professional Fire Fighters are scheduled to meet with the committee to review requests and consider counter proposals from the committee.

According to local representatives, major requests include reduction of the 63-hour work week, increased city payment of hospitalization and life insurance, increase of holiday pay from three to seven days, an added step in the longevity program at the 12th year, additional cumulative sick leave, five weeks vacation after 25 years of service and a general pay increase.

Currently the city and employee share insurance 50-50, longevity increments are given after ninth and 15th year, sick leave is accumulative to 75 days on the basis of 12 days per year in 1968, $100,000 for the next 10 years and $90,000 the remaining years until debt retirement in 1983.

Consulting Firm Favors 16-Year School Bond Plan

KIMBERLY — T. G. Evenson and Associates, Minneapolis, bonding consultants for Joint School District No. 6, have proposed a 16-year retirement plan for a proposed bond issue of $1,500,000 to be voted on in an Oct. 10 referendum.

Utilizing an estimated interest rate of four per cent, the firm estimates the principal and interest at an average of 1.6 mills annually over the next 16 years. This would permit holding the levy for future debt retirement relatively stable, helping reduce total interest payments.

The proposal calls for payment of $50,000 on the principal in 1968, $100,000 for the next 10 years and $90,000 the remaining years until debt retirement in 1983.

'Wild About Harry' Becomes Part of Truman's Library

NEW YORK (AP) — The manuscript of "I'm Just Wild About Harry," the hit which became the official song of Harry S. Truman's victorious 1948 Presidential campaign, has been presented to the Truman Memorial Library.

Margaret Truman Daniel, daughter of the former president, accepted the gift from the song's co-authors, Noble Sissle, 78, and Eubie Blake, 84.

At the ceremony Tuesday, Sissle pounded out the tune on the piano while Blake sang the lyrics. They originally wrote the song for the Negro musical "Shuffle Along."

first became associated with Truman when the Metropolitan Police Band struck up the tune on his arrival back in Washington from a whistle-stop tour. Miss Truman, now the wife of Truman when the New York Times Managing Editor Clifton Daniel, said her father was "very pleased. He can't wait to see it."

Probation Given On Theft Charge

Raymond J. Zuehlke, 18, 311 1/2 E. McKinley St., Appleton, was sentenced to four months in jail Monday, then was placed on one year probation to the State Department of Health and Social Services after he pleaded guilty of theft.

Appleton police said that Zuehlke, a high school student, city council committee chairman to review salaries of elected and appointed officials, it was learned today.

The meeting, suggested by Personnel Director Jerome Rusch, will be held in the mayor's conference room on Oct. 2 at 4:30 p.m.

Elected officials would include the mayor, clerk, treasurer, assessor, city attorney and aldermen — the latter serving on a parttime basis at $1,200 a year.

Lawrence Professor Offers $10 Per Pound of Meteorite

PITTS, Ga. (AP) — Geology Prof. William F. Read of Lawrence University at Appleton, Wis., has offered to pay $10 per pound for fragments of a meteorite which fell near here more than 46 years ago on April 2, 1961.

Read's offer — $10 per pound for fragments weighing up to five pounds and an extra $5 per pound for larger sections — has touched off a modern day "gold rush" near this Wilcox County community.

Read said there are only nine known specimens of this particular type of meteorite. He said four of the fragments were recovered from this area at the time the meteorite fell, mainly because someone was standing nearby when it hit the earth.

Read says he believe additional fragments fell in the Pitts area, but were not recovered because they buried themselves a few inches in the ground.

Ralph, a St. Bernard, draws many envious oohs, aahs from youngsters as he pulls Kristin and Robin Henke in a cart down the streets in Southview Division, Neenah. He is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henke, 1554 Collins St. Ralph is two years old, weighs about 225 lbs., measures 34 inches high at his shoulders, and consumes about 50 lbs. of dog food every two weeks. One neighboring three-year-old thought it was a camel.

A Special Large-Face Typewriter was presented to Stephen Lopez by the Appleton Lions clubs, as part of their program to aid the blind or visually handicapped. Reynold Steinert, left, chairman of the visually handicapped committee, Noon Lions Club, and Dobbie Robertson, president, were on hand for the presentation. Money for such charitable projects comes from the annual light bulb sale, which this year is scheduled from Saturday to Oct. 7.

Menasha School Board Gets Barraged by Commissioner

MENASHA — John Pawlowski, Jr., veteran school commissioner, rained a series of charges on the board of education Tuesday night, then requested an opinion on legal procedure and stated he refused to participate in future meetings until the board resumed what he called legal procedures.

His first charge came in the opening minutes of the meeting. "In all fairness and honesty, I am forced to say that the minutes of this board of education in its meetings of Aug. 7, 15, 18 were incomplete, incorrect and misleading. They should not have been approved at the Sept. 11 meeting. "The minutes of the Sept. 11 meeting are incorrect in several areas, also, in that they did not show my point of order and request for city attorney's ruling in the board's policy and procedure, and that the contents of a letter from Barry Ewald, president of the Menasha Teachers Union, Local 1166, was not made a matter of public record."

"Out of Order" Mrs. Fren Gaertner, president of the board, told Pawlowski that he was out of order, that the board "does not act upon minutes at this meeting." "When would be the appropriate time? I am bringing the matter to your attention so these corrections can be made before they are presented to the full board for action," Pawlowski said. "This meeting has always been where we take up things that happen the last half of the month," Mrs. Gaertner said. "We do not take up minutes or bills."

Pupils Off Bus Before Mishap In Waupaca

WAUPACA — A car-school bus crash at the intersection of Eighth and School Streets, about 5:15 p.m. Monday, resulted in extensive damage to both vehicles. There were no students on the bus.

Waupaca police said Mrs. Claire G. Hollnabacher, 53, route 1, Waupaca, was driving northeast on Eighth Street when her car struck the right side of the school bus, which was traveling southeast on School Street.

Mrs. Hollnabacher, who was wearing her seat belt at the time of the crash, and bus driver, Edward W. Fosgate, 54, 711 Ninth St., Waupaca, both escaped injury.

Fosgate said he had just completed his run of the day and was returning to the garage when the crash occurred.

The 1967 model car driven by Mrs. Hollnabacher was listed as demolished and there was extensive damage to the side of the bus.

Fruits of the Harvest Are in a Fine Pickle

Lillian Mackesy POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR

Pick a peck of peaches, then spice them in a vinegar syrup. Pick a peck of cucumbers and pickle them in a dozen different ways. Save the lush, green rinds from watermelon and make them into wonderful pickles that will make you the talk of the town.

Pick tiny green tomatoes from the garden, buy a supply of tiny white onions, choose okra, young beans, cauliflowerets or carrots and concoct a relish that's mixed with vinegar and spices or perhaps an herb or two or three. Mixed fresh vegetables also make an excellent relish that goes especially well with meats.

Just think of the pleasure of opening a jar of spiced peaches or a vegetable relish to be served with a holiday ham or roast!

Everybody loves good old-fashioned bread-and-butter cucumber pickles. They go with everything ... maybe that's what makes them so popular. Serve them on hamburgers for lunches, over franks, in sandwiches with ground bologna or layered over lunch meats. They add a delightful taste to stews and go equally well with meat loaves and cheese dishes.

In the spicing and pickling of fruits and vegetables don't overlook the usefulness of that piquant red pepper seasoning Tabasco, which is already prepared from fully matured peppers, vinegar and salt. It blends so well with other seasonings.

Remember that these sort of "extras" make the finest of Christmas gifts. Use the new quilted jelly glasses (who says they are for jelly alone?) to preserve in and then there will be ready at holiday a fine array of "pickled pieces" for either gift-giving or serving on the buffet table.

There's no finer way to remember a summer than in the preserving of its bounty.

SPICED PEACHES

- 2 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup white vinegar
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco
- 1 stick cinnamon
- 10 whole cloves
- 9 firm ripe peaches, peeled

Combine all ingredients except peaches to make syrup. Boil two minutes; add peeled peaches. Boil for 10 minutes. Let stand in syrup 30 minutes. Put peaches in hot clean jar. Heat up syrup again — pour over peaches and seal. Recipe makes one quart.

BREAD AND BUTTER PICKLES

- 6 cups cucumbers (4 to 5 young cucumbers)
- 1 large onion, coarsely diced
- 2 quarts water
- 1/2 cup salt
- 2 teaspoons Tabasco, divided
- 2 cups white vinegar
- 1 cup water
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon mixed pickling spices
- 1/2 teaspoon turmeric

Wash cucumbers; slice thinly to make six cups. Put onion and cucumbers into a brine made of 2 quarts of water, salt, 1 teaspoon Tabasco. Let stand for three to four hours.

Drain cucumbers; rinse two or three times with cold water; let stand in fresh water five minutes.

Combine remaining teaspoon Tabasco, vinegar, one cup water, sugars and spices in kettle; stir and bring to a boil. Drain cucumbers and onions; add to boiling syrup; bring to a boil again and simmer for 10 minutes. Fill as quickly as possible into hot clean jars. Recipe makes about two quarts.

KOSHER DILL PICKLES

- 4 pounds 4-inch cucumbers
- 14 cloves garlic
- 6 tablespoons salt
- 3 cups vinegar
- 3/4 cup dill seed
- 21 peppercorns
- 3 cups water

Wash cucumbers and slice in half lengthwise. Peel garlic cloves; split in half. Add garlic to mixture of salt, vinegar and water. Heat to boiling. Remove garlic and put four halves into each jar.

Pack cucumbers into clean, hot jars. Add 2 tablespoons dill seed and 3 peppercorns to each jar. Fill with boiling pickling syrup to half-inch from top of jar. Seal jars immediately. Process in boiling water bath 10 minutes. (Note: for plain dill pickles, just omit garlic.) Recipe makes seven pints.

ICICLE PICKLES

- 3 pounds 4-inch cucumbers
- 6 small onions
- 6 (5-inch) pieces celery

- 1 tablespoon mustard seed
- 1 quart vinegar
- 1/4 cup salt
- 2 1/2 cups granulated sugar
- 1 cup water

Wash cucumbers and cut lengthwise into thin slices; soak in ice water three to five hours. Drain and pack in clean pint jars.

Add one quartered onion, one piece celery, and half-teaspoon mustard seed to each jar.

Combine vinegar, salt, sugar and water; bring to boil. Pour solution over cucumbers, filling jars to half-inch from tops. Seal jars. Recipe makes six pints.

PICKLE POTPOURRI

- 1 head cauliflower
- 1 quart small green tomatoes
- 3 green peppers
- 24 (2-inch) cucumbers
- 1 quart pickling onions
- 2 1/2 cups green lima beans
- 1 cup coarse salt
- 4 cups water
- 1 cup sugar
- 3/4 cup flour
- 1/2 cup dry mustard
- 1 tablespoon turmeric
- 7 cups vinegar
- 1 cup coarse salt

Break cauliflower into flower-

ets; combine with tomatoes cut in wedges, pepper cut in strips, cucumbers, onions, and lima beans. Cover with 1 cup coarse salt and 4 cups water; let stand overnight. Drain; cover with boiling water; let stand 10 minutes. Drain.

Combine remaining ingredients; cook until thick. Add vegetables; cook until tender. Seal in hot, sterilized jars. Recipe makes eight pints.

CURRY PICKLES

- 3 pounds (5-inch) cucumbers
- 1 1/4 cups vinegar
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1 cup water
- 2 tablespoons mustard seed
- 2 tablespoons salt
- 1 1/2 teaspoons curry powder
- 1 1/2 teaspoons celery salt

Wash cucumbers and cut into chunks. Combine remaining ingredients and heat to boiling. Add cucumbers. Heat to boiling point, then simmer while quickly packing one hot, sterilized jar at a time. Fill to one-eighth inch from top. Be sure solution covers cucumbers. Seal each jar.

Cut, Sale Demand Affect Meat Prices

BY COLEEN CHRISTENSEN
Extension Home Economist

Many of you possibly have heard, as was often said in our household, "Well, don't beef about it!" Beef used in this way means to complain, or express a disliking about something. One thing you hear many producers and consumers complain about is the price of meat, beef especially. We all know that the largest percentage of the food dollar goes for the purchase of meat and dairy products, but what many people don't realize is what makes meat prices what they are, and what can be done about them.

First of all, I'll state the four most influential factors affecting meat prices; these are: the cut of meat, the sale of meat, the availability of meat, and the grade of meat.

Cuts of Meat

The consumer's choice of meat cuts is changing. Since there is an increasing number of working wives and a greater stress on leisure time, the consumer looks for meat products with greater shelf life, quicker preparation, and a minimum of fat and bone. With an increasing interest in outdoor-grill cooking, steak cuts are favored over roasts. Variety meats, which include liver, heart, tongue, are economical cuts to buy as the demand is less and there is little waste.

A wise shopper watches the food ads for "feature" or "special" meat items each week. The present day consumer insists on value rather than a low price. One should guard against products that vary widely in price. Through experienced shopping you will probably develop an allegiance for some particular brands. Brand names and package size affect the price of meats.

Availability

One of the reasons I'm writing on meat prices now is that many people are unaware of the fact that meat supplies are lowest in the summer months. Following the old principle of supply and demand, as the supply becomes less and the demand remains the same, the meat prices go higher. The supply of poultry remains quite stable all year; thus, turkey is an economical and wise buy during the summer season. There is an increased effort to make turkey a year-around meat as its uses are many and its production has increased greatly over last year's supply.

Grades of Meat

Bridal Showers

Miss Rosemary Kuse was fêted at a miscellaneous shower Sept. 18 at the home of her sister, Mrs. Donald Kostka, 621 N. Linwood Ave. Miss Nancy Lucterhand assisted Mrs. Kostka as co-hostess.

Mrs. Eugene Lamers, Mrs. Roger Wilbrun and Mrs. Gerald Kohl were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower Sept. 20 at the home of Mrs. Lamers, 103 Lox Court, Kimberly.

Miss Kuse, who will be married to William L. Kohl Saturday, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman J. Smaxwell, 1507 N. Ullman St. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kohl, 1803 N. Owaissa St., are the parents of the bridegroom-elect.

There is now more Choice grade beef on the market than ever before. Most consumers select Choice grade as it is surpassed only by Prime in its quality, yet it has less fat at a lower cost. Other grades of meat include Good and Standard. The protein and nutritive value of all grades of meat are the same.

So don't "beef" if you have to pay more for some meat buys within the next month. Possibly you'd like to substitute eggs or cheese for that needed protein. You are still likely to consume the average American intake of 170 pounds of meat before the year is ended.

"What Poetry Can Teach Us" is the topic of the first lecture in the 21st series sponsored by the Women of All Saints' Episcopal Church. The opening program will be given by Dr. Elisabeth Koffka, above, at 10 a.m. Thursday at the Parish Center. Dr. Koffka will draw from her own recent compositions to illustrate her talk. She is a professor of history at Lawrence University. The lecture is the first of six scheduled on consecutive Thursday mornings. A sitter service for preschool children is planned at all lectures.

Promises Exchanged

NEENAH — Miss Lynn Gallmeier and Patrick Kordus exchanged wedding promises at 12:15 p.m. Sept. 2 at St. Mary Catholic Church, Menasha. The Rev. David Kiefer officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gallmeier, 572 S. Green Bay Road, are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emeric Kordus, 243 Third St., Menasha.

Mrs. Jon Halverson, Neenah, sister of the bride, attended as matron of honor.

Michael Kordus, the bridegroom's brother, who is stationed in Michigan with the Air Force, performed the duties of best man.

A reception was held at the Labor Temple.

The bride, who attended Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point, is employed by Gilbert Paper Co., Menasha. Her husband is a student at Appleton Vocational and Adult School.

The newlyweds honeymooned in northern Wisconsin and reside in Neenah.

Screaming Mothers Can Inflict Lifetime Wounds on Children

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from "Ashamed Screaming Mother" had special meaning for me because my own mother was the champion screamer of all times.

A child never forgets when a mother says, "I wish you had died when you were a baby. You have been a terrible disappointment to me." Or — "You ruined my life. I wish I had never had you." It's unbelievable the soul-searing things that can come out when a nut begins to yell her head off.

My mother's favorite expression after one of her screaming fits was, "I love you so much I would walk into the ocean to save you." Since we lived 1,000 miles from the nearest ocean I could see no chance of her proving her love in this dramatic manner. I once said to her, "If you love me so much why don't you just treat me a little better and stop saying such awful things?"

I'm a grown woman now and my mother has been in a mental institution for many years but I can truthfully say I have little or no compassion for her. I have tried to be forgiving but it is impossible to erase those horrible childhood memories. Please get this vital message across to all screaming mothers everywhere. It could save their youngsters a lot of grief. —One Who Survived

Dear One: It is difficult to get any message across to a mother who would say to her child, "I wish you had died when you were a baby," and then, minutes later, offer to walk into the ocean to prove her love. You might just as well try to bore a hole through a brick wall with a toothpick.

Your mother's wide emotional swings indicate that she was a very sick woman. What I would like to tell all screaming mothers everywhere is this: When you feel yourself slipping out of control, get professional help. Don't wait until you slide over the edge. It may be too late.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Don't give me heck. Just tell me what to do. I am 19 now and have grown up a lot these past three years.

When I was a junior in high school there was a fad. If a fellow liked a girl he gave her a street sign. I now have in the basement of our home signs which read Yield, Slow, Dangerous Curve, Stop, Go, No Passing Allowed, and Soft Shoulder.

I would like to take these signs back but I don't know where they belong. Also, I don't want to get into trouble. Will you please tell me what to do? — Changed Signals

Dear Changed: Telephone the police and ask if they will send someone from the Traffic

Landers

Department to your home to pick up the signs, or if they would prefer that the signs be brought to the nearest station.

Be aware that you are in possession of property which you do not rightfully own. I am hopeful that the police will be lenient since you are volunteering to return the signs.

And, by the way, I hope no lives were lost because some fun-loving kid removed a sign which was placed at a critical spot for a very good reason.

Drinking may be "in" to the kids you run with — but it can put you "out" for keeps. You can cool it and stay popular. Read "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only." Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Church Women Stress Active Community Role

The purpose of Church Women United is not to supplant but to supplement other community and church work.

This was the message presented to wives of new ministers and presidents of church groups Tuesday afternoon at All Saints Episcopal Church.

The group, formerly United Church Women, has changed its name.

"It presents a better picture of what we are, what we wish to be and what we are doing," explained one member. "We work together, not in the name of one church, but of all churches."

The group, which has chapters throughout the United States, emphasizes the urgency and importance of the church woman's mission, her involvement in community, national and international affairs.

"There is so much that we can do," explained Mrs. Winton Schumacher, Church Women United president, "and we can accomplish our goals more efficiently and with greater success if we work together."

Change is Reality

"Change is a reality in today's society," she added. "And we must conform to the times. Today's woman can and should contribute to society."

The group sponsors a World Community Day, a World Day of Prayer and a May Fellowship Breakfast. Through these three special days area residents can re-examine their personal goals and those of society.

The organization also contributes to several money-raising, food and clothing drives. These contributions are then used by disaster victims in this country and overseas.

UNICEF Campaign

This year the group is undertaking a UNICEF campaign. They will help youngsters inter-

Cooking Champion

LINCOLN, Ill. (AP) — His wife works—so Kenneth Meyer helps with the cooking at their home. Meyer, agent for a gasoline company, learned his culinary arts well he is a state champion.

For two years in a row he has won the Illinois State Fair pork cookout contest (for men). This year his king's crown of pork roast took top honors. Women who watched the cooking besieged the champion with requests for his recipe—and got it.

ested in 'trick or treating' for UNICEF and will also sell Christmas cards for the organization.

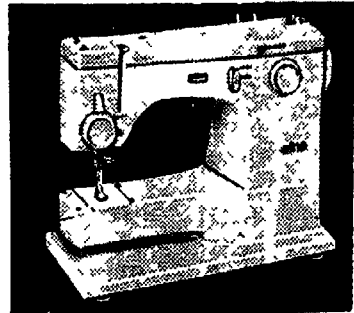

Members will also work for WICS, Women in the Jobs Corps. They will try to locate and familiarize high school girls with the benefits of the Job Corps program.

"Our purpose is to work for and support a program as a united group," not as several, small denominational groups working separately for the same cause," explained Mrs. Schumacher.

They believe in strength in numbers.

Bottles and Jars Are Losing Weight

NEW YORK (AP) — No, Mom, you're not getting any stronger, the shopping bag is getting lighter. Bottles and jars that are losing weight!!!

According to a survey conducted by the Glass Containers Manufacturers Association, the average no-deposit beer bottle was nine per cent heavier in 1960 than it is today. Five years ago, the average non-returnable soft drink bottle weighed 16 per cent more than it does now. The report noted, however, that despite the slimming process, glass bottles and jars are stronger than ever.

Festive Holiday Menus for Jewish New Year

Rosh Hashonah, the Jewish New Year, is celebrated Oct. 5 this year and is followed on Oct. 14 by Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement.

Traditional culinary customs associated with Jewish holy days originated early in the history of the Jewish people. While the origins of some food customs have been lost in antiquity, others have been traced to Biblical and early post-Biblical times.

Traditional foods served at the festive Rosh Hashonah table include honey, honey cake, and carrot tzimmes. The inclusion of honey signifies the heartfelt yearning for a sweet and happy year, while carrots symbolize the wish for prosperity.

The vegetable may be eaten in the form of tzimmes or a succulent pudding also containing "sugar and spice and everything nice."

Legend has it that the Prophet Nehemiah said, "Eat the fat and drink the sweet," as he introduced the Persian custom of eating sweets on this High Holy Day.

Two menus are offered for the holiday with the additional dishes equally at home with either entree. A roast chicken with kasha stuffing has the added glamor of a luscious tart-sweet, honey-orange glaze made with concentrated, frozen orange juice. The thawed, undiluted concentrate also combines with honey, sliced carrots and prunes to make a delicious tzimmes.

With the beef brisket, the menu includes matzah balls, marinated cucumbers, chopped chicken liver and a fruit sponge cake.

GLAZED HOLIDAY CHICKEN WITH KASHA STUFFING

- 5 pound plump roasting chicken
- 2 cups cooked, coarse buckwheat groats
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 1/2 cup finely chopped celery
- 2 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
- 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
- 1 teaspoon salt

Wash and rub inside of chicken with salt. Wipe inside with a towel before filling with stuffing. Toss together buckwheat groats, onion, celery, undiluted concentrate, seasoning and salt. Fill body and neck cavities with stuffing. Sew or pin openings to fasten. Place chicken directly in shallow pan; it is unnecessary to use rack. Roast in 375 degree oven about two hours and 45 minutes. Brush on glaze during last 15 minutes of roasting.

Traditional foods served on Rosh Hashonah, the Jewish New Year, include honey, honey cake and carrot tzimmes. Above, frozen orange juice concentrate flavors a glaze for roast chicken and adds sweetness to a tzimmes of carrots and prunes. At the right, beef brisket cooked pot - roast style with carrots and onions has the unusual touch of matzah balls, added when the brisket is nearly done.

HONEY GLAZE

- 4 tablespoons honey
- 2 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Combine honey, undiluted concentrate and salt in small saucepan; bring to boil. Brush chicken with glaze occasionally during last 15 minutes of roasting.

CARROT TZIMMES

- 3 1/2 cups scraped and sliced carrots
- Water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 cup honey
- 6 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- Water
- 8 cooked prunes

Cook sliced carrots in water to cover until crisp-tender. Add salt, honey and undiluted concentrate. Let simmer about 10 minutes.

Combine cornstarch with a small amount of water. Slowly stir cornstarch mixture into carrots. Let simmer gently, stirring constantly until mixture is thickened and clear. Add prunes, simmering only until prunes are heated through. Recipe makes six servings.

ROAST BRISKET OF BEEF

- 4 pound double brisket
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon paprika
- 1/4 teaspoon sage
- 1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
- 4 medium-sized carrots
- 1 large onion

Choose fine-quality, well-trimmed double brisket. Rub salt, garlic salt, pepper, paprika, sage and monosodium glutamate into meat. Let stand one hour. Slice carrots (or leave whole) and onion; brown in roasting pan in hot oven, about half hour. Put meat atop vegetables on rack in pan. Add water to cover rack. Reduce heat to 350 degrees. Cover tightly and cook until meat is tender, about four hours. Add matzah balls to liquid half hour before meat is done. (Cover may be removed at this time to let meat brown.) Remove meat to platter when fully cooked; garnish with matzah balls and vegetables. Serve natural gravy separately. Carve by slicing meat across grain. Recipe serves six.

MATZAH BALLS

- 4 tablespoons chicken fat
- 4 eggs slightly beaten
- 1 cup matzah meal
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 4 tablespoons chicken soup stock

Mix fat and eggs. Add matzah meal and salt. When blended add soup stock. Cover mixing bowl and refrigerate for at least half hour. Bring lightly salted water to boil in large pot. Drop balls into slightly boiling water. Cover pot and cook 30 to 40 minutes. Remove with slotted spoon. Simmer half of matzah balls with chicken soup stock for several minutes; add rest to brisket during last half hour of cooking. Recipe makes about 20 matzah balls.

CHOPPED CHICKEN LIVER

- 1/2 pound broiled chicken liver
- 2 hard-cooked eggs
- 1 small onion
- Chicken fat
- Salt
- Pepper

Slice onion and saute lightly.

until clear, but not browned, in small amount of fat. Put liver, one egg and onion through medium blade of food chopper. Season to taste with chicken fat, salt and pepper. Garnish with remaining hard-cooked egg.

MARINATED CUCUMBERS

- 2 medium-sized cucumbers
- 1 small onion
- 4 tablespoons vinegar
- 4 tablespoons sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Water

Peel and slice cucumbers and onion. Marinate overnight in mixture of remaining ingredients and enough water to cover.

FRUIT-SPONGE CAKE

- Sponge cake
- Fresh peaches
- Powdered sugar
- Fruit ice

Slice sponge cake. Slice

Adds Flourishes

A pound package of dry red kidney beans yields about two cups. During cooking, of course, the beans swell.

WATERMELON PICKLES

Rind from 1 medium-sized watermelon

1 cup salt

2 tablespoons powdered alum

2 tablespoons whole cloves

2 tablespoons stick cinnamon

2 tablespoons whole allspice

9 cups sugar

7 cups vinegar

Trim green skin and pink meat from rind. Cut rind into cubes or any other desired shape. Place in large bowl, sprinkle with salt, and add enough cold water to cover. Let stand overnight.

Next day wash rind and drain well. Sprinkle alum into enough boiling water to cover rind. Add rind and cook until tender. Drain and wash thoroughly.

Tie whole cloves, stick cinnamon, and whole allspice into cloth bag or place inside tea ball. Boil spices, sugar, and vinegar together until syrup is thick. Add rind and cook until clear. Remove from heat and let rind stand in syrup overnight. Next day pour off syrup, bring to boil, and pour over rind which has been arranged in sterilized jars. Seal jars. Recipe makes six pints.

BASIC RELISH RECIPE

4 cups cabbage

2 cups cucumber

1 cup green sweet pepper

1 cup red sweet pepper

2 cups onion

½ cup salt

8 cups cold water

1 cup sugar

3 tablespoons light mustard seed

2 tablespoons celery seed

5 drops pepper sauce

4 cups cider vinegar (5 per cent acid strength)

Wash and drain vegetables. Cut stems, blossom ends and inch of top. Wipe off anything spilled on jar. (One tiny seed can prevent sealing.)

Put dome lid on jar, and screw band or cap tight. Let stand 12 to 24 hours. Remove band and test seal according to manufacturer's instructions. Store jars in dark, dry, reasonably cool place.

The United States Department of Agriculture and other authorities recommend processing this type relish five minutes in boiling-water bath. This is to destroy molds and yeasts which may enter the jar before it can be closed airtight. It also forces air from the jar and thus, helps prevent relish darkening.

Fashion Underworld

In the underworld of fashion, "wardrobe" is the big word. It is true: foundation garments matched to outerwear are necessities for good dressing.

In brassieres — a soft shaper for the popular knits with nary a seam; a long line for dresses with a high beltline; a push-up for dresses built on narrow tops. In girdles — a high-rise for dresses closing in on the waistline; a mini hip-hugger to smooth mini-skirts; a pantie girdle styled for pants.

An important element of all the new foundation is their smooth look achieved by secret seaming that molds without revealing itself under the soft fabrics that are everywhere this season.

For special fashions there are special foundations: bras demicupped for scooped and square necklines; bra-lettes designed to revive "Gone With The Wind" waistlines; pantie girdles that are extra short and lace-edged and pantie girdles that are extra long, as alternate solutions to the sitting-down problem that hemlines present; garter belts combined with panties or petticoats; supple pantie corselets for fans of all-in-one garments.

mix or match. Whatever your preference, it's no trick to assemble a wardrobe of handsome foundations.

Several Ways To Treat Child's Misbehavior

Your reactions to your child's misbehavior helps determine how he acts in the future.

Misbehavior is a natural part of growing up, the specialist says. All children misbehave sometimes, but what you do about it makes the difference in the child's future behavior. There are several ways to treat these situations.

- Do nothing, and hope the child stops of his own accord.
- Tell him to stop.
- Explain why he shouldn't act this way.
- Tell him you disapprove.
- Warn the child he'll be punished if he doesn't stop.

What you do depends on the situation, age of the child, your relationship, and the amount of inner control he has. It pays to analyze what you can do. Sometimes changing the approach will pay big dividends.

Punishment should be used only after other methods fail. Positive methods of punishment should be used as much as possible. The child should understand the reasons for punishment so his behavior will improve.

The House of Hors d'Oeuvres

Frank and John Jellinek, University of Wisconsin, Madison students, strummed guitars and harmonized as part of the entertainment at the Saturday afternoon teacher get-together. Young teachers from the Fox River Valley attended the event.

'Sguirgyls' was the theme of the party for Fox River Valley teachers Saturday afternoon.

The mixer-type event, sponsored by The Calumet Club, a group of young adults in the area, was held at the home of Jack Hutchison, 1230 E. Calumet St.

'Sguirgyls' a word improvised from 'guys' and 'girls', provided area teachers with the opportunity to become acquainted.

Entertainment was provided by singers Frank and John Jellinek, twin brothers from Buffalo, N. Y., who are students at the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

Teachers, invited from Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Green Bay, Kaukauna, Little Chute, Combined Locks and Oshkosh, spent the afternoon and the early hours of the evening dancing, chatting and relaxing, postponing for a little while the papers that needed grading and the study plans that were to be made.

After all, there was always tomorrow.

Area Garden Clubs Win Civic Awards at Parley

Civic Beautification Awards were presented to three area garden clubs today at the Wisconsin Garden Club Federation's convention at Lake Lawn Lodge, Delevan.

The awards are given to clubs having worthwhile projects and undertaking community improvement. Wisconsin has been a participant in this nation-wide program for five years. Sears Roebuck and Co., co-sponsor of the award, gives each state a grant of $2,000 to be used in the cause of civic development and beautification.

Maple Bluff Garden Club, Madison, was the winner of first place honors and $250. This club developed a fragrance garden for the blind on the grounds of the Executive Mansion. Fourth place honors and $80 awards were taken by the Flowers Beautiful Garden Club, Medford, and the Grow 'Em and Show 'Em Garden Club, Berlin. The Flowers Beautiful Club had in charge of landscaping a newly remodeled nursing home in Medford. Members planted evergreens, shrubs, marigolds and petunias. Patients at the home are able to help with the care of the plants.

Town Beautification

Members of the Grow 'Em and Show 'Em Club have beautified the main street of Berlin. Since 1960 the club has maintained a beautification project consisting of constructing flower boxes and attaching them to ornamental light poles. The boxes are planted with flowers in the summer and evergreens in the winter.

Ripon's Yard and Garden Club, which has proposed landscaping plans for a new cerebral palsy rehabilitation center to be built next year, took fifth place honors and $50. Initial plantings have already been made.

Higher Car Prices Mean Buyer Caution

BY SYLVIA PORTER

If you are among the 9 million (plus or minus) Americans who plan to buy a new 1968 automobile, you surely are already aware that new car prices are up $100 to $250 over 1967 model prices. The price hikes reflect both the extensive new federally-imposed safety and anti-pollution features and rising auto labor and materials costs.

With these price increases already fact — and with additional price increases at least a possibility — how can you manage to save money when you buy a new car?

Here are a dozen ways:

1) Decide — in advance — how much and what kind of car your family actually needs. If your children are all off to college, for example, does another station wagon make the best use of your money? What options — air conditioning, stereo, power steering, whitewall tires, carpeting, etc. — do you really want? Such options can easily cost hundreds of dollars.

Reputable Dealers

2) Shop among as many reputable car dealers in your area as you reasonably can. Consult friends on names of dealers with whom they have had a satisfactory relationship. This is an area in which you — not only in buying the car but there could be a considerable price spread and in which you

3) Find out how much of a discount each dealer would give you from the manufacturer's suggested retail price which appears on a sticker on each new car.

4) Ask each dealer how much a new car would cost if you paid cash, then ask how much he would allow on a trade-in of your old car. Also check a couple of used car dealers on the prices they would pay for your old car. If you will get more from a used car dealer for your car than on a trade-in, sell the old car on your own and pay cash for the new one.

5) Make sure the price you get for your old car is the best deal on the car itself. Auto financing terms often are more favorable at your local bank than through a car dealer. Make a down payment of at least 1/4 to 1/3. As a general rule, interest rates are higher if your down payment is very small — not to mention your total financing costs.

might achieve considerable savings. 6) If possible, postpone your purchase of a new car until the flurry over the arrival of 1968 models and the after-effects of the auto strike have quieted down. Often, markdowns of 15 to 20 per cent are made in the spring and summer.

7) Be willing to compromise on, say, color if the dealer has a specific color in stock and will give you a better price if you buy the car he has on hand.

8) Compare carefully the gas mileage and probable maintenance cost of any type of car you buy. Here there is leeway for hundreds of dollars of savings a year.

9) Beware of "bait" advertising by unscrupulous dealers — for "almost new" 1967 cars at incredibly low prices. They could be taxis or rental cars which have already been driven 100,000 miles or more.

10) Find out exactly what the warranty does and does not cover. Parts? Labor costs? And how long does the warranty last?

11) If problems crop up after you have bought a car, take it back immediately to your dealer and insist that he make good on the warranty.

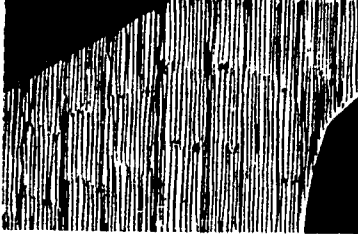

12) Shop as carefully for the best credit deal as you shop for the best deal on the car itself.

Auto financing terms often are more favorable at your local bank than through a car dealer. Make a down payment of at least 1/4 to 1/3. As a general rule, interest rates are higher if your down payment is very small — not to mention your total financing costs.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

ARE PRIESTS A STRONG POLITICAL FORCE?

YES ☐ NO ☐

No. Apparently they do not wield strong influence on their constituents. In a recent survey of the opinions and attitudes of American Catholics, only 5 per cent said that they would accept a priest's choice of political candidates as morally binding. In America, at least, there are strong sentiments favoring the separation of church and state. So, generally, the clergy do not have undue political influence.

Should you consult with others before making decisions?

Yes — No —
Yes. In situations where one person has the last word simply

Leader of Quebec Party Quits Post

MONTREAL (AP) — Pierre Bourgault has resigned as president of Quebec's most influential separatist party, the Rassemblement pour l'Indépendance Nationale. But he said he would be a candidate to succeed himself at an upcoming party congress.

Bourgault, 33, said Monday his action was aimed at consolidating the party's leadership and hinted at a split between himself and the vice president, Guy Pouthot.

Tipsy Drivers Can Check Themselves

LONDON (AP) — Do-it-yourself breath-test kits to show how much alcohol is in a driver's bloodstream are to go on sale soon in Britain, it was announced recently in advance of a police crackdown on drunk drivers.

The 42-cent breath testing tubes to be sold through a string of 600 gasoline stations are similar to those police will start using Oct. 9. The kits contain crystals that change color if a certain level of alcohol is consumed. They are imported from the United States.

Things You'd Never Know

Rose Hip Jelly Big Seller

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a business writer never would know if he kept his eyes closed. A small restaurant on Manhattan's Lower East Side does a big business selling "Oriental pizza". A nearby delicatessen offers "kosher Chinese food".

The people of Nantucket Island, the "little gray lady of the sea", do a thriving business making, bottling and selling "Rose Hip Jelly" to off-islanders. The jelly is made from the buds of roses which grow wild on the island.

For 20 cents and an aim in the right direction, the Fifth Avenue bus will take you for a ride on Sixth Avenue, which really isn't Sixth Avenue but the Avenue of the Americas.

No Forgeries

A tiny New York art shop advertises: "Original oil paintings — $3 — no forgeries here!"

New York, which estimates it removes 4 1/2 pounds of garbage a day for each of its 8 million residents, spends more than $130 million a year on garbage removal. It also estimates it collects enough refuse each year to fill the 102-story Empire State Building 15 times.

And the chairman of one of the nation's large car companies estimates that each year Americans toss out more than 48 billion cans (more than 250 a person), 25 billion bottles and jars (135 a person), and 65 million metal and plastic caps and crowns (338 a person).

Souvenir spoons commemorating famous world's fairs of the past are sought avidly by some antique collectors. But with demand for the spoons so great, some of the collectors are getting out of spoons and into the less crowded field of souvenir forks.

Better Way

There are better ways of making a living than bank robbery. The American Bankers Association says at least 53 per cent of the gunmen who held up banks in 1965 and 1966 were captured and drew sentences ranging from eight years to death, with 14 years the average.

Some 35 million copies of comic books are sold in the United States each month, with the bulk being read by those between the ages of 5 and 18. About 90 per cent of the books having 32 pages plus covers, and sell for 12 cents.

Apricots, originating in China, were carried from Asia to Greece by Alexander the Great. The avocado was cultivated by Central American Indians for hundreds of years before it was taken to California by the Spaniards. The artichoke, whose name comes from Italian words meaning "pine cone", was introduced into Louisiana by the French. The pharaohs of Egypt considered mushrooms a great delicacy and in ancient Rome they were regarded as the "food of the gods".

First Cows

When Christopher Columbus came to America there were no cows, so he brought some on his second voyage in 1493 to the islands of the West Indies. Last year, more than 120 billion pounds of milk was produced in the United States. It takes 21.1 pounds of whole milk to make one pound of butter.

In 1956, it was estimated that only 10 per cent of this nation's adults had ever bought an airline ticket. In 1966, a survey estimated the figure had risen to 42 per cent.

Dealers are cashing in on the public demand for old street signs to use as home furnishings. The signs, usually purchased from a city as it replaces them, retail for from $20 to $40.

Poison Centers Prove To be a Ray of Hope

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

The one bright and hopeful sign in the dismal picture of accidental poisonings is the establishment of poison centers. They report, often in a matter of seconds, what toxic substances are ingredients of various household products. They tell panicky parents what to do. They tell doctors the fine points of treating critically poisoned patients, or how to proceed with unusual poisons.

"The 'baby doctors,' the pediatricians, aghast at the number of poisoned children, started it. The American Academy of Pediatrics established the first poison center in 1953 in Chicago.

Detroit followed, the Department of Health opening a center in the laboratories of a city hospital. Druggists, a tower of strength in this movement, sponsored numerous others.

I recollect a call from Buffalo to Detroit for advice on a poisoned child, friends having told the people that Detroit had such a center.

Today there are 550 centers across the country, so that anyone who can get to a telephone is within reach, usually at no more than a modest toll call, of a center.

It was soon apparent that the centers couldn't operate effectively as separate entities. A National Clearing House for Poison Control Centers was established in Washington as an arm of the U.S. Public Health Service.

Dr. Leroy Burney, then surgeon general, appointed, significantly, a pharmacist, Henry L. Verhulst as director, and a physician, Dr. John J. Crotty as associate director.

By now the clearing house has a file of more than 25,000 products with poisonous ingredients. Affiliated centers are kept up to date with cards — 80 to 100 a month — on still others.

Data comes from manufacturers, from investigation by associated centers, from laboratories. Every time advertisements for a new household cleaner, patent medicine or other product flash into the TV commercials, you can be pretty sure that somewhere someone is studying and asking, "What will happen if a baby gets it?"

"Here," said one investigator, "are the things I began checking yesterday. What's the blue dye in a certain brand of chalk for billiard cues? We know the colored chalk for blackboards will be used by children, and is harmless, but what about this? Also, what about lumbermen's marking chalk? The lumber exchange doesn't know who manufacturers it, so we've got some checking to do. Finally, what's in some pellets for a mosquito fogger? It's lindane — and what else? If used in the house, is it harmful? Or on a humid day? What happens if a pellet is eaten?"

There probably is no end to products which, under some circumstances, can be harmful. The American Medical Association estimates that there are 250,000 potentially harmful items. There just isn't any known way to make all the cleansers, polishes, dentifrices, insect sprays, drain cleaners, solvents, cosmetics, and so on, totally foolproof. Nor medicines — medicines, which cause every other poisoning.

Even some products so toxic that they have been taken off the market remain, lingering perils, because cans or bottles of them stay, forgotten, in somebody's cupboard or basement. Poison centers, told that a child has tried to eat something that seems, from a faded label, to be John Doe's Patent Shoe Polish, for example, warn that he had better be gotten to a hospital as fast as possible. It happens every day.

There is no reasonable way to keep a house completely poison-free. But some way HAS to be found to teach people the principal dangers; to keep risky products locked up, or inaccessible; and, I believe, to live by this rule:

If it isn't food, treat it as if it MIGHT be poison.

There are three categories of poison centers:

- 1—Information centers.
- 2—Treatment centers, usually in hospitals.
- 3—Poison control centers, combining both services — and usually active in public education.

In an emergency, instead of trying to find the number of a poison center, it is usually quicker to ask a telephone operator. Bell Telephone System operators keep poison center numbers available on special lists which include police, fire and other emergency numbers. In many instances, the nearest center will be in another city.

Some states favor a system like that in Wisconsin, of having a network of local poison centers which, in case of need, can resort to a state control center for specialized information and advice.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Post-Crescent for a copy of the booklet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling. (Copyright, 1967)

Honors Given At Lawrence

Professors Awarded Endowment Chairs As 120th Year Begins

Three Lawrence University professors were honored Tuesday morning during matriculation day ceremonies which marked the beginning of the institution's 120th year.

Named to endowed professorial chairs were Mrs. Anne B. Lay, the Alice J. Hulst chair in life sciences; James W. Ming, the T. A. Chapman chair in music; and Dr. Walter F. Peterson, the Alice G. Chapman librarianship.

The Hulst chair was held by Dr. Margaret Shea Gilbert until her resignation at the close of the year 1965-66. It remained unassigned last year.

Create Chairs

Chapman chairs were created by the board of trustees last spring through the division of the Alice G. Chapman fund, of sufficient size to support three professorships. Dr. J. Bruce Brackenridge has held the original Alice G. Chapman professorship in physics for the past two years, and will continue with that designation.

New electees were presented with certificates by President Curtis W. Tarr.

There are 29 endowed professorial chairs now active on the Lawrence campus, 10 from Milwaukee-Downer sources.

Knowles Seeks Expanded Use of U. S. Tax Credit

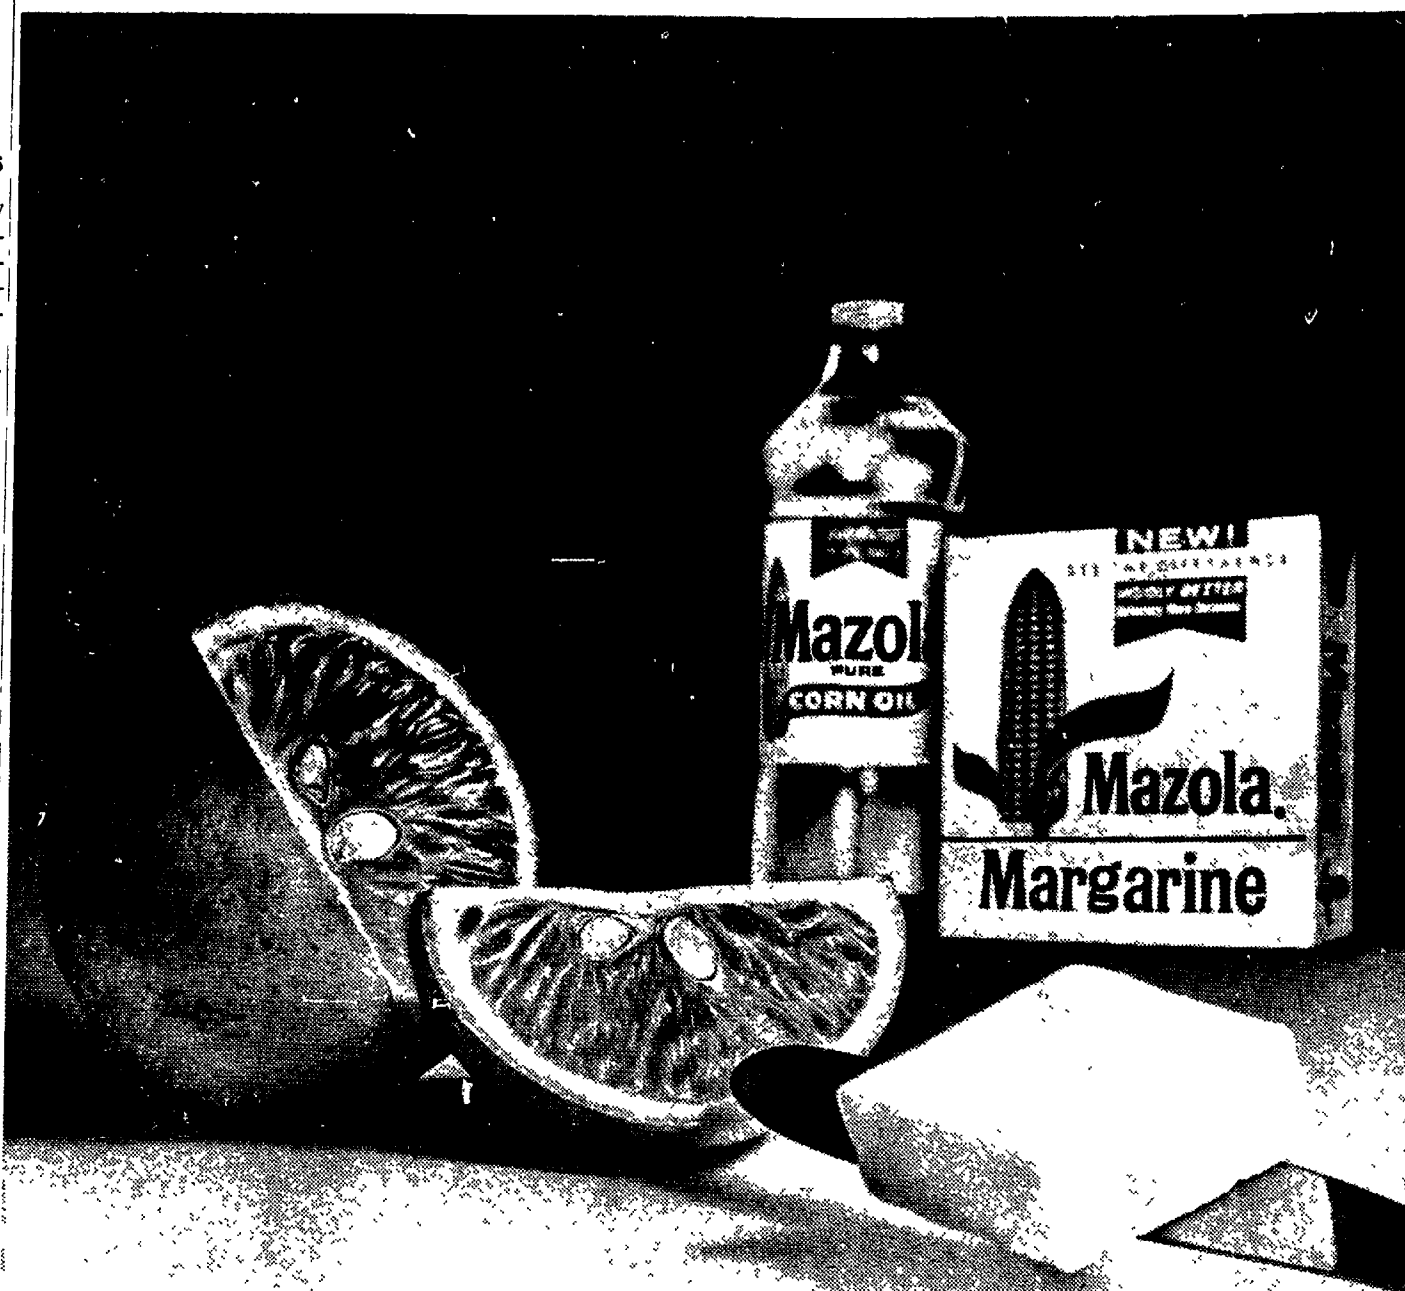

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The federal investment tax credit should be doubled to aid businesses expanding in poverty stricken areas of northern Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota, Gov. Warren P. Knowles told the U.S. Senate Public Works Committee today.

In a statement presented for the Upper Great Lakes Regional Development Commission to the committee meeting in Washington D.C. Knowles said that the commission wants the existing 7 per cent investment tax credit to be raised to a 15 per cent credit level to encourage businesses to expand or move into 119 counties in the three state area.

More than a third of Wisconsin reaching from Green Bay to the north is included in the region.

The statement was read for Knowles, the state co-chairman of the cooperative state and federal commission.

Red Guard Raid on British Embassy Like Military Attack

Started and Ended on Whistle
Signal and Was Well Organized

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — A detailed story of the attack on Britain's legation in Peking, and of a strange diplomatic byplay that followed, can now be pieced together from a variety of sources.

The assault took place Aug. 22. It was organized like a military operation, onlooking foreign diplomats have reported.

Within 40 minutes the buildings inside the well-kept British compound were ablaze, their contents wrecked, their 18 men and 5 women bloodied or beaten. All but one of the 36 countries represented diplomatically in Peking offered aid and comfort, care and solidarity to their British colleagues.

Egyptian Held Back
There were Africans, Asians and Europeans among them. They represented capitalist, Communist and neutral governments.

The ambassador who held back was Zakaria el Adly of Egypt.

The top British diplomat in Peking was a charge d'affaires, Donald Hopson.

Throughout Aug. 22 tension built up outside the iron gates enclosing Hopson's European-style residence and his 30-room, two-story chancery or office building.

Almost everyone in Peking's foreign community suspected that 10:30 p.m. would be zero hour, because that marked the expiration of a 48-hour ultimatum. China had told Britain it must lift a ban on three Communist newspapers suspended in Hong Kong because of their actions in recent strife there. Britain refused.

As the hour approached, truckloads of Red Guards assembled around the British compound. Police and militiamen were there, too. They forbade Hopson and his companions to leave the chancery, saying they were concerned for the Britons' safety.

Became Captives
Thus they became captives in their own compound.

Outside, some foreign diplomats positioned themselves to observe and sought to keep the British informed by telephone of what was going on.

As the day wore on, Chinese employees approached Hopson and demanded he bow his head and confess British guilt for Hong Kong's troubles. He refused.

When night fell, the Britons dined. Then they watched a film—Peter Sellers in "The Long Arm of the Law."

Promptly at 10:30 a Red Guard leader fired a flare into the sky. A whistle shripped and car horns blared. The rioters swarmed across the 10-foot gray wall surrounding the chancery and Hopson's residence.

The British radio operator managed to flash a final message to London: "The mob is breaking in."

Forty minutes of terror followed.

Squads of Red Guards set about tasks to the orders of group leaders. Police and militiamen looked on.

Some rioters hurled cans of gasoline over automobiles in the mission compound, then ignited them. Some set about looting Hopson's residence.

Furniture Burned

Others dragged out furniture and books and set them ablaze. Some brought up battering rams and smashed holes in the chancery walls. Then they gathered bales of straw, put them in these holes and set them alight.

Within the chancery, Hopson had led his party through two steel doors into a security zone. They were able to glimpse what was going on but were finding breathing difficult because of the smoke.

They realized there was danger of being burned alive. Hopson accordingly decided to quit the building.

Each of the five secretaries had a man assigned to protect her. One group of Red Guards took the Britons' exit as a signal to get the chancery burning. Another led an attack on the Britons.

Four girls were knocked about. All the men were mauled, kicked, or beaten with bamboo canes.

Hopson was beaten to the point of semiconsciousness. He thought he was sweating. In fact his head was bleeding copiously.

In groups, the British managed to stumble through the mob, out of the compound, to a variety of rendezvous where foreign colleagues awaited them.

Five fire engines belatedly battled uselessly against the flames at the chancery.

Around 11:16 p.m., again to whistled signals, the Red Guard groups withdrew to assembly points.

Few diplomats in the Peking community slept that night. Feeling among them ran high. Most knew the terror endured by the Britons might have been theirs—and might yet be theirs.

The knowledge cemented their solidarity.

Ambassador Lucien Paye of France was delegated to call at the Foreign Ministry and denounce the attack.

Two days later there was a sequel.

The Egyptian envoy sent a note to all missions, and to the Chinese, too, dissociating his country from the general protest. He offered no reasons.

The conduct of other foreign diplomatic missions, especially the Indian, contrasted sharply with that of the Egyptians. The neighboring Indians provided the British an escape route which, however, was not used.

Instead of going up the ladder posted at a strategic point to scale a wall dividing the British and Indian compounds, the British headed finally for the Finnish Embassy.

One Briton, Peter Whitney,

U. S. to Dedicate Saigon Embassy

SAIGON (AP) — The United States will dedicate its new, $2.6 million embassy, which is considered terrorist proof, in Saigon Friday.

Plans were begun only a few days after Viet Cong bombing of the old U.S. Embassy March 30, 1965, killed 22 persons—two of them Americans—and wounded almost 200.

He had a last terrifying experience. He got separated from his companions in the escape down a narrow street and found himself locked out of the Finnish Embassy gates for a time, but eventually was pulled in unharmed.

Witnesses to the attack had noted a turning point as Hopson was being beaten about the head. They said at that time a husky militiaman stepped forward and exchanged words with a nearby Chinese believed to be a protocol officer of the Foreign Ministry and together they ordered the Red Guards to lay off Hopson. Chinese officialdom seemed to be in sufficient control to stop the beatings before anyone could be killed.

Hopson remains in Peking, and the diplomatic mission continues to function despite loss of the chancery. Officials are working from other premises.

Counties Warned Of Cost Hike for Institution Patients

State Will Charge 40 Per Cent
Of Actual Costs, Not $5 a Day

BY DON CASTONIA

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

GREEN BAY — County boards were warned here Monday they will "be in for a shock" when they receive their state charge-backs this fall for county patients in state institutions.

Calvin Mills, superintendent of the Clark County Hospital at Owen, speaking at the Wisconsin County Boards Association convention, told the delegates the state no longer will be charging a flat $5 per week per patient but will now charge 40 per cent of actual cost which could amount to more than $50 per week. This charge-back will be retroactive to July 1, 1966.

Mills was one of four speakers at the State Department of Health discussing the local impact of changes in the state programs there are 8,900 patients in and federal aids for mental county hospitals who are eligible for aid under the various federal programs.

Gene Arnn, budget analyst for the State Department of Administration, estimated it will cost the 32 counties operating mental hospitals a total of $1.3 million as a result of program and charge changes.

The change in state charge-backs for county patients in state institutions will cost $10.7 million, he said. This, he added, would be off-set by about $9.4 million in federal and other state aids.

However, Arnn warned, unless maximum use is made of the federal aids the costs to the counties could be much more. Nov. 1 is the date set for certification of patients in county hospitals who would be eligible for federal medical assistance. If there is any substantial delay past this Nov. 1 date the actual cost which could amount to more than $50 per year, he added.

the hospital is divided, those beds designated for the aid patients are "forever lost" for use for other mental patients. Skepticism Expressed

A. J. Thelen, consultant for the County Board Association, expressed some skepticism at whether the programs would work within the cost estimates made by the state.

"Several things do not mesh," he said, "particularly the new state charge-backs being made retroactive for a year without off-setting federal aids for that period."

He said he has urged the state to guarantee the impact on the counties will not exceed the $1.3 million figure. A trailer budget bill is now pending in the State Assembly to that effect, he said.

To offset some of the impact on the 1968 county budgets, Thelen suggested the county boards estimate future federal aids as a revenue item in their budgets.

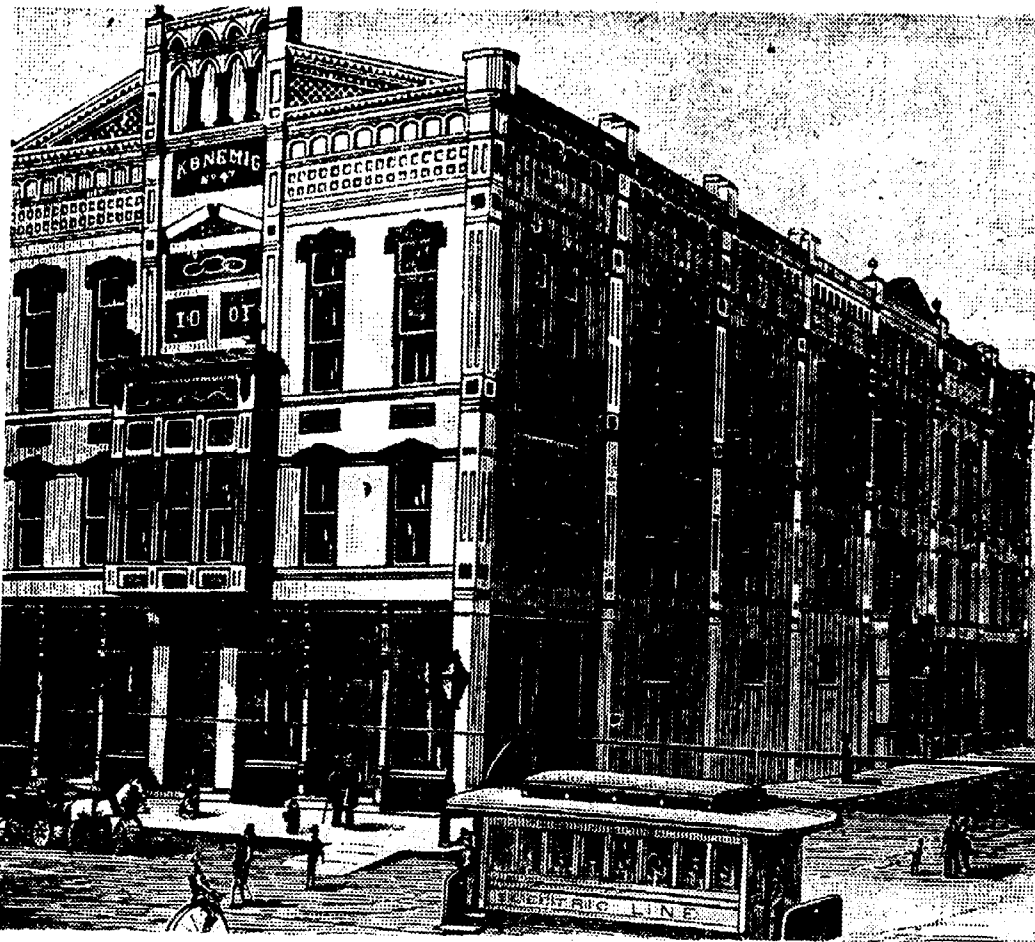

Arnn said the specific cost to individual counties will be known in about two weeks.

The Fox Valley counties are expected to be among those hardest hit by the new charge-back figures. Because of the proximity of Winnebago State Hospital, the area counties have a higher percentage of patients in the state institution.

4 Ethiopians Arrive For Visit to Kansas

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Four representatives of Ethiopia arrived in Wichita Monday on a four-day get-acquainted visit.

Sponsored by the U.S. State Department, the group is touring the country to observe agriculture, aircraft factories, schools and government operations.

Built in 1888 by the Already 36-year-old Konemic Lodge, International Order of Odd Fellows, this building standing today on the southeast corner of the Avenue at Morrison Street was the first home of several Appleton organizations. The Knights of Pythias, Elks Lodge 337, Loyal Order of Moose and Appleton Eagles, Aerie 572, all met in Odd Fellows Hall when first organized. The property originally was part of Academy Square where farther back off the Avenue the first Lawrence University building was put up in 1848-1849.

Family Jewelry Business Ends

This year marked the end of a well-known family jewelry business located for nearly half a century on College Avenue.

Morris Spector, watchmaker of the Old World school as was his father before him, came here from Chicago in 1910 to open his first jewelry store on N.

Appleton St. He purchased the already-historical bank building in 1923 on the southwest corner of College and Appleton St. After a remodeling job, he moved his jewelry store into the building.

Spector ran the business for 33 years until his death in 1943 when his son, Nathan, took over. The business was sold only a few months ago, following the death of Nathan last October.

Mrs. Morris Spector, 317 N. Lawe St., widow of the founder, remembers well how College Ave. looked in the 1920's. She was active in business with her husband; she practiced optome-

Judge Rules Workers Can Be Deported

MILWAUKEE (AP)—U.S. District Judge John W. Reynolds Monday ordered withdrawn a petition that stopped the Federal Immigration and Naturalization Service from deporting 20 Mexican farm workers.

Reynolds ordered that the 20 men being held in the Waukesha County jail be allowed to consult with attorneys.

On Saturday, Reynolds had signed a writ of habeas corpus petition four hours before the Mexicans were to be taken from jail. It claimed the men were denied their rights, including the right to an attorney.

An Immigration Service spokesman said the 20 had been advised of their rights and did not want an attorney.

The federal government claimed the men, who were arrested Tuesday, were in this country illegally.

1940's the jeweler presented Sterling silver shows as benefits for organizations in Appleton. His abiding interest in old clocks stimulated Nathan who became a serious collector in this field.

Today the clock collection, how owned by Mrs. Nathan Spector, includes a 300-year-old antique with only eight moving parts and several French carriage clocks, forerunners of the modern travel alarm.

Although this family business is gone, the name will be remembered through the Spector trophy awarded annually at Lawrence University and the plaque at Appleton High School West for outstanding student achievement.

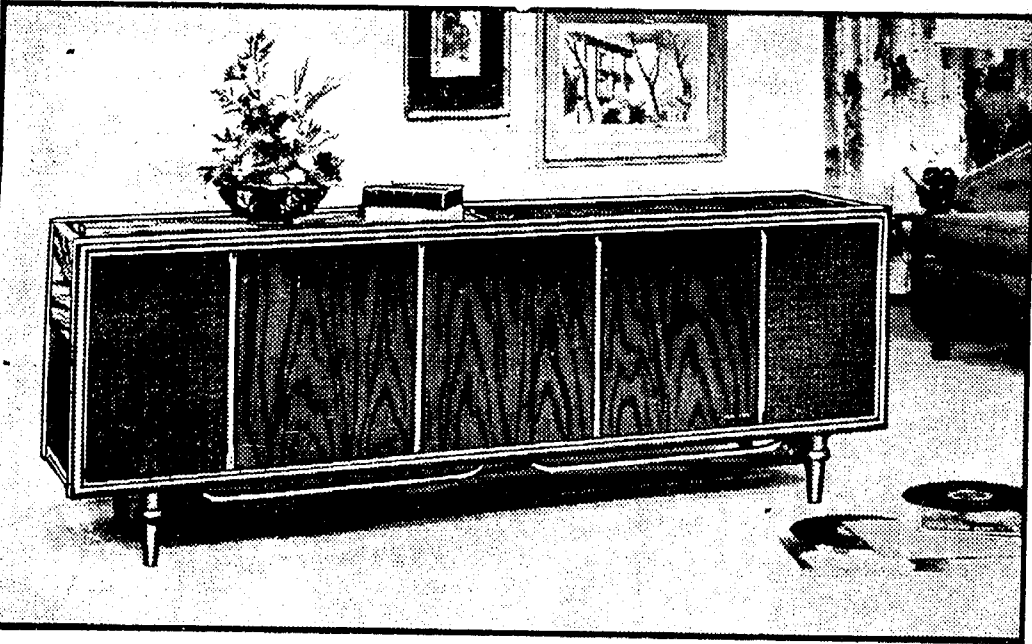

Traveling by bicycle, he had to work a specified length of time successfully in shops in Germany, Switzerland, France, and the Netherlands.

As a result of this precise training, he became noted for his collection of silver. In the early

One of the hottest rivalries in area high school football circles will be renewed this Saturday afternoon, when Cid - Eastern Conference co-leader Neenah invades Kaukauna in a crucial gridiron meeting.

The contest, one of four slated for the weekend in the M-E, will hold the league spotlight Saturday since the other six clubs are in action Friday night. Kimberly, the surprise of the circuit with a pair of wins, tries to retain at least a share of the league lead when it entertains Two Rivers; suddenly explosive Menasha travels to Shawano;

Paul Brown to Coach New Cincinnati '11'

AFL Franchise Officially Awarded For 1968 Season

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati officially has its American Football League franchise effective in 1968 and Paul Brown plans to return to coaching — at least for a year.

The details were completed

Paul Brown

Tuesday when Brown and his associates signed an agreement with the American Football League to locate a franchise here with Brown having the control "vested in me."

It was reported to be a $7.5 million deal.

It will be a re-play for both Cincinnati and Brown.

Cincinnati had a professional football team many years ago but it wound up as a dud.

Brown first achieved fame as the coach of mighty teams turned out by Massillon High School. Then he went to Ohio State and was equally successful. After a hitch with the Navy, as a coach, he turned to the pros — again with the typical Brown success.

He was ousted, however, as coach of the Cleveland Browns in 1963 and since has been sitting on the sidelines at his home in California.

Griese Returns To Practice Field

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Miami Dolphins quarterback Bob Griese returned to the practice field Tuesday as the team began preparations for Sunday's game in New York against the Jets.

The rookie from Purdue suffered a concussion early in the fourth quarter of Sunday's loss to the Kansas City Chiefs. He was released from Mercy Hospital late Monday after tests proved favorable.

Coach George Wilson said, "We expect Griese to be our quarterback against the Jets."

Baltimore's Unitas and Richardson Lead NFL In Aerial Departments

NEW YORK (AP) — Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr, the leading passer and Most Valuable Player in the National Football League last season, was ranked tenth in passing in official NFL statistics released today.

Starr has connected on 24 of 42 pass attempts in two league games this season. His aeriels have netted 434 yards, but no touchdowns. He has thrown nine interceptions, after having only three in all of last season and setting the NFL record for consecutive passes thrown without interceptions.

Starr's pass completions have gained an average of 10.33 yards.

Green Bay's Carroll Dale was ranked seventh among the league's leading receivers. He has snared eight tosses for 167 yards and an average of 20.9 yards per reception.

16,500 Permits For Horicon Zone Hunting in Mail

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Permits and tags for the 16,500 successful hunters who applied for the Horicon zone Canada goose hunt are in the mail, the Fish & Wildlife Service said today, and should be delivered by the end of the week.

An additional 27,848 permits for hunting geese in Wisconsin outside the Horicon zone also have been mailed.

The service said that 44,348 hunters applied for Wisconsin hunting permits.

Jim Grabowski was fifth among leading ground gainers. The second-year bonus fullback has carried 42 times for 147 yards, including 111 in the Packers' 13-10 win over Chicago last Sunday. Grabowski has scored one touchdown and has averaged 3.5 yards per carry.

Baltimore's aerial combination of John Unitas and Willie Richardson led the league statistics in throwing and receiving, respectively.

Unitas has hurled 43 completions in 66 attempts for four touchdowns and a percentage of 65.2.

Richardson has caught two of

Deer Party Permits to Go On Sale at 1 p.m. Thursday

Deer party permits will go on sale throughout Wisconsin starting at 1 p.m. Thursday.

In Outagamie County, which includes game management unit No. 63, the county clerk's office will have a total of 990 permits to distribute on a first come-first served basis.

Officials said it will not be necessary for those seeking permits to line up early as in the past since the number of permits available is expected to last several days.

Last year the clerk's office started distributing permits on Wednesday and they were still available through Monday. With the sale starting on a Thursday this year and more permits available, it is expected that

Twins Whip Angels, 7-3, Lead Race by One Game

Indians Top Boston, 6-3; Tigers Win

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Just about everybody has a finger in the American League pennant pie, including Mother Nature, but Harmon Killebrew shoved his whole fist into it.

Killebrew walloped a pair of tape measure home runs Tuesday helping Minnesota whip California 7-3. The victory moved the Twins one full game ahead of both Boston and Chicago. The Red Sox lost 6-3 to Cleveland and the White Sox bowed to the elements when their game at Kansas City was postponed by rain.

The rainout left the Sox in second place, one percentage point ahead of Boston but Chicago must play a doubleheader tonight. Fourth-place Detroit, still alive, stayed 1½ games off the pace by whipping New York 1-0. Washington trimmed Baltimore 4-1 in Tuesday's other AL game.

Killebrew hammered a 435-foot shot following Cesar Tovar's sixth inning single as the Twins busted loose for four runs, wiping out a 3-2 California lead.

Allison Also Homers

An inning later, Killebrew's 43rd of the season went into orbit. Bob Allison also homered for Minnesota.

Jim Kaat pitched a five-hitter and struck out 13 for his seventh victory this month. It ran his season's record to 16-13.

Boston, meanwhile, was victimized by light-hitting Chico Salmon, who drove in three runs with a homer and a double. Salmon started the Indians off by doubling home a run and then scoring another in the second inning. Four innings later, he lofted his second homer of the year with a man on base.

Chuck Hinton also homered and Luis Tiant went the dis-

Falcons' Hecker Enthusiastic About Packer Game Sunday

Former Green Bay Aide Worried About Injuries in His Secondary

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Most National Football League coaches, it would seem, would hardly be enthusiastic about playing the world champion Packers.

But Norb Hecker, a positive young man who served his coaching apprenticeship under the acknowledged master, Vinve Lombardi, is a somewhat surprising exception.

"To be honest with you, I like to prepare for Green Bay," Hecker, whose Atlanta Falcons oppose the Packers in Milwaukee County Stadium Sunday afternoon, confided via long distance telephone from Atlanta Tuesday. "You know what they're going to do — they just do it better than everybody else."

"That's how 13 teams prepare for them," Norb appended.

"They've got the horses."

And his Falcons (0-2 after 38-31 and 38-7 losses to the Baltimore Colts and San Francisco 49ers, respectively)?

"We've got a lot of injuries, lots of bumps and bruises — a few broken hands," he reported, adding with a characteristic chuckle, "nothing serious."

"In fact, three guys will be playing with casts on their hands Sunday."

His major problem at the moment, Hecker said, is fielding an able-bodied secondary. "A couple of our defensive backs are questionable. Jerry Richardson had some tendons replaced in his hand yesterday and Bob Riggie has a broken hand."

"So, I have three defense backs left — Reeves (Ken), Calland (Lee) and Lothridge (Billy). Do you think," he asked wryly, "we can play with three defensive backs?"

Woes On Offense

Hecker also is grappling with some personnel woes on offense, he reported. "Tom Moore and Ron Rector (both former Packers) are questionable. Moore has cracked ribs from our game against the Vikings in the doubleheader at Cleveland and Rector has a bad hamstring."

Protection for quarterback Randy Johnson likewise has left more than a little to be desired in the 49er match, the affable Baldwin-Wallace alumnus admitted, an inevitable disappointment after Johnson was able to rally the Falcons for 24 points in a bristling second half comeback against the Colts in their opener.

"We're going to improve that this week, though," Hecker declared. "It was usually a case where one guy breaks down rather than the whole unit."

Brillion Will Play Against Shiocton '11'

Hilbert Meets Wrightstown in Second-Place Duel

Friday's Game:
Shiocton at Brillion.

Saturday's Games:
Winnecoonne at Reedsville.
Hilbert at Wrightstown.
Omro at Freedom.
Denmark at Hortonville.

Unbeaten Brillion High School takes on one-time winner Shiocton in the Little Nine Conference this weekend, while the major share of the attention shifts to the battle for second place.

The Shiocton-Brillion contest is slated for Friday night at Brillion, and all other league contests are set for Saturday.

One of the feature clashes Saturday will have Hilbert and Wrightstown, each with a 3-1 record, meeting at Wrightstown. Denmark, which also has a 3-1 record to share the runnerup spot, will be at Hortonville.

Other Saturday games have Winnecoonne at Reedsville and Omro will be at up-and-coming Freedom.

Little Trouble
Brillion should have little trouble using its diversified attack against Shiocton. The Lions downed Winnecoonne, 20-6, last week as Dennis Miller starred by reeling off touchdown runs of 21 and 24 yards. With Russ Hansen at quarterback, the Brillion also is a strong threat in the air and the Shiocton defense could be in for a busy evening. Hilbert was knocked from the unbeaten ranks Saturday by Freedom, 7-6. The Irish came back to tie the game at 6-6 with a touchdown in the third period, and Pete Van Wychen booted the game-winning point. Hilbert rallied with a scoring threat in the closing minutes but a 26-yard field goal went wide.

Wrightstown rolled to a 34-6 win over Shiocton last week and the Tigers are hoping for a similar point-production against the Wolves. Marty Nackers had two of the TDs last week.

Denmark, with conference scoring leader Ken Storz setting the pace, hopes to stay in contention against the Polar Bears. Storz scored once last weekend to hike his season total to 36 points on six touchdowns.

Dan Vande Wetering, of Freedom, and quarterback Dick Tennie, of Hortonville, are tied for second with 30 points. Brillion's Hansen is not far behind with 25 markers on three touchdowns and seven extra points.

Schouten Wins In Touch Loop

KAUKAUNA — Schouten Oil remained undefeated in Touch Football League play, rolling to a 28-13 win over Triangle Tap. The losers scored on a 15-yard TD run by Tim Tousey and on a Tousey-to-Dan Hietpas pass. The winners scored in the first frame when Joe DeBruin threw to Roger Noonan who lateraled to Jim Brown for a 50-yard scoring play. Schouten's also scored on a 30-yard pass from Gary Weigman to Noonan, on a pass from DeBruin to Brown and on a 50-yard runback of an interception by Pete Voet.

Modern Bar edged Avenue Bar, 6-2, Ed Schaefer running 60 yards with an intercepted pass for the lone touchdown. The losers tagged Len DeBroux for a safety.

rivalry with East's Patriots. AHS-W, Tuesday, edged AHS-E in a close volleyball duel. The scores were 16-14, 13-15 and 15-11 in games played at West. The Terrors, now 2-1 for the season, have also beaten Kimberly, while losing to Kaukauna.

Umpire Changes Mind, Touches Off Rhubarb Double Protest of Tilt

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Basketballs and baseball managers take some funny bounces. . . and now Rod Reed has seen a little of both.

Reed, a former pro cager making his pitch for a baseball job with the Atlanta Braves, inadvertently touched off one of the season's zaniest rhubarbs Tuesday night at Cincinnati.

The Braves edged the Reds 4-3 for Reed's second victory in the majors. But both managers played the game under protest and neither one was around for the finish. . . because an umpire dared to change his mind.

Rookie Umpire Frank Dezelan signalled a foul tip on a pitch to Reed in the Braves' eighth, then reversed himself and called it a ball. After a hassle at home plate, Reds' skipper Dave Bristol and Atlanta pilot Billy Hitchcock were ejected, along with Cincinnati second baseman Tommy Helms.

Under Protest
Both managers then announced they were completing the game under protest. . . a happening perhaps unprecedented in baseball history.

In other National League action, San Francisco drubbed the New York Mets 8-3. Los Angeles trimmed Pittsburgh 3-1. Houston shaded Philadelphia 3-2 and the Chicago Cubs edged St. Louis 8-7.

The fireworks at Cincinnati started after Hank Aaron's three-run homer shot the Braves into a 3-1 lead in the sixth inning. Reed, who had blanked the Reds except for a fifth inning homer by pitcher Milt Pappas, took a pitch from reliever Don Nottebart.

Dezelan gave the foul tip sign, then changed his call . . . bringing Hitchcock and Bristol to the plate on the run.

"I did not question the call,"

Hitchcock said. "I just asked what it was and I walked away. Then Bristol came back to the plate and I went back and asked what he wanted to know."

"I wasn't questioning whether it was a ball or a foul tip," said Bristol. I wanted to know why Dezelan gave the foul tip sign, then decided it was a ball."

"I did give it, but I changed my mind," said Dezelan, explaining he first thought the pitch ticked Reed's bat, but decided the ball had hit the glove of catcher John Bench instead.

"A manager cannot protest balls and strikes," the umpire added.

Bristol was the first to get the thumb. Hitchcock claimed he then was told by Dezelan. "If he (Bristol) goes, you've got to go too."

Closed the Gap
Dave Nicholson delivered the Braves' fourth run with a sacrifice fly in the ninth before pinch hitter John Edwards' two-run homer off reliever Cecil Upshaw closed the gap.

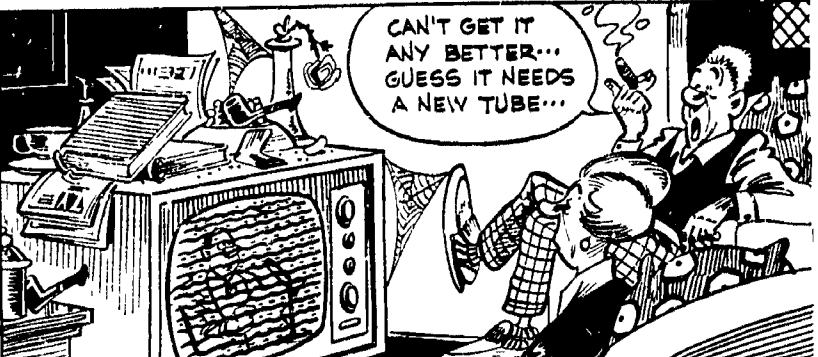

The victory was the first of the season for Reed, who played for the Detroit Pistons in the National Basketball Association before giving up the court game. He pitched for the Braves' Richmond farm club until his recall early this month.

Willie Mays slammed a pair of homers, driving in three runs. Willie McCovey unloaded a 450-foot, three-run blast and Jim Hart hit a solo homer as the Giants pounded the Mets.

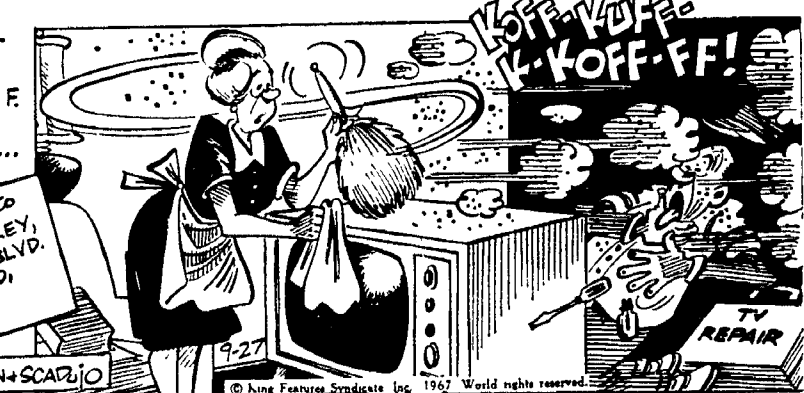

The Dodgers' Don Drysdale registered his 190th career victory with relief help from Ron Perranoski, matching the club record set by Dazzy Vance. Al Ferrara's two-run homer in the first inning was the big blow for Los Angeles.

Chuck Harrison's leadoff homer in the ninth lifted the Astros past the Phillies for their third straight victory.

The Cubs caught St. Louis in the ninth. Ron Santo homered to tie the score, Al Spangler doubled and Randy Hundley knocked in the winner with a two-out single. Lou Brock, who socked two homers for the NL champions, sent them ahead 7-6 with a two-run shot in the top of the ninth.

Martin Welcomes Display of Twins' Old-Fashioned Spirit

By LEW FERGUSON
MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL

(AP) — Billy Martin, that old New York Yankee firebrand, thinks the Minnesota Twins may finally have gotten their dander up now that the American League pennant race has reached the do-or-die stage.

"Our spirit was at its highest point today," Martin said Tuesday after the Twins had cracked California 7-3 to mount a one-game lead in the madcap pennant scramble that ends next Sunday.

"Our players did something a little different on the bench today," Martin continued. "They were all yelling like crazy, and getting on the other guys."

"It was a lot different than Monday (when the Twins lost 9-2 to the Angels). We didn't do anything, and they beat the heck out of us. Maybe that actually helped us."

"That kind of spirit moves me, and I think it affects the players. Our bench did a great job pepping our guys up."

The Twins are not a rah-rah team. The dressing room is usually fairly sedate regardless of victory or defeat.

Mum in Defeat
Monday was different. The silence was deafening as players sat stoically in front of their lockers.

Tuesday was different, too. There was a light-hearted air. Dean Chance, Dave Boswell and a couple others threatened to throw a Twin Cities writer into the shower in some horseplay.

"I hope this broke the ice," Martin concluded. "Maybe it will fire us up to win our last three games."

Bob Allison agreed with Martin. "Everything good that happens picks you up," said Allison, who tripped and hit his 24th home run to get the Twins their first two runs against Jim McGlothlin. "When anyone gets a hit or two it sort of perks everybody else up."

Harmon Killebrew hit his 42nd and 43rd home runs, with his first blow a two-run shot in the sixth inning which wiped out a 3-2 Angels lead.

Earl Clark Jolts 269 Line

Earl Clark socked a 269 game in the Appleton Coated League at Hahn's Lanes and Denny Laux had a 623 series in the Tri-City Men's League at Sabre Lanes to highlight Tuesday night bowling action on Fox Cities lanes.

Clark's high game took a share of the league honors as Frank Sanders Sr. was high in series with a 564. Clark finished with a 562.

Laux had a 235 game with his 623 series, but top game in the league went to Lee Peterson with a 253. Peterson was runner-up in series with a 620.

Dave Erdmann rolled a 225 game and Wayne Steinberg slugged a 62 series for top counts in the Metropolitan Men's League at Sabre Lanes last night. Erdmann had a 584 threesome.

Gregorius Leads Way
In the Major Scratch League at Hahn's Lanes Tuesday night, Joe Gregorius fired a 243 game and 618 series to lead the way. Roger Koehn was next in line with a 225 line and 611 series while others topping the 600 mark included Al Gast 604 and Wally Moore 601.

The Reetz Supper Club team pounded a 1,036 total for one game.

Bill Weber set the pace in the Tri-City League at the Little Chute Recreation Lanes Tuesday night as he smacked a 245 game and 602 series.

Howie Lemke had the lone honor score in the Allis-Chalmers League at Sabre Lanes as he recorded a 225 game.

Hecker Looks Forward to Sunday's Tilt

Atlantans, it subsequently developed. Pressed for a favorable report, Norb laughed and facetiously rejoined, "We still got Nobis (middle linebacker Tommy), a standout since his opening game with the Falcons as a rookie in 1966."

"Junior Coffey (acquired from the Pack in the expansion draft) also is going well — he's our best runner. You know what kind of effort you get from him."

Later, he let it be known the burdens of head coaching haven't diminished his competitive fire. Zeroing in on Sunday's exchange with the Pack, he grimly informed, "We'll be there."

'49ers Take Over NFL Lead in Total Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — A net has helped the San Francisco 49ers take first place in total offense in the National Football League, the weekly statistics disclosed Tuesday.

Rainout Throws Sox' Pitching 'Out of Kilter'

Stanky to Start Peters, Horlen in Twin Bill Tonight

KANSAS CITY (AP) — "I tested doubleheaders," said Eddie Stanky, Chicago manager, after rain washed out Tuesday night's game with Kansas City. "This puts my pitching out of kilter."

Left-hander Gary Peters, 16-6, scheduled to pitch Tuesday night will start the first game of tonight's doubleheader with the A's.

"This means Peters will have to pitch Saturday with two days rest instead of three," Stanky complained.

Joe Horlen, 19-6, will go in the second game tonight. The White Sox have an open date Thursday before closing at home against Washington in a three-game set. Tommy John will pitch Friday, then Peters and Horlen again.

The White Sox were tied with Minnesota in the all-important loss column, each with 68. This means Stanky's club can be assured of at least a tie for first by winning its last five games, even if Minnesota sweeps its last three—two at Boston.

Stanky hoped to use Peters in relief in the closing series, but the rain Tuesday night will make this more difficult.

Minnesota supposedly has the tougher schedule, but Stanky doesn't see it that way. He said he'd rather play a contender. Kansas City has an 8-8 record against the White Sox this season.

The A's, however, have been in low spirits and have lost 26 of 34 games since Al Dark was fired. Some players have been openly critical of Luke Appling, who replaced Dark.

"I think we'll get at least a tie," said Peters. "The Twins have a hard schedule, too."

John, a tall, thin left-hander returned Monday from brief Army reserve duty, is somewhat concerned by his loss of weight.

"I've been pitching one good inning, then one bad one recently," John said. His pitching doesn't show it, though. He has six shutouts.

The White Sox have won 38 one-run games and the pitching has been superb the past two weeks. Veterans Ken Boyer and Rocky Colavito have given the White Sox a lift the past two months. Between them, they have batted in the winning run in 10 victories.

The A's tonight will start Chuck Dobson, 9-9, and Catfish Hunter, 12-16.

lance for Cleveland despite Carl Yastrzemski's 43rd homer, which accounted for all three Red Sox runs.

The Red Sox trail both Minnesota and Chicago by one game in the loss column. They played the Twins the last two games of the season but can not make up the ground against the White Sox unless either Kansas City or Washington beats Chicago at least once.

Detroit stayed alive on Mickey Lolich's four-hitter, against the Yankees. Ed Mathews' sixth inning sacrifice fly drove in the game's only run against loser Mel Stottlemyre, 14-15, who allowed only three hits.

Lennie Green sliced a double to left, the first hit off Stottlemyre, opening the sixth. He raced to third on Dick McAuliffe's single to center and McAuliffe reached second on the throw to the plate. After Al Kavaline was intentionally walked, Mathews' fly ball drove in the run.

Three Washington pitchers—Buster Narum, Joe Coleman and Darold Knowles—limited Baltimore to four hits as the Senators trimmed the Orioles.

LITTLE CHUTE — Sweeping four of the top five places, the Little Chute St. John cross country team scored its first victory in the school's history by downing Oshkosh Lourdes, 20-39, Tuesday over Oshkosh's 2.2-mile course.

The win gives the Dutchmen a 1-1 record for the season. This is the first year the school has had the sport.

Bob Vander Zanden of St. John took first place in a time of 11:30 to defeat Ken Bouschei, of Lourdes, the runnerup. Following in the next three places were Ken DeBruin, Tom Hietpas and Jim Farrell, all of St. John.

In the javy meet, St. John scored an easy 15-52 victory with Dick Brittacker taking first place in 13:11.

Roberts to Deal With Dolphins For Contract

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Jets traded their negotiation rights to Archie Roberts, Columbia's All-Ivy quarterback of 1964, to Miami of the American Football League Tuesday for a future draft choice.

Roberts, who once spurned a $100,000 offer from the Jets, signed with the Cleveland Browns early in 1965 when the National Football League team said he could study medicine for two years and not report to them until 1967. Roberts had been drafted by both the Browns and the Jets.

Roberts was sent to Akron of the Continental Football League by the Browns earlier this season and when the minor league eleven folded last week, he was dealt to Montreal in a dispersal of talent by Commissioner Sol Rosen.

Miami is hard pressed for quarterbacks, John Stofa, the regular signal caller, may be out for the season with injuries and Bob Griese, his rookie understudy, was shaken up badly last Sunday.

Rated Teams to Clash

Irish and Purdue Have Each Other Guessing

CHICAGO (AP)—Notre Dame has Purdue guessing. Purdue has Notre Dame guessing. The team which guesses wrong might have to bow out of the running for the mythical national championship when the two powers collide Saturday.

Notre Dame, the nation's No. 1 team, is wondering how 10th-ranked Purdue will employ LeRoy Keyes, one of the best two-way players in the country.

Purdue's problem is relatively new and involves Irish quarterback Terry Hanratty. Hanratty's exploits as a passer are becoming legend but suddenly he has turned into a runner and Purdue Coach Jack Mollenkopf is wondering how often Hanratty plans to run.

Mollenkopf and Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian expressed great concern over their predicaments in telephone interviews Tuesday with Chicago football writers.

"We're guessing," said Parseghian when asked how he thought the Boilermakers would use Keyes, who last year grabbed an in-air fumble against the Irish and went 95 yards for a touchdown.

"He could play on offense," continued Parseghian, "and again they might put him on defense to possibly cover Jim Seymour. I don't know. I do know he's good enough to go either way or even both ways."

Mollenkopf said the Boilermakers must contain Hanratty if they hope to win and Parseghian compounded Purdue's problem by saying if the opportunity is there, Hanratty will run.

Lions Seek Balanced Attack

By WHITEY SAWYER
DETROIT (AP) — According to Milt Plum, it's balance that does it.

"We don't want to be known as a running team and we don't want to be a passing team. We want balance," said the Detroit Lion quarterback.

But despite Plum's preference, the Lions are the best rushing team in the National Football League. The Lions have rolled up 430 yards in two games.

After a 17-17 tie against the world champion Green Bay Packers, Detroit whipped the Cleveland Browns 31-14. After a slow start against Cleveland, Plum directed a masterful game, hitting on 16 of 27 passes for 223 yards and a touchdown. He didn't have a single interception.

Meanwhile, the Lions rolled to 238 yards on the ground, 115 of them by Tommy Watkins.

Mel Farr, the rookie sensation, stands second in the NFL with 170 yards in two games.

Plum gives much of the credit to the offensive line. "With good blocking," he said, "you can make everything work."

"I think we're pretty well balanced. We want to control the ball with balance."

Winning Spirit

"Everybody's hustling. Everybody's got it instilled in their minds that we can win a lot of ball games," he said.

"But," Plum said, "you've got to have a ground game. That's what makes the passing work."

He said he hopes to be able to continue ball control against St. Louis this weekend. "They are a different team entirely," he said. "They blitz a lot more and the linemen jump in and out. That means our linemen have to read more and quicker."

The Lions were a poor team the past two years and Plum took a lot of abuse from fans. He hurt a knee last year and missed most of the season, but came back this year and beat his replacement, Karl Sweetan, out of the starting job.

Always considered a great technician, Plum directed the powerful Lions like a bulldozer Sunday. He gives most of the credit for improvement to Coach Joe Schmidt, a former Lion linebacker hired last winter.

Still Improving

"Last year we had four victories," Plum explained. "Everybody knew we were better than that. Everybody had respect for Joe this year. We had a good training camp."

"We got ready for the regular season and worked at things gradually. We didn't get upset when we lost to Denver. We just kept working and we're still improving," he said.

The Lions looked bad in their opening exhibition game when they became the first NFL team to lose to an American Football League team at Denver.

"It's a long way from Denver to here," Milt grinned.

Jets Lead AFL In Total Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Jets lead the American Football League in total offense and the Oakland Raiders are first in total defense, according to statistics released by the league today.

The Jets have gained an average of 382.5 yards per game, 267 in the air and 115.5 on the ground. The Raiders have given up an average of 125.5 yards, 56.5 on the ground and 69.0 in the air.

'Back of Week' Award Goes To McVea of Houston

By ED SCHUYER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Duffy Daugherty thought he was the quickest runner he'd seen in a long time. The trouble was Duffy's players had trouble seeing him at all.

He's Warren "Mack the Knife" McVea of Houston, this week's Associated Press Back of the Week.

The 5-foot-10, 180-pound senior from San Antonio, Tex., was named today as a result of his performance—155 yards and one touchdown on 14 carries—in Houston's 37-7 upset of Michigan State last Saturday.

"You had to be close to him to appreciate some of his faking," Daugherty said.

Some Michigan State defenders may have been close to McVea, but it is doubtful they appreciated him very much as he raced 50 yards for a second period touchdown to put Houston ahead to stay, 10-7.

McVea, who runs the 100 in 9.5, also reeled off jaunts of 48, 33 and 17 yards.

McVea barely edged Florida State quarterback Kim Hammond for Back of the Week.

The 6-1 senior from Melbourne, Fla., completed 23 of 40 passes for 280 yards and three touchdowns in Florida State's stunning 37-37 tie with Alabama. He also ran 11 times for 45 yards.

Coatta Working on Badger Rushing Attack

Can't Rely on Passing Alone

By JAMES R. POLK
MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin will put its 1967 football future on the line Saturday against Arizona State.

Inexperience in the offensive line imperiled Wisconsin's passing protection and frustrated its running game in the 17-0 initial loss to Washington as Coach John Coatta conceded, "We were physically overpowered."

Coatta is concentrating this week on resuscitation of the rushing attack even though the Badgers are expected to throw the ball long and often in the home opener against the Sun Devils.

"We'll have to be able to run the ball. We can't rely on our passing game alone," said Coatta.

Wisconsin's tandem quarterbacks, John Ryan and John Boyajian, completed 17 of 25 passes against Washington, but were dropped ten times for losses. The Badgers wound up in the red on their rushing game with minus 26 yards.

Coatta called the 17-for-25 statistic "a little bit misleading" because of the losses, but added, "we threw the ball on the mark. Actually we dropped four other passes, one down on the six-yard line and one on the 15. But it'll come."

The coach declined to choose immediately between Ryan and Boyajian to start against Arizona State. Boyajian was at the reins in the opener while Ryan, originally the No. 1 choice until hurt in practice, entered late in the game to hit seven of nine passes.

The coach tagged flanker Tom McCauley, the junior standout who pulled in eight passes for 123 yards, as offensive captain against the Sun Devils. John Smith, a transfer student from Eastern Arizona Junior College, was the workhorse in the backfield in the opener and was expected to start again.

The interior line remained uncertain, however, with two sophomores, two transfer students, and one holdover starter switched to a new position forming the five-man front wall.

The line will face 268-pound middle guard Curley Culp, the NCAA heavyweight wrestling champion and a candidate for national football honors this season. Coatta called Culp quick, agile and strong.

The coach noted the Sun Devils, now 1-1 for the season, had expected defense to be their strength this year. He added, "They always have been able to score."

Young Hobby Club

Color the Flower and Try For a Stamp Hobby Outfit

BY CAPPY DICK

The prizes in today's flower-coloring contest are for boys and girls who would like to get a start as postage stamp collectors. Each of the five national prizes will consist of a big stamp album, a packet of 1,000 around-the-world, all-different postage stamps, a magnifier to use in examining the stamps, a packet of stamp hinges, a watermark detector and a book of instructions on how to collect stamps.

In addition to these five national awards, there will be local qualifying prizes, also of interest to boys and girls who want to be stamp hobbyists. These are the new Cappy Dick show-and-tell packets, each containing five beautiful, colorful butterfly postage stamps from Fujera, one of the tiny Trucial states of Arabia's Persian gulf. These are square stamps and each bears a picture of a flower and a big butterfly with wings of gold. All five stamps are different.

Pre-Season Tensions Lessened

Grabowski, Anderson Have Learned to Relax In Packer Backfield

GREEN BAY (AP) — Bonus backs Jim Grabowski and Don Anderson, now in their second year with the Green Bay Packers, said Tuesday they were over-anxious before, but are beginning to play relaxed.

"I wanted to do as well as possible, like any kind of new job," said Anderson, in reference to his first season and this year's preseason. "I was trying too hard. The only way to play good football is to play relaxed."

Grabowski, the starting full-back since the off-season departure of Jimmy Taylor for New Orleans, said "Sometimes I get too anxious. I know what to do and then mess things up because I'm in too much of a hurry."

Anderson, who starred at Texas Tech, is alternating with veteran Elijah Pitts in filling the starting halfback spot left empty by the exit of Paul Hornung.

He also handles the Green Bay punting and, besides kicking for a good distance average, managed a 40-yard run from punt formation that led to the Packers' only touchdown last Sunday against the Chicago Bears.

111 Yards Rushing Grabowski, who played his college ball at Illinois, where he shattered Red Grange's records, ran for 111 yards last Sunday, in the Packers' 13-10 win.

It was the first time in two seasons a Packer runner had broken the century mark and Grabowski's 32 carries shattered a Green Bay record for most trips in a game.

Grabowski, after two regular season games as a starter, was ranked fifth in the National Football League in rushing.

Now, the tension of replacing the storied duo of Taylor and Hornung is not what it was at the season's beginning.

The "million dollar rookies," as they were called last season, have begun to settle down. "If I've shown some improvement, it's because I'm getting to play more," said Grabowski. "But I've still got a lot to learn."

Anderson said: "I want to learn the variations on every play. I'm disgusted when I make a mistake that hurts the team. Once I get more experience, I'll feel more confident. These are things that come from experience."

Benvenuti was a 13-5 underdog last April 17 when he dethroned the muscular New Yorker on a decisive 15-round decision at Madison Square Garden.

Could Change Odds In New York, illegal bookies still made it even money—10-11 and take your pick—but the first sizeable bet could change the odds. Most bets usually are made after the weigh-in the day of the fight.

The last four times Griffith met an opponent twice, he won all four times. He was beaten in previous fights with Benny Paré, Luis Rodriguez and Manny Gonzalez, and whipped them in returns for the welterweight title.

Just before he lost to Benvenuti, Griffith outpointed Joey Archer in two middleweight title defenses.

"I fought a stupid fight against Benvenuti," said Griffith before breaking camp at Kaimesha Lake, N.Y., today. "I don't intend to make the same mistakes again. I didn't punch enough and I didn't go to his body enough. I'm going to press him and keep the pressure on him."

"I know what he can do," said Benvenuti, "and I know what I can do. I can do it better."

Benvenuti also was scheduled to leave his camp at Haines Falls, N.Y. today.

Neenah and Kimberly Seek Third Wins

berly offense crossed the opponents' goal line.

The Purple Raiders, meantime, held Kaukauna outside of its 15-yard line but could advance no further than the Ghosts' 13-yard stripe themselves. Each team had opportunities to score but fell short as the battle ended 0-0. Two Rivers, like New London, has yet to tally a point in conference play.

After having established a new school scoring record with a 56-0 rout of New London, revamped Menasha travels to Shawano in a struggle for possession or a share of second place. The Indians had whipped New London, 20-0, before losing to Kimberly last week.

New London has yet to score a touchdown for the season and will have to pull out all the stops to get past Clintonville. The Bulldogs trailed, 43-0, at the half against Menasha and could do little right, while Clintonville ran into just too much power in Neenah.

Going into the third week of league play, halfback Brian Cannon, of Neenah, holds the scoring lead with 24 points on four touchdowns. Another halfback, sophomore Tom Scovronski of Menasha, has three TDs.

The Bluejays' quarterback Steve Seidl has a pair of TDs and two extra points for 14 points and third place, and the Rockets' Dan Jankowski has one touchdown, three PATs, and a field goal for 12. Three others — Chuck Gilbert of Menasha, Dan Rider of Neenah, and Bill Gipp of Shawano — all have 12 points on two touchdowns.

Fights Last Night LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Jose Valdivinos, 125, Guadalajara, Mexico, knocked out Joey Hernandez, 125, Los Angeles, 5; Roberto Vivarez, 117, Guadalajara, knocked out Syke Sanchez, 116, San Diego, Calif., 2.

1,000-Foot Slide

Carries Tower Worker to Safety

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Richard Dintaman, 25, Alexandria, Va., a tower maintenance man, slid about 1,000 feet to safety Monday night along a greased guide cable connected to the television tower he had been working on.

"I was lucky," was Dintaman's comment after he escaped the frightening experience with only minor leg burns, a cut hand and a bump on his head.

Dintaman said he was greasing the top section of the cable when the lines of his boatwain's chair became tangled with the cable and started to fray.

"I panicked," he said. "All I could think about was that my line would break and I'd drop."

He said he climbed out of the chair, hooked a safety line around the greased cable and started his slide. He said it was the closest brush he had had with death.

the job again today because "the longer you stay away from it, the more scared you get."

'Virginian' Has Versatile Rose Marie

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-8 — Channels 4-5 — Rose Marie has to be one of the most versatile performers in television who can roam with ease from a den mother to the Monkees to a saloon mistress on The Virginian. Along with lovely Joan Collins, her partner, she sells out and travels to new territory after inheriting a ranch. Naturally, they hope they have left their past and particularly their loose reputations behind them, a difficult task at best for ladies of leisure. (C)

6:30-7:30 — Channels 11-6-9 — It was inevitable that the staunch Colonel Custer would get involved in a personal battle to the death with an Indian brave.

Television's Eye May Join Long Arm of Law

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The long arm of the law soon may be assisted by the television camera's eye at this resort town.

Police Chief B. James Glavas asked the city council to consider installing TV cameras at strategic areas in town. This would allow officers at headquarters to view city streets for distances up to one mile, he said Tuesday.

leather adventurers on Run For Your Life. Their reason for living so loosely is ostensibly the same as Paul's, and they start a round of contests from liquor to ladies trying to outdo each other. Included is an auto race that almost takes care of the death situation immediately. (C)

Catholic Synod Of Bishops to Convene Friday

Begin Experiment
In Helping Pope
Decide on Policies

By DAVID MAZZARELLA
Associated Press Writer

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Roman Catholic Church's first synod of bishops from around the world will convene Friday in a great Vatican hall once called "the room of the broken heads."

Once the dusty storehouse for shattered statuary, this room is refinished now with teak paneling and modern lighting for the most important event in the Church's pastoral life since the close of the second Vatican Council in December 1965.

The imagery of its old name has stirred some wry amusement in Vatican circles. Many recall the bitter conflicts between progressives and conservatives at council meetings in St. Peter's Basilica—and foresee more of the same at the synod. In itself, the month-long meeting is a victory for progressives.

Help Pope Paul

In a kind of miniature Vatican Council, 197 prelates—all but 49 elected by bishops' conferences—begin an experiment to help Pope Paul VI govern the world's Catholics. It is a breakthrough in democracy for the church.

The principle of collegiality was pronounced in 1964 as a key reform of the council. It calls for bishops to share power with the Pope. How it will be applied in practice should begin to emerge at this meeting.

The synod, like the council, reflects basic conflicts inside the church.

Now, as then, those known as progressives, mainly from western Europe and North America, picture their antagonists as the conservative prelates in the Vatican Curia, the central church administration.

The Curia denies there is friction, but through its preliminary organization of the meeting is trying to exert a form of control.

Pope Paul's recent decree slashing the power of Curia cardinals and revamping the entire organization goes into effect Jan. 1.

The Issues

These are the crucial issues: What subjects are to be debated and voted by the bishops as suggestions to the Pope? How is what the synod does to be communicated to the outside world?

The Curia conservatives appear already to have won the latter battle. Plans for the synod make it considerably more secret than the council.

Because it is an internal Church meeting and not an ecumenical one, no observers from other religions will be allowed. There will be no priest-reporters to fill in newsmen after each daily session, as they did on the council.

Instead, three bishops will prepare a daily communiqué. Occasional news conferences are to supplement this.

The progressives say the stricter the secrecy the more easily will the curia be able to control the meeting.

Canadian bishops and others may seek a more open synod.

The agenda topics are canon law, seminaries, public worship, doctrine and mixed marriage. None is extremely controversial, although conservatives are bound to deplore reckless experimentation with traditional Church teachings, a warning made frequently by Pope Paul himself.

Theoretically, the prelates can bring up any subject they wish, so long as it is considered relevant by the presiding officer. Some delegates want to discuss priestly celibacy and birth control.

The Pope's reaffirmation of celibacy June 24 appeared to conservatives to have forestalled further discussion, but last month a U.S. clergyman's group asked American bishops to bring it up in Rome.

Asked about the possibility of a discussion on birth control, the Rt. Rev. Ladislau Rubin, secretary-general of the synod, said this month that the prelates "will have enough to do" without debating it.

Some reports suggest that the Pope may bring in the issue of birth control either as a completed encyclical or a draft for the bishops' comment.

HUD, PSC Sent Calumet Protests to Lake Drain

Outline County's Objections To Appleton Pipeline Plan

CHILTON — Acting on orders was in a newspaper article dated, Sept. 13. HUD has authorized an $893,000 grant to help defray the cost of the pipeline project. HUD officials also indicated of the Calumet County Board, letters protesting Appleton's proposal to take water from Lake Winnebago have been sent to Wisconsin Public Service Commission (PSC), the governor's office and Edward Bruder, assistant regional administrator for Metropolitan Development at the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), by Dist. Atty. F. J. Schneider.

Under the proposed water expansion plan, board members were led to believe approximately 40 to 50 million gallons of water would be pumped daily from the lake. Appleton had previously stated up to 15 million gallons would be pumped only on peak days.

Question Authority

In the letter to PSC, the attorney asked "by what authority does the Wisconsin Public Service Commission have to grant such permit without notice to vitally interested parties? (PSC has officially approved Appleton's water expansion program).

The letter continued, "Certainly Calumet County has the right to be heard and its position made known, despite Appleton Mayor Beckley's statement, 'We haven't got time to go around the lake and ask other communities what they think about our water plant addition project.'"

First Notice

The first notice Calumet County received regarding the Appleton water expansion program

Second Card Party At Lebanon Sunday

LEBANON — The second in a series of card parties will be held at St. Patrick parish hall at 8:15 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Garret Clegg is general chairman and Mrs. Victor Gitter is in charge of publicity. They are assisted by Mrs. Clyde Barrington, Mrs. Adolph Bruetter, Mrs. Alfred Dunlavy, Mrs. Max Everts, Mrs. James Hogan, Mrs. Leon Hall, Mrs. John Hogan, Mrs. James Loughrin, Mrs. John Mackowiak and Mrs. Edgar Stillman.

Celebration to Attract Thousands

Crack Musical, Marching Units Lined Up for Parade

Several crack musical and marching units have been lined up for the College Avenue dedication parade Saturday — the climaxing event to a three-day celebration expected to attract thousands to Appleton.

The avenue will be closed to vehicular traffic from Thursday to Saturday at 1 p.m. in conjunction with the festivities.

Homer and Jethro

"We are looking forward to putting on a real snappy parade," was the comment today of Parade Marshal Merton Ehrlicke, who reported many individuals and groups cooperated in getting a variety of entertainment to appear here.

With the beginning of College Avenue Dedication Week, tickets for the two stage shows of Homer and Jethro Friday night at the Lawrence University Memorial Chapel went on sale they would review the city's request for additional federal funds to assist with the construction of an addition to the treatment plant, which city of Appleton's officials claimed was "most urgent"

The Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission (NWRPC) has made a report on the project in which they raise questions that need further investigation. They state that this project will not cause a direct reduction in pollution but that it could create additional pollution problems.

The attorney for Calumet County wrote a letter to Edward Bruder, HUD representative, regarding the report of the NWRPC saying that "looking to the entire report of the commission, it indicates further need of a more complete and in-depth investigation."

Alternate Plan

The letter continued, "As I understand, Appleton could increase their withdrawal of water from the Fox River (which I understand is very much polluted) and treat it, so that it would be illegal to draw from Lake Winnebago with the possibility of increasing pollution in that body of water, thus creating two bodies of polluted water where only one polluted source existed before.

The letter also requested holding the Appleton water expansion project in abeyance until a more complete investigation could be made on behalf of Calumet County.

Region 5 Jaycette Meeting Set Saturday at Waupaca

WAUPACA — The Jaycette chapter will be host to the region 5 semi-annual meeting here Saturday.

Members from the 18 region chapters along with those from five other regions are expected to attend, according to Mrs. LaVern Hanke, general meeting committee chairman.

Registration will start at 9 a.m., followed by a chapter presidents session and a corporation meeting. Jaycette vice presidents, Mrs. Don Grow, Hogan, Mrs. James Loughrin, Beaver Dam, and Mrs. Dan Yates, Waupaca, will preside over the corporation meeting.

Following a 1 a.m. luncheon, Mrs. Charles Hill, Waukesha, will address the group. Mrs. Paul Radley, Waupaca, will be emcee for the afternoon program.

Theme of this year's meeting is "Queens of Diamonds". The general committee arranging the meeting are Mrs. Hanke, chairman; Mrs. Jerry Vandehey, Mrs. Joseph Eick, Mrs. Frank Shearer, and Mrs. James Esler.

Door prizes and souvenir items donated by local merchants will be awarded to the visiting Jaycettes.

Counsel Claims Counties Form Artificial Lines

Boundaries May Not Be Desirable for Governmental Units

GREEN BAY — Edward Krenzke, Racine County Corporation Counsel, told delegates to the Wisconsin County Boards Association convention that existing county boundaries are artificial and may not necessarily be the most feasible division between governmental units.

Referring to the proposal by Assemblymen Harold Froehlich of Appleton and David Martin, Neenah, to merge Winnebago, Outagamie and Calumet counties, Krenzke said he was not necessarily speaking in support of the plan, but that the number of counties in Wisconsin is not a hard and fast rule.

Krenzke noted that Wisconsin originally only had three counties and that his own county, Racine, was not created until 1860.

Not Unusual

"It is not unusual, then, that the state have fewer counties," he said.

In reference to the artificial boundaries, Krenzke suggested that something other could be used as a basis for county lines, such as watershed territories, or other problem-boundaries.

He also suggested that the internal structure of county government be investigated. He noted that many of the constitutional offices, such as county clerk and surveyor, which once served important functions are now only administrative in nature, yet are still elected on a political basis.

He said they probably could be better filled by appointment.

Resolutions Adopted

Two resolutions were adopted by the delegates, both affecting the structure of county government.

The first calls for amending the state constitution to eliminate the requirement that all county governments be uniform in structure.

The second would give counties the option of electing a county executive. At present, only Milwaukee County is permitted an elected county administrator.

Both resolutions were introduced by Brown County delegates, with Marathon County co-sponsoring the first

Paine Center Director Judge in Governor's Fine Arts Contest

Richard N. Gregg, director of the Paine Art Center and Arboretum, Oshkosh, was one of five judges who selected the 1967 Governor's Fine Arts awards.

Citations were presented at a dinner in the Executive residence for creativity in the arts to William P. Wenzler and Associates, Milwaukee architects, and Prof. Robert E. Gard, University of Wisconsin Extension Division, Madison.

Other awards were for individual support of the arts, Miss Charlotte R. Partridge, Milwaukee; performance, Dr. Thor Johnson, conductor of the Door County Music Festival symphony orchestra, institution and organization achievements, the Milwaukee Repertory Theatre and the Milwaukee Art Center; institutional support of the arts, the Joseph Schiltz Brewing Company, Milwaukee.

The Wisconsin Arts Foundation and Council, which sponsored the annual event, screened 80 award recommendations.

Counties Told They Must Reorganize to be Effective

$40,000 Loss In Barn Fire Near Seymour

Feed, Equipment Also Burn on Norman Miller Farm

SEYMOUR — Losses in a fire which destroyed the barn containing feed and machinery on the Norman Miller farm about 3 miles west of here on State 54 at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday have been estimated at $40,000. They were partially covered by insurance.

Miller's 40 cows had been milked earlier in the evening and turned out to pasture. Miller was in the milkhous at the time and smelled smoke. He entered the barn and checked the hole through which hay is dropped from the mow and noticed one of the beams was burning.

Saves Calf

His daughter, Linda, dashed into the burning barn shortly after and retrieved a young calf. The remainder of the young stock had been out in the pasture.

The present granary was the original barn around which the present structure was constructed. The barn measured 36 by 90 feet with an 18 by 36 foot wing and it was loaded with hay at the time. A bale loader and milking equipment was lost, as was about 1,000 pounds of milk in the milkhous bulk tank.

Also lost were some antique furniture and about 100 bushels of winter wheat. Neighbors were able to save a three-bottom plow.

Third Barn Fire

This was the third major barn fire in the Seymour area this season. The Paul Schmidt barn burned this spring and he has since built a new structure.

The Ralph Kneisler barn located midway between Miller's and the City of Seymour limits burned earlier this month.

Byrnes Wants Spending Cut

Solon Describes 'Fiscal Mess' to Bankers Meeting

NEW YORK — "A call for Congress to pass a tax increase coupled with enactment of an expenditure ceiling on non-defense spending "to which President Johnson must conform" was included in a speech Monday by 8th Dist. Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Green Bay.

"The tax increase and reduction in spending should be of a size which would assure that the deficit for fiscal 1968 be cut in half," Byrnes said in a speech here before the National Bank Division of the American Bankers Association meeting.

Byrnes described the country as being in a "dangerous fiscal mess" which will require "drastic action to get us out." He called for a "basic attitude change" in the President and his advisers to reduce the projected 1968 budget deficit.

Need Increases

He also said there was a need for a tax increase, but warned that, "We will not get a tax increase from Congress until a reduction in spending is assured."

"Any tax increase must have the support of the American people," he said. "The people cannot believe a President who daily talks about the need for a tax increase on the one hand and, on the other, almost daily whets the public appetite, and pressures the Congress, for more and larger spending programs."

Steal Four Guns, Coins at Waupaca

WAUPACA — Theft of four guns and some coins has been reported to the Waupaca County Sheriff's office by Ronald Beach, route 1, Waupaca.

The guns, which Beach said were taken from his unlocked home sometime Sunday evening, included three rifles and a shotgun. The guns were valued at more than $345.

Will Author Amendment

Calumet Solon to Ask Local Vote on Tri-County Plan

Calumet County Assemblyman Gervase A. Hephner, D-Chilton, said today he will soon introduce in the legislature an amendment to a bill which would combine Winnebago, Outagamie and Calumet counties into one county.

"There is nothing that I value more," said Hephner, "than home rule and strong local government."

Take Home Rule

"Now," said Hephner, "the Speaker of the Assembly (Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton) has introduced a bill to take home rule away from 23,000 people in Calumet County."

"I fear to think how the people in my basically rural county would fare," said Hephner, "when they are herded into a county containing five of Wisconsin's largest cities."

"If the speaker is trying to combine Calumet with two other counties for our benefit, he can think otherwise. We keep hearing," said Hephner, "that less-populated areas aren't able to provide decent services for their people and that government operations would be more efficient if combined into larger units."

"I would like to point out to the authors of the bill," Hephner stated, "that Winnebago County now has a debt of over $3.6 million. The debt of Outagamie County is $4 million."

"Calumet County has no debt," he declared. "If the Speaker thought that the citizens of Calumet County are going to sit still when they are saddled with a debt of $8 million, then he is mistaken."

"The proper move, if one is really serious about local government reorganization, is to take the proposals to the people to the county board and to civic groups."

"That," declared Hephner, "is exactly what I intend to do with my amendment to the bill which would create one monstrous county."

"My amendment," he said, "would ask the people of Outagamie, Winnebago and Calumet counties in a referendum question whether they want the consolidation of the three counties to occur. The question would have to be approved in each county by a majority of all votes cast for the consolidation to become law."

Refuse Dictation

"This is the only way that all persons involved can be protected," Hephner stated. "Might doesn't mean right, and we refuse to have our future dictated to us by others who are larger in number."

"The people of Calumet County are pleased with their county services and with their governmental system. We don't want it changed until we say how it will be done."

Because Bear Creek board members felt that integrated aids might be available. A majority of the board members had expressed the feeling that they would prefer to avoid merging the high school at least one more year "to tie up loose ends." However, the Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) school reorganization committee urged the board to reconsider since CESA members felt the district failed to meet the requirements for an integrated system.

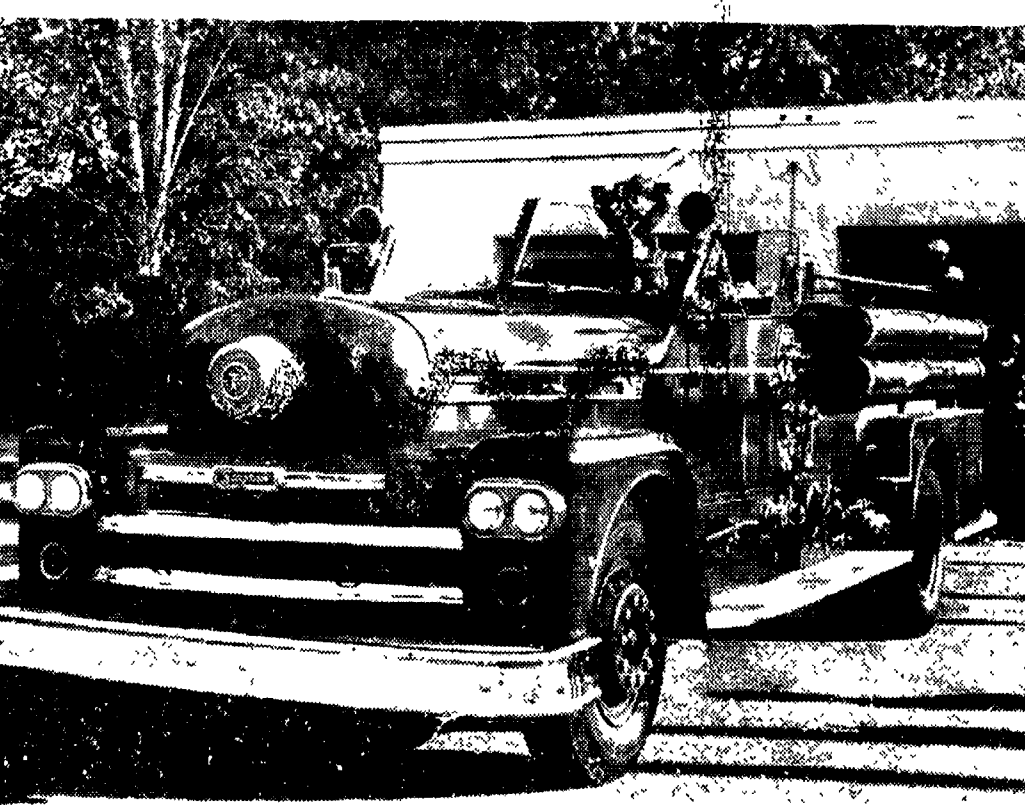

The committee finally agreed with Bear Creek and ordered attachment to the Clintonville District in July, 1968. This came after Bear Creek electors had voted 122 to 81 against immediate consolidation.

Hearing Date Set For Hilbert Man On Theft Charges

CHILTON — A preliminary hearing was set Oct. 2 for Wayne Bouchard, 28, rural Hilbert, on theft charges when he appeared Monday in Calumet County Court before Judge D. H. Seborna.

Bouchard is charged with stealing cheese over a period of several months from Thiel Milk Products, route 2, Hilbert.

Bouchard was released on a $500 bond.

It May Have Been Used before but to the Embarrass Volunteer Fire Department this Seagraves pumper is the department's pride and joy. The truck was purchased with proceeds from the Fourth of July celebration sponsored by the department. Ray Rindt is fire chief. (Laib Photo)

NACO Head Speaks at Convention

BY DON CASTONIA
News-Record Staff Writer

GREEN BAY — Delegates to the Wisconsin County Boards Association convention were handed a pill Tuesday morning which they did not appear too anxious to swallow when told counties must either reorganize or die.

In both a panel discussion moderated by Winnebago County Corporation Counsel Gerald Engeldinger and in a talk by Bernard Hillenbrand, executive director, National Association of Counties, (NACO) the counties were told that they must change in order to do the job required of them.

Hillenbrand flatly stated that counties need both an elected head and an appointed administrator or they will be out of business.

"You cannot do today's job with yesterday's tools and survive tomorrow," Hillenbrand said.

He added, "The county of today is the city of tomorrow."

Greater Home Rule

He said counties need greater home rule for more flexibility and that the real need for home rule is in the rural counties.

He said that with home rule counties would be able to join together on a regional basis to solve common problems.

"The county is the only unit of government without executive leadership," Hillenbrand said. "You need a single head for citizen understanding and to focus attention. The citizens don't know what we're doing on the county level," he said.

He added that with executive leadership the county board would be free to do the job for which it was designed — to legislate. Referring to the smaller counties, Hillenbrand said two or three counties could share an executive.

Share Executive

He compared the county executive to the state governor and said the realistic title for a county executive would be "county governor," but he doubted if such a title would ever be adopted.

Edward Krenzke, Racine County Corporation Counsel, said that counties are in the same position today as cities were in the state before "home rule" charters were approved in 1924.

"Something has to be done quickly or you will see the federal government taking over," Krenzke said. "One of the most important aspects, Krenzke said, was the responsiveness of local officials to citizen desires. Then he said local affairs transcend local boundaries."

Cooperation Needed

Ray Sundet, La Crosse County Corporation Counsel, stressed the need for cooperation between counties. "The job of government is to provide needed services at the lowest possible cost," and, he added, the need for services cut across boundaries.

Sundet noted that a 1962 survey revealed that Wisconsin has an average of 81 governmental units per county across the state. "Is this necessary?" he asked.

Re-elected without opposition to head the association were Ray F. Blank, Grafton, Ozaukee County, president; Myron P. Lotto, Brown County, vice president, and Don Mc Dowell, Crawford County, secretary-treasurer.

Public Hearing Set on Brillion Zoning Law

Plan Commission's Proposed Changes To Be Aired Friday

BRILLION — Proposed changes in the city zoning laws and zoning map will be aired at a 7:30 p.m. public hearing Friday at the city hall.

The city planning commission has recommended the zoning text and map outlined by city planners Candeb, Fleissig and Associates in the "Action Plan" booklets be approved after some changes are made.

The new proposed zoning ordinance calls for additional classifications. If approved, the ordinance will define single family residential areas, two-family residential, multi-family residential, commercial, industrial closed, industrial open (meaning industrial work can be carried on outside the building but in a fenced area), agricultural, and floodplain and parks or green areas.

The city planning commission's proposed changes, presented at Monday's city council meeting, involve several new subdivisions, the Brillion Iron Works, Inc. trailer court area, the southwest section of the city where apartments are located and the site of the proposed low rent housing development for the elderly.

Site of First Date Becomes an Altar

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The Purple Onion night spot was the setting for a marriage Tuesday.

Bernice Turkett and Raymond Hill, both of Columbia, exchanged their vows. Afterwards, customers at the bar toasted the couple with beer, and as a substitute for rice threw grits.

"It's a sentimental thing," said Hill when asked the choice of setting. "This was the place we went on our first date."

Barboo Youths Go Into Court in Attack on Police

BARABOO (AP) — Seven persons ranging in age between 18 and 22 appeared in County Court Tuesday in connection with a fracas early Sunday between a jeering group of youths and police who were trying to break up a fight.

Three of the youths pleaded guilty before Judge James Seering and presentence investigations were ordered. The other four pleaded innocent and asked for jury trials. All seven were charged with obstructing an officer, disorderly conduct, or both. Police said they expect to make one more arrest of a so-called ringleader of the 25 youths who allegedly attacked policemen who tried to break up a fight.

Snake Dance, Bonfire Start Weyauwega Homecoming

WEYAUWEGA — High school homecoming festivities will start at 7:30 p.m. Friday with a snake dance through the streets winding up at a bonfire at the athletic field. Saturday's parade will begin at 12:30 p.m. and include the high school band, floats and the homecoming court. Kickoff time for the football game against Stanley is 2 p.m. Saturday. The halftime show will include a performance by the band, welcoming speech by the queen and presentation of the court. The dance will begin at 8:30 p.m. in the school gym, with music by a rock and roll group and Jim Biddison.

Migrants May Continue Talks With Employer

Jesus Salas Says Firm Negotiating In Good Faith

MADISON (AP)—The young leader of a migrant worker's union said late Monday negotiations might continue today between the union and representatives of Libby, McNeil and Libby Co.

Jesus Salas, a student at Wisconsin State University, Stevens Point and leader of the 600-member union, Obreros Unidos, said the canning firm was negotiating in good faith during the first day of talks Tuesday.

Salas said, however, several issues remained to be discussed after Tuesday's session, which was the first bargaining meeting with the firm since the union last summer won the right in an election to represent workers.

"The most important thing," Salas said in reference to the bargaining talks, "is that for the first time we sat down with employers and are negotiating. I hope we keep talking."

The union is asking for a wage increase from $1.25 to $1.40 an hour. It also seeks a grievance procedure and better maintenance and repair work in migrant camps.

Holiday on Ice

Revue Meets Expectations

Post-Crescent Sunday Editor

GREEN BAY — Ice revue fans (and their number, from all indications, is legion) need have no fears: the 22nd edition of "Holiday on Ice," which opened Tuesday night at the Brown County Arena for a six-day run, is the same eye-filling, exhilarating and technically accomplished production they have come to expect.

The major dance numbers — especially the "Chinese New Year," with its fire-breathing dragon — are as impressive as ever. The comedy, principally provided by sailor clown Sam Houston and his associate, Dick Haskell, is calculated to draw giggles from the youngsters; the chorus line is gam-packed, and the roster of principals includes a number of fresh new faces.

Individual Standouts
Standouts among the individual performers are the exceptionally proficient Roberta Laurent, a triple gold medalist from Canada, and Jimmy Crockett, remembered for his showmanship and dramatic flair from last year's "Holiday."

Sandy Wirwill, appropriately billed as the Cinderella of the ice, is paried with Crockett in a

lad of the Streets", and acquits herself with style and spirit. As product of the ice shows, rather than international competition, "Holiday on Ice" owes more to Broadway than to the Olympics — and would probably be the first to admit it.

Among the newcomers to "Holiday's" ice are Kathie and Jamie Beard, children of veteran skater (and former partner of Sonja Henie) Marshall Beard, and his wife, Margaret; teen-aged sisters Jayne and Peggy McCutcheon, and (as an admitted tinge of commercialism) the Esso Tiger, who spurs smoke and water, and is a worthy successor to the "Holiday" Cow.

Runs Gamut
The score runs the gamut of Broadway showtunes, waltzes, sentimental favorites and patriotic selections — literally, from "O Solo Mio" to "The Shores of Tripoli". A skillfully executed "marching manual", is a patriotic finale that literally brings the audience to its feet.

The Marine routine, incidentally, was approved by the Commandant of the Corps, and the skaters' instructor was Staff Sgt. John F. Dunn, now a lieutenant and serving in Vietnam. Freddie Wittop's costumes are as elaborate and gimmicky as ever; the girls glide about as everything from Chinese princesses to illuminated gondolas (one of which had a short circuit at Tuesday's premiere). The few tumbles at the opening performance are more likely attributable to loose ostrich feathers, embedded in the ice, than to any lack of skill on the part of the performers.

As always, "Holiday's" production support is top-flight. The sheer precision of lighting, scenic changes and synchronized musical accompaniment can only excite the admiration of the theater buff.

"Holiday on Ice" will be repeated tonight through Saturday at 8 p.m. Saturday matinee is at 2:30 p.m., and Sunday matinee at 5 p.m.

Chairmen Plan Farm Institute In New London

Committee Discusses Program, Speakers
For Jan. 15 Event

NEW LONDON — Ground-work for the second annual "Farm Institute Day" Jan. 15 at the senior high school was completed by committee chairmen at an organizational meeting Tuesday.

The committee reviewed last year's program and discussed speakers and special guest appearances for the 1968 event. Alice-in-Dairyland for 1966-67, JoAnn Cupery, appeared at the 1967 Institute.

Chairmen of this year's event are Arnold Kohl and Norman Hanson. Harry S. Emans acts as committee secretary.

Name Chairmen

Other chairmen are W. A. Bender, lunch; Melvin Jungerberg and Michael Kaehr, entertainment; Don Pederson, program; Hanson, prizes; Thomas Wolfe, tickets and registration, and Roger Pitt, publicity and advertising.

Chairmen for the commercial display and women's program were tentatively named but weren't announced pending acknowledgment of appointments.

Assisting with planning the programs will be Don Hohman, senior high school agricultural teacher, and Russell Luckow and Joe L. Walker, Outagamie and Waupaca county agricultural agents.

Fire Department To Flush Hydrants At Waupaca

WAUPACA — The fire department will flush all fire hydrants in the city, according to Richard Peterson, superintendent of the Waupaca Water Department.

Flushing of the hydrants will start at approximately 11:30 p.m., Saturday. It will take about three hours to flush the more than 125 fire hydrants.

Citizens may notice a slight discoloration in the water for a short time following the flushing, Peterson said.

The flushing of the hydrants is a semi-annual affair and is done in accordance with state fire

5 Injured in 3-Car Crash at New London Intersection

NEW LONDON — Five persons received minor injuries in a three-car accident at 5:15 p.m. Sunday on U.S. 45, about 250 feet south of State 54.

None of the persons required hospitalization. They told police they would seek medical examination later.

Injured were Katherine Yost, 57, who complained of a whiplash to the back and Mark Moser, 4, a sore stomach, both route 1, Bear Creek; Mrs. James Murphy, 40, who complained of a whiplash to her neck and Theresa Ann Murphy, 7, bruised elbow, both route 2, New London; and Robert L. Malueg, 29, route 1, Clintonville, bruises on his arms.

Nine other persons in the three cars were not injured.

City police said cars driven by Donald J. Lisowe, 21, Gillett, and Mrs. Murphy were stopped regulations to check all fire hydrants to make sure they are in operating condition.

Runaway Car Strikes Boats In Fremont

FREMONT — A car backing out of control shot across U.S. 10 here and struck several boats parked in front of the Wolf River Oil Co. Tuesday morning, causing several hundred dollars damage.

The car, driven by Herbert A. Drecus, 71, route 1, Fremont, had been parked in front of a shop across from the oil company. Drecus was unable to tell Waupaca County Police what had happened but in investigating the crash, police found the brakes of the car were not operating.

Damaged in the crash were four boats, two boat trailers and one outboard motor which was on one of the damaged boats. Three gasoline pumps were broken off. Damages over $100 were caused to the Drecus car.
